TEST OF POWER FOR ROOSEVELT AT POLLS TODAY

Sponsors a Measure Al Smith Fights.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—State and congressional elections in several commonwealths, to be held tomorrow, are being watched with hope and fear by the two big parties.

One presidential possibility is involved. That will be fought out in New York, where a referendum on a comparatively unimportant state issue may decide Franklin D. Roosevelt's chances of being the Democratic nominee for President in 1932. Roosevelt and former Gov. Al Smith are on opposing sides, thus testing Roosevelt's power. Should he lose, his presidential nominee capacity might be lessened. At least it is a test.

Some Congress Tests.

In the congressional contests, control of the house hangs in the balance. These contests also are regarded as weather vanes for the presidential election next year.

There are five house vacancies to be filled tomorrow, three of them formerly held by Republicans and two by Democrats. Following last fall's elections, the house stood 218 Republicans, 216 Democrats and one Farmer-Labor member. Since then thirteen members have died, two deaths having occurred in the same district, the Seventh New York; five vacancies have been filled, so that the present makeup of the house is 213 Republicans, 214 Democrats, 1 Farmer-Labor, and seven vacancies, five of them formerly held by Republicans and two by Democrats.

Fill Two Vacancies Later.

The two additional vacancies, one in the Fifth New Jersey district and one in the First New Hampshire district, according to the state's laws, cannot be filled until Dec. 4 and Jan. 5, respectively.

The returns in the First Ohio [Cincinnati] district, formerly represented by Speaker Nicholas Longworth, and in the Eighth Michigan [Saginaw] district, formerly represented by Bird J. Vincent, will be watched with particular interest because it is conceded that in these two districts the Democrats have their best chance of picking up two seats once held by Republicans.

The candidates for Speaker Longworth's former place are David Lorbach, Democrat, and John M. Hollister, Republican. In the Saginaw district they are Foss O. Eldred, Republican and dry, and Michael J. Hart, Democratic wet.

Not Much Chance of Upsets.

In the other three districts there is little likelihood of any political change. In the Seventh New York district John J. Delaney, Democrat, is contending with V. L. Padgett, Republican, for the seat left vacant by Mathew V. O'Malley, Democrat, who in turn filled the vacancy caused by the death of Representative John F. Quayle, Democrat, last November.

In the 20th Ohio district the victory of Martin L. Sweeney, Democrat, over Haydon Party, Republican, is looked for. The former incumbent was Representative Charles A. Mooney, Democrat. For the vacancy caused by the death of Representative George S. Graham, Republican, in the second Pennsylvania district, Edward L. Stokes, Republican, is given an edge over Charles S. Hill, Democrat.

The places to be filled in New Jersey and New Hampshire are those formerly held by Representatives Ernest R. Ackerman and Fletcher Hale, both Republicans.

Roosevelt-Smith Test.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 2.—(AP)—A Democratic drive to control the assembly and a political dispute between Gov. Roosevelt and former Gov. Smith have featured the campaign for tomorrow's election in New York state. A congressman will be elected in Brooklyn, 150 assemblymen, two state senators.

Six amendments also will be submitted to the people. One deals with the reforestation of abandoned farm lands. Gov. Roosevelt favors it. Former Gov. Smith opposes it.

On this disagreement between the present governor and possible Democratic presidential nominee, and the former governor, the party's candidate of three years ago, the attention of the nation centers. The comparatively insignificant nature of the amendment to the state constitution has been lost in a popular belief that the ballot on the amendment will be an indicator of the power of the Smith Democrats in the state as distinguished from that of the Roosevelt following.

CHAUNCEY JONES, BANKER, CHARGES FOUR WITH FRAUD

Warrants charging confidence game against four men, and sworn out by Chauncey J. Jones, millionaire chairman of the board of the First National bank of Waukegan, were delivered at the detective bureau last night.

Those named are Charles J. Clark, 62 years old; his son, Charles J. Clark Jr., 30; George W. Fay, 32, and J. J. Adams. Fay lived at the McCormick hotel until yesterday, police learned. Addresses of the other men were not given.

The warrants were accompanied by a letter from Police Chief Edwin Ahlstrom of Waukegan stating that the men named had fleeced Mr. Jones out of some money. The amount was not disclosed, nor were details given. According to Chief Ahlstrom, the warrants were signed by Magistrate Clarence Brown. The magistrate said he was not familiar with the nature of the case. Mr. Jones could not be reached. His attorneys said they did not know of the action and State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Lake county also said he had not been advised of the case.

Later Chief Ahlstrom said that only he and Mr. Jones knew the details of the charges. "Mr. Jones appealed to me one day last week and pledged me to secrecy," said the chief. "I will not tell what the case is about."

200 Lb. Slab Falls on Head; He's Up and Active

Louis Knight, 34 years old, colored, of 1313 Washburne avenue, was walking by a doorway at 1015 Maxwell street Sunday when a 200 pound stone slab loosened from its foundation and dropped upon his head. At the county hospital doctors examined him. "No chance," they pronounced. "You're going to die." Knight, his head swathed in bandages, replied, "Not me." Knight kept his word. He was walking about his ward in the hospital yesterday, out of danger, and with only two lacerations from the 200 pound slab accident.

Hoover Picks 5 to Sift Charge of Navy League

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—The widely heralded White House investigation of the Navy league's published charges that President Hoover had persistently followed a policy of restricting and starving the navy will be conducted by a committee of five men, three of them close personal friends of the President.

In announcing the personnel of this special group today the White House said the inquiry would be confined to the accuracy of assertions of fact made by William Howard Gardiner, league president, in the pamphlet the publication of which last week aroused the presidential ire. No attention would be paid, it was said, to the conclusions and opinions of Mr. Gardiner or the general policies of the Navy league.

Rodman Heads Board.

Admiral Hugh Rodman, who commanded the American battle units in the grand fleet of 1917 and 1918, probably will be chairman of the committee which according to an announcement made by President Hoover last Friday "will establish the untruths promulgated" by Mr. Gardiner in his attack on the White House naval policies.

The others are John Hays Hammond, wealthy engineer and president of the National League of Republican clubs; Ernest Lee Jahncke, assistant secretary of the navy and a member of the White House medicine ball cabinet, Undersecretary of State William R. Castle Jr., and Eliot Wadsworth, former assistant secretary of the treasury during the Coolidge administration.

Adams Defends Hoover.

The President's explanatory statement in announcing the committee together with informal White House comment apparently blasted prospects for a spectacular open hearing at which officials of the administration would come to grips with Navy league executives over the question of President Hoover's knowledge of naval affairs and tactics.

Just prior to the announcement of the selection of the committee Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams joined his commander in chief in denouncing the Gardiner attack on the President.

Mr. Adams made three calls at the White House Saturday and today before he followed the example set by Secretary of State Stimson last Thursday and took up the cudgels in the President's behalf.

The personnel of the committee selected by the President occasioned much comment in naval as well as congressional circles. Its only naval officer is Admiral Rodman. The four other members are all old friends of the President. Three of them have been closely associated with Mr. Hoover in politics. Both Mr. Jahncke and Undersecretary Castle were charter members of the White House medicine ball cabinet. Both worked for the President in his last campaign and Mr. Jahncke has been active in behalf of Mr. Hoover's 1932 presidential ambitions for some time. Mr. Hammond also has known the President for years. Three of the committeemen, Hammond, Wadsworth, and Jahncke, are members of the Navy league.

The committee probably will begin operations late this week.

26,500 Canadian Railmen Refuse to Accept Pay Cut

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 3 [Tuesday].—(AP)—The Toronto Globe says more than 26,500 engineers, conductors, firemen, and telegraphers of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways and affiliated Canadian systems have refused to accept a general 10 per cent wage cut proposed by the companies.

64 Guns and Bomb Material Found; 5 Held

An arsenal of contraband firearms was discovered in a gunsmith's shop late yesterday by Chief of Detectives Schoemaker. Sixty-four pistols of all makes and caliber, each with its number defaced, were secreted in a safe or hidden beneath bed clothing in the rear room of Louis Scaramuzzo's shop at 604 Blue Island avenue in the New Er- building. Until recently this building was the headquarters of Dago Mangano, Capone leader. Scaramuzzo and four others were arrested.

CHIEF SCHOEMAKER.

In addition to the guns the raiders found shotguns, bomb fuses and caps, a deputy sheriff's star bearing the number 2008, new molds for making counterfeit twenty-five cent and one dollar pieces, two suitcases of hootch, and some fake labels for gin.

Called Supply House.

"This looks like a good catch," said Chief Schoemaker. "It appears that this establishment must have been a place where hoodlums could get a gun in a hurry or "ditch" it after a shooting. It seems to be a supply house, particularly when you consider that Mangano had his quarters three floors above.

"I can see the value of such a place. A hoodlum anxious to get rid of his gun after a 'job' could toss it upon Scaramuzzo's counter, order that it be cleaned, and come back again whenever he needed it. This man must have known his customer's firearms, even though they didn't bear numbers."

Federal officers came into the case immediately because of the counterfeiting and booze and Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan of the secret service made plans to have the three arrested arraigned before United States Commissioner Walker this morning on the counterfeiting charge. The counterfeit molds had not been used, but a bar of imitation silver was found near them.

Policemen Visit Shop.

The gun shop was raided after Patrolmen Thomas O'Neill and Daniel Hartnett of the pawnshop detail had gone there on a tip that some stolen shotguns might be found. Scaramuzzo met them at the door.

"Police officers," Hartnett informed him, "we'll take a look around."

In the front of the store was a case containing six shotguns. The proprietor accounted for them satisfactorily. The policemen then went into the back room. On a cot a man was sleeping.

O'Neill shook the sleeper and pulled him from the cot. Then he thrust his hand beneath the covers and withdrew it holding three revolvers. The identifying numbers of each had been filed off. One was loaded.

The sleeper gave his name as Silliva Belgivello, 39 years old, and said he was the gunsmith of the establishment. Hidden beneath boxes and in corners were seven other revolvers and pistols. Near one was the deputy sheriff's star.

The policemen then locked the door and called Chief Schoemaker. The

SCRUBBING FLOOR AS SHE LEARNS SHE IS HEIR TO $3,000,000

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—The unexpected news received today that she is the sole surviving heir of an almost forgotten great uncle, whose estate is estimated at $3,000,000 left Mrs. Albert Peterson, 40, wife of a restaurant cook here dazed and speechless.

After recovering from the news which was brought to her as she was down on her knees, scrubbing the floor of her three room apartment over the restaurant, where her husband is employed, Mrs. Peterson said:

"We're going to have a real good time when we get the money. But it's not going to make me one bit different than I am now. I'm just as common as an old shoe and I'm not going to change."

According to word from New York attorneys, the Rockford woman will inherit the estate of Dr. Joseph Kellogg, wealthy physician who died recently leaving no relatives, closer than Mrs. Peterson.

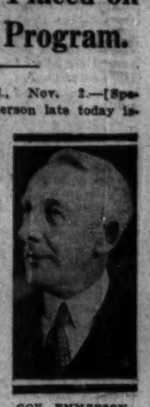
GOVERNOR LETS ALL BARS DOWN IN LEGISLATURE

No Limit Placed on Revenue Program.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Gov. Emmerson late today issued the formal call for the special session of the legislature to convene here at 10 a. m. Thursday for the primary purposes of providing emergency financial relief for Cook county and enacting legislation to relieve real estate tax burden.



GOV. EMMERSON.

The call lets down all bars on the revenue question, permitting the general assembly not only to consider the revenue plans of the special commission appointed by the governor but also revenue suggestions from any other sources.

Among the other subjects included in the call are farm relief and unemployment relief. The section permitting the legislature to discuss farm relief legislation is just as broad as that portion of the call dealing with revenue.

Permits Employment Bonds.

The section dealing with unemployment relief would permit the general assembly to enact legislation that would enable municipal corporations to provide employment through public construction financed by the issuance of bonds for this specific purpose, and to supply funds to local relief agencies for emergency relief.

Gov. Emmerson made it clear that he was not committed to any definite program for providing emergency financial relief for Cook county, any definite program for lightening real estate's tax burden, any definite program of farm relief, or any definite program of unemployment relief.

He stated that the call was drawn with the intention of permitting sponsors of certain plans for legislation dealing with revenue, farm relief, and unemployment relief to place their ideas before the legislature for consideration.

Other Subjects Included.

Other subjects in the call include:

1. Protection of the hen pheasant, now completely outside the pale of the state's game laws.
2. Authorization for the Chicago school board to continue to operate Crane Junior college.
3. Compensation for contractors who performed state highway work under the invalid prevailing wage law.
4. Permission for townships to levy a tax for pauper relief this year.
5. Amendments to the building and loan act.
6. Authorization for Champaign and Urbana to jointly purchase a water works system.
7. Amendment of the law specifying 3 per cent interest on the funds banked by cities under the commission form of government.
8. Permission for insurance companies to invest their surplus funds in tax anticipation warrants.
9. Amendment of the act relating to school district treasurers.

The call also would permit the renewal of legislative consideration of home rule for Cook county and Chicago.

Income Tax Authorized.

The paragraphs of the call dealing with the subject of revenue would permit the legislature, if it so desires, to enact, among other things, an income tax, a tobacco tax, increase the truck and bus license fees, and to require operators of motor vehicles to file a certificate that their automobiles had been assessed or taxed before license would be issued.

So that the income tax could be placed in the school fund, $10,000,000 to the common school fund, and the remainder, less administration expenses, to the elementary school fund, as proposed by the revenue commission, the call also included the revision of the school law, the state tax levy, the civil administrative code, and the finance act.

Amendments to the civil administrative code, and the finance act would be necessary to make possible the functioning of the revenue department, proposed by the revenue committee for assessing, collecting, and disbursing the proceeds from the proposed income tax, the proposed tobacco tax, and the proposed increase in truck and bus taxes.

Other sections in the portion of the call dealing with revenue would permit the following legislative acts:

1. Reorganization of the present tax assessment and collecting machinery.
2. Revenue relief for downstate counties.
4. Validating of tax warrants and tax levies in Cook and other counties where there has been a general reassessment.
5. Increases in the tax levy, the issuance of bonds, and the appropriation of the proceeds in Cook and other counties where there has been a general reassessment.
6. A uniform system of accounts and budgetry control for all municipal corporations.
7. The issuance of bonds by all counties with a population in excess of 200,000 for funding the 1930 taxes.
8. The abolishment of township collectors.
9. Make tax warrants held by private investors a first lien, and give priority over the same tax warrants held by municipal corporations.

Farm Relief Measures.

In dealing with the subject of farm relief, the call would permit of amendments to the storage of grain act, which Gov. Emmerson recently revived after the law had lain dormant since its enactment; the amending of the securities act to enable the farmers grain corporation, now being organized by agricultural leaders of the state, to issue securities; and amendments to the laws regarding chattel mortgages so that farmers could obtain loans upon their cattle instead of being forced to raise operating funds by selling them on a low market.

REALTY BOARD TOLD PLAN

BY FARRE BROWN.

Although the opportunity was there, the Chicago Real Estate board yesterday passed up a chance to go on record against the legislative program proposed by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson's revenue conference. The program is to be presented to the general assembly in a special session opening Thursday morning.

JOSEPH K. BRITTAIN.

At a noon luncheon of the board Joseph K. Brittain, chairman of the executive committee which drafted the conference program, urged that the same "common sense" which guided him and his associates prevail in consideration of the new laws proposed.

He suggested that real estate might well be satisfied with half a loaf instead of reaching for a whole loaf it could not obtain. Then an adjournment was taken without action by the board for or against the program.

Action "Not Contemplated."

Ordinarily this might not have been considered significant, but in this instance one of the members asked from the floor whether action was desired. President Mark Levy replied emphatically that such a step was not contemplated.

President Levy, appearing before the conference and elsewhere, has been the spokesman for the demand of real estate that the entire 1930 tax be covered by a bond issue that would amount to $200,000,000 or more.

That the board did not see fit to put this demand into a resolution was considered evidence that while it is not satisfied with the Brittain committee program, and will have its own bills in the special session, it is not willing to take a chance on wrecking the schedule of the governor's conference.

Called a Hopeful Sign.

This was considered by advocates of the program—a state income tax, a tobacco tax, and deferred payments of the 1930 levy except for that part going to the state—as a hopeful sign. It had been feared that real estate owners might voice a demand for more extensive relief that would endanger the success of the program which the conference has contended must be considered as a whole.

The conclusion as to the attitude of the real estate men was not reached without regard to their audible disapproval of the conference report. During the speeches by Chairman Brittain and President Levy there were cheers when the report was criticized and a suggestion of jeers when it was commended.

Levy said that the board would have its own plan before the legislators at an early date, but it was the conclusion of neutral observers that the fight for it will not be nearly so hot as had been predicted earlier.

Arrest Former Legislator on Con Game Complaint

Walter Miller, former state representative from the 13th district, was taken to the detective bureau yesterday on a charge of confidence game and immediately released on $5,000 bond. The complaint was signed by Mrs. Blanche Adams, 5748 Drexel boulevard. She refused to discuss the case. Milton D. Smith, attorney for Miller, said it involved a stock turnover. Miller, who is president of the Gibraltar Bond and Loan association, 10 North Clark street, is scheduled for arraignment in the Felony court this morning.

$268,750 in Bond Payments Defaulted by West Parks

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

For the second time in five months a local government has defaulted on its bonds. The West Park board has no money with which to pay $200,000 in bonds, due on Nov. 1, and $68,750 in interest on bonds.

The previous default was by the county government, which on June 1 was unable to dig up $1,451,000 for bonds and $417,000 for interest. In that instance the banks came to the rescue and prevented the county from getting on the investment blacklist of eastern savings banks, insurance companies and trust companies.

The banks paid the coupons presented for the succeeding 30 days and in that period emergency legislation was obtained by which the county was able to refund the unpaid bonds.

Another Rescue Doubted.

In La Salle street yesterday it was said to be improbable that the banks will rescue the West Park board, although its president, W. R. James, is a close friend of Gov. Emmerson. The bankers are reported to have the impression that the west park system has been spending money more freely than present business conditions warrant.

The pay roll of the west park system has not been paid since last June. It was estimated yesterday by the fiscal agent of the board that approximately $900,000 is overdue to employés.

John A. Pelka, treasurer of the west parks, devoted all of yesterday morning to a vain effort to borrow the $268,750 required to make the bond and interest payments. In the afternoon he had to drop that task in order to look after his duties as receiver for the Brighton Park bank and the Marshall Square bank. He said he would make a further effort to borrow cash for the park system today.

Unable to Raise Money.

"I have not been able to get the money," explained Mr. Pelka late yesterday.

"What are you going to do about it?" he was asked.

"I suppose we will have to default on those bonds," he replied. "Our trouble lies chiefly in the fact that we are unable to sell tax anticipation warrants.

"We have $300,000 of the 1930 warrants yet for sale and about $3,000,000 of the 1931 warrants. We have been unable to dispose of any of the 1931 warrants, so we have no cash to pay the bonds.

"There was a tax levy in 1930 for these sinking fund requirements, but the 1930 taxes have not been collected. So far as payment of salaries is concerned we are not quite as far behind as the school board, but we are in an unfortunate position."

$384,700 IN TAXES PAID

Several large property owners paid a part of their delinquent 1929 taxes yesterday. The total was $384,700. This, added to the previous payments, gives an aggregate of $956,322 collected from these sources so far.

The payments are the result of a drive of the county tax officials, headed by County Collector McDonough, to prevail on owners of large income producing properties to pay that portion of the 1929 taxes which they deem fair, as a preliminary to contesting the remainder in court.

Two Hotels Make Payments.

The largest payment yesterday was by the Hotel Stevens, the 1929 tax of which is $404,037. The hotel paid $171,311. The Hotel La Salle, the 1929 tax of which is $219,353, came next. It paid $95,574.

J. W. Stevens, who has paid the taxes in full upon much of his property, made a part payment yesterday on the Eighth Street theater, and the large area—devoted to parking purposes—near the Stevens hotel. The taxes on these two properties for 1929 are $26,094, of which Mr. Stevens paid $11,064.

Altogether the Stevens interests paid in $277,950 yesterday, which is about 40 per cent of the taxes on the properties involved.

Watch Jarecki Hearings.

Representatives of these and other large interests have been watching the tax hearings before County Judge Jarecki, where it is contended by attorneys for property owners that the entire 1929 tax is illegal.

H. G. Wolff, attorney at 189 North Clark street, paid $35,550 into the county treasury as part payment on the taxes of 31 properties. The taxes on these properties total $179,810, and the tax records indicate various ownerships. The payments were about 50 per cent of the total taxes.

Another large payment was made by the Michigan-Chestnut Building corporation. On its bill of $39,713 it paid $21,200 in taxes and penalties.

Officials Answer Employés.

Because of the recent collection of the $956,322 in delinquent taxes, school teachers and other public employés have asked why this cash is not available for paying salaries. The answer, county officials say, is that these collections are of 1929 taxes, which have been anticipated by the issuance of tax warrants, and the money derived from them spent.

The statute requires that the taxes received, where tax anticipation warrants have been issued, shall be used to pay off those warrants until all have been canceled. Not sufficient taxes have been collected for 1929 to pay off all the warrants outstanding. Less than 70 per cent of the taxes levied have been collected.

TEACHERS PLAN SALARY LOBBY AT SPRINGFIELD

Start Pay Relief Drive on All Legislators.

As city officials continued yesterday their efforts to sell tax anticipation warrants so that school employés may receive more of their back pay the school teachers formulated plans to lobby at the special session of the legislature for financial relief.

A joint conference of principals and teachers decided to appoint a committee for each of the senatorial districts in the state. Each committee will strive to impress upon the state senator and representatives assigned to it the necessity of adopting relief measures for the schools.

"What measures will be advocated is not known yet," said Miss Agnes B. Clohesy, chairman of the conference committee on legislation. "We are reserving opinion on the plans of both the governor's revenue conference and the board of education until we see what bills they advance and have our legal advisors go over them."

Hunt New Revenue Sources.

Meanwhile the city administration is seeking sources of revenue which can be invested in school tax warrants. One of these is the Chicago Tunnel company, operator of the merchandise delivery tubes under the loop, which owes the city more than $1,400,000 in compensation.

Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], chairman of the local transportation committee of the city council, has been delegated to renew efforts to collect from the company. He will also inquire if advance payments can be obtained from the Chicago Surface lines and the Commonwealth Edison company on compensation not due until next spring. The telephone company will make a payment of $500,000 to the city on Dec. 1.

Other Plans Are Pressed.

Besides these efforts two other plans are being pushed to produce money for school employés' salaries. They are:

1. Sales of $6,965,000 worth of 1930 school warrants held in the city's aggregate of funds. A committee, headed by Francis X. Busch, which is endeavoring to sell these warrants, will meet during the week.
2. Sale of $2,250,000 worth of 1930 and 1931 warrants of the city, county and school board to the surface lines. The street car company is ready to buy, but a number of details still must be arranged. A special meeting of the council may be called to approve some of the details.

Say Meade Is Mistaken.

City officials said yesterday that James A. Meade, head of the Men Teachers' union, was in error in asserting on Sunday that the city has more funds which it can advance for teachers' pay as it did last week in buying sufficient tax warrants from the board of education to enable the board to meet its September pay rolls.

At the council meeting which authorized that warrant purchase Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the finance committee, pointed out that, although the city still has $26,357,258 in cash in its aggregate of funds, it also has obligations which cannot be evaded calling for the expenditure of most of that amount before Jan. 1.

Besides the money needed to meet the obligations the city has $11,500,000 in the special assessment fund. City Controller Szymczak was informed by Henry Cutler, bond lawyer, that this money cannot be used for investment.

Cutmore on Stand at Hearing Attacking 2 Years' Tax Levies

Harry S. Cutmore, former director of appraisals in the 1928 reassessment, yesterday added his testimony to the evidence which has been presented before County Judge Jarecki seeking to prove fraudulent the 1928 and 1929 tax levies.

The suit was brought by Mrs. Lillian Cisar, an Oak Park widow and owner of a small bungalow, but actually is a test case for 2,000 taxpayers. Attorneys Roy D. Keehn and Morris Schaeffer, who represent the group, charge that if the board of assessors had properly valued the personal property in the county the tax rate for all property would have been reduced greatly.

Tells of New System.

Cutmore explained the assessment system, which he introduced in 1928, and then told of the offers of the assessors to make him director of appraisals. Previously he had been employed as a private appraiser.

"The merger of the board with the new system took place when I was given a letter signed by every board member, which purported to place in my hands complete control of the assessor's office," he explained.

"Didn't that mean in effect that the five elected assessors had seen the wisdom of one man running their office? Didn't it amount to abdication of their rights? Didn't it mean that although they kept their jobs, you alone made the assessment for the county?" Attorney Schaeffer questioned.

"That was it," Cutmore assented.

The assessor's offices, Cutmore added, had none of the standard books which every appraisal office should hold. Apparently he said, the assessors made no effort to determine whether the personal property schedules filed had any relation to the wealth of the makers.

Of more than 500,000 personal property schedules delivered to taxpayers, he declared, less than 200,000 were returned.

Bankers in Court Today.

Yesterday morning Attorneys Schaeffer and Keehn obtained a subpoena duces tecum from Judge Jarecki, who directed officials of the Central Republic Bank and Trust company, the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, the First Union Trust and Savings bank, the Harris Trust and Savings bank, and the Northern Trust company to appear in court this afternoon to show cause why they should not submit information concerning capital stock of foreign corporations which they hold. The assessors valued this property at only 20 million dollars, it was said, although it exceeds 100 million dollars in value. Arguments will be heard at 2:30 o'clock.

Attorney Schaeffer today will appear before Circuit Judge Finnegan to seek a temporary order restraining the reviewers from turning over to the county clerk the 1930 assessment books. The order will be asked pending the hearing of a mandamus suit to compel the board of review to place nearly 13 billion dollars' worth of personal property on the books.

Robert F. Carr to Leave Hospital in East This Week

Robert F. Carr, member of the board of education and president of the Dearborn Chemical company, who has been under observation at the Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, will leave the hospital this week, according to his daughter, Miss Florence Carr, 209 Lake Shore drive. Before returning to Chicago he plans to spend two weeks at Virginia Hot Springs, Miss Carr said. Her father went east for a rest, she said, and his condition is excellent.

Auto Bearing Dead Driver Plunges Into Iron Fence

With a dead man slumped over the wheel, an automobile ran over the curb at Garfield boulevard and Central Park avenue and crashed into an iron fence on the west side of Central Park avenue late last night. The Chicago Lawn police identified the body as that of Victor Badard, 48 years old, 4926 South Ashland avenue. Badard is supposed to have been stricken with heart disease.

HIGH U. S. COURT DEALS BLOW TO FACTOR DEFENSE

The United States Supreme court yesterday declined to review the case of Arthur J. Klein, fake stock swindler,, and thereby dealt a blow to the hopes of John [Jake the Barber] Factor, leader of a ring charged with defrauding Englishmen of $7,000,000, who is fighting extradition in Chicago.

Klein was ordered extradited to England shortly after his arrest in New York last November, but carried his case to the Supreme court. Factor's case is still pending before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker, although a decision is expected soon. Harry Geen, alias Green, a third member of the ring, was seized in Philadelphia and his case is still pending in the courts.

The same evidence was used by counsel for the British government against all three of the swindlers and three others have been sentenced to prison on the same evidence by an English court. Factor's lawyers have declared they would carry his case to the Supreme court.

Condition of Dr. Frost Improving, Wife Says

The condition of Dr. Edwin B. Frost, director of the Yerkes observatory at Williams Bay, Wis., was reported slightly improved yesterday at the Billings Memorial hospital. Mrs. Frost said that he was not yet strong enough for an operation, however. He is suffering from gallstones and the operation is deemed necessary by physicians.

WIFE DEMANDS MAGISTRATE GET CASES TO TRY

Mrs. Emma Dreher appeared before the village board of Brookfield last evening and in a speech of more than an hour informed the board that unless the police took some cases before her husband, Police Magistrate John Dreher, for trial she and the magistrate would be objects of charity soon.

The Brookfield police have orders from J. T. O'Brien, chairman of the village board's police committee, not to take offenders before Dreher. O'Brien explained that Dreher owed the village $589 and that unless this was paid he would not get any cases. When Dreher, following his wife's speech with one of his own, asserted that he had a year to pay the village the fines he collected an ordinance was read which stated that he should pay at shorter intervals.

Chairman O'Brien added that Dreher had made $11,000 in his office in two and half years. The matter was put over to Monday for decision.

PRISON TRIP DUE FOR 2 CAPONES, DRUGGAN, LAKE

Supreme Court Refuses Ralph's Appeal.

Four Chicago public enemies and a politician may be taken to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth this month as a result of action yesterday by the United States Supreme court. That tribunal declined to review the case of Ralph J. Capone, who is under sentence of three years in the penitentiary for income tax fraud.

Capone will be taken to prison as soon as notification that his petition for a writ of certiorari was denied arrives here from Washington. That will require two or three days. A mittimus will then be issued by the Circuit Court of Appeals and the marshal will arrest him.

Al May Go with Ralph.

Al Capone, who is in the county jail without bail pending appeal from his conviction and sentence to eleven years' imprisonment for tax evasion, may go to the penitentiary with his brother, for his lawyers have said that if they failed to get bail from the Supreme court, he would wish to start serving his term.

The other public enemies facing early imprisonment are Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake, the original beer barons, and the politician is State Representative Lawrence C. O'Brien. Pleas of guilty to income tax fraud, entered by Druggan and Lake, were contingent as to felony counts on the outcome of the Ralph Capone and O'Brien appeals. The Supreme court's action in refusing to review Capone's case makes Druggan and Lake subject to possible maximum sentences of ten years each in the penitentiary and two years each in the county jail.

Sentence Due on Nov. 15.

The former beer barons are scheduled to appear before Judge James H. Wilkerson on Nov. 15 for sentence, and the federal prosecutors are hopeful that by that time the Supreme court will have acted on O'Brien's appeal. If the Supreme court denies O'Brien's petition, then he will be taken to the penitentiary to serve his term of eighteen months and Druggan and Lake will be sentenced.

Druggan and Lake will be subject to additional felony counts entailing penitentiary sentences if O'Brien's appeal is unsuccessful. Their cases were similar to Ralph Capone's in that "willful attempts to cheat, swindle, and defraud the United States" was charged, and to O'Brien's in that they were charged with failure to file returns and attempts to evade and defeat taxes.

Expect Ahern in Washington.

One of Al Capone's lawyers, Michael Ahern, was reported yesterday to have gone to Washington to request Supreme Court Justice Willis Van Devanter for bail for his gangster client. Efforts to reach Mr. Ahern in Chicago were unsuccessful.

When the Circuit Court of Appeals denied bail for Capone the lawyers said they would apply to Justice Van Devanter, and that, failing there, Capone probably would wish to leave immediately for Leavenworth, despite a writ of supersedeas granted him, and get credit toward his sentence.

To combat possible efforts of Capone's lawyers to get bail from the Supreme court, United States Attorney George E. Q. Johnson has forwarded a transcript of the proceedings before the Circuit Court of Appeals and of Judge Wilkerson's statement denouncing the Capone gang. The latter's statement was made when he sentenced Philip D'Andrea, Capone's bodyguard, to six months in jail for carrying a gun in court during the gang chief's trial.

Two Year Fight Ended.

Two years and a day elapsed from the time of Ralph Capone's indictment to the final disposition of his appeal. He was indicted on Nov. 1, 1929, brought to trial on April 11, 1930, and convicted on April 25. The Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed his conviction last July and the Supreme court denied his last hope yesterday. Besides the sentence of three years, he was fined $11,000 by Judge Wilkerson.

Al Capone's appeal is not expected to require so long because of limits placed upon counsel for the filing of their briefs by the Appellate court.

MANY ARE KILLED BY THREE QUAKES IN SOUTH JAPAN

Houses Fall; Roadways Crack Open.

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, Nov. 3.—(Tuesday.)—(AP)—Reports today of the earthquake which rocked Kuishiu island Monday were extremely conflicting, the newspaper Jiji Hochi reporting 1,000 casualties and 200 houses collapsed while the Asahi said there were few casualties and only a dozen houses wrecked.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Nov. 2.—An undetermined number of persons were killed and injured by three successive earthquakes on the southern Japanese islands of Kuishiu and Shikoku. Many houses and buildings were destroyed.

The greatest loss of life is believed to have occurred in the interior districts of the islands. Up until late tonight communication with these areas had not been established. The islands were rocked by the quakes several hours apart. The first shock was felt in the morning; the second at about 3 p. m., and the third at 7 p. m.

Roads Crack Wide Open.

According to meager dispatches, the number of casualties was greatest in the Miyazaki prefecture. Other parts of the island were also shaken.

In Kumamoto, an important city on the Shira river, electric light wires were torn from the poles, leaving the city in darkness. Roadways cracked wide open and houses collapsed. The town of Fukuoka, the starting point of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh on their recent flight across the Yellow sea to Nanking, capital of China, was also severely damaged.

Kiushiu is the most southerly of the three principal islands of Japan. It has a population of more than 6,000,000. It is separated from Corea by the strait of Corea and from Honshiu island by the strait of Shikoku. Shikoku island lies south of Honshiu island. It has 4,000,000 inhabitants.

10 Children Imperiled by Bomb in Flat Building

A bomb was exploded early this morning at the entrance of a two-story flat building at 1141 North Hamlin avenue and imperiled ten children. The front door of the place was blown out, the hallway wrecked, and plaster was knocked from the walls. The damage was estimated at $200. The owner of the building, Mrs. Philomena Diesio, and her sister live on the first floor, and between them they have ten children. The second floor is occupied by Salvatore Matello. No one was injured.

Lang Fights Back

Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude yesterday decided that a man should not have to borrow from his third wife to pay the claims of the first two. On the basis of that ruling he continued until Nov. 20 the hearing of charges of nonpayment of alimony made against William Lang, 50 years old, a plumbing contractor, member of the state board of arbitration, by his two former wives.

Lang, who was injured in an automobile accident on March 21, limped into court with the aid of a cane and the shoulder of his present wife, Mabel, with whom he lives at 329 Belden avenue. He was confronted by wife No. 2, Mrs. Helen Lang, 822 Galt avenue, and her attorney, J. J. Merinski, who demanded $525, and by Attorney Donald N. Clausen representing wife No. 1, Mrs Rose Lang, now in Detroit, who demanded $800. Wife No. 1 divorced Lang in 1917 and No. 2 in 1925.

After auditors for both former wives had testified, Lang told the court that his plumbing business had lost $2,000 during the last year and his injury had further impaired his earning powers.

BOARD OF TRADE BOUNCES MARDEN, THE POOR LOSER

The Chicago Board of Trade has discovered, to its embarrassment, that for several years its membership included Ben Marden, proprietor of the Continental Gold Coast Welshing club at 19 Cedar street. Yesterday Marden's membership was posted for transfer.

Brokers on the exchange floor said that Marden was given two choices when the board ascertained that he was the same man who runs the Cedar street gambling house. These choices were to get out or be kicked out. The brokers expressed surprise that Marden was ever able to pass the scrutiny of the board's investigating committee and become a member.

Lyman Irish, wealthy New York broker, is still waiting for the $21,000 he won at roulette in Marden's club ten days ago. Marden promised to pay the money by Nov. 1. When a reporter called to ask Marden whether he had settled with Irish, he claimed that everything had been straightened out, that Irish, as a matter of fact, had no winnings coming. Marden flashed his Board of Trade credentials to prove that he was not a welsher.

"A welsher can't be a member of the Board of Trade," he said.

A. N. JERREMS JR., SUED BY 2D WIFE; CRUELTY CHARGE

Alexander N. Jerrems Jr., son of an official of the Jerrems Tailoring Co., was sued for divorce yesterday by his second wife, Mrs. Lillian O'Leary Jerrems, who charged him with cruelty. The bill was filed in the Circuit court. Jerrems was divorced in April, 1928, by his first wife, Mrs. Mary Dawes Hoyt Jerrems, a niece of Charles G. Dawes, ambassador to England.

In her action, Mrs. Jerrems asserted that she was married on Dec. 20, 1930, and parted from her husband three months ago, after he had struck her many times.

WIFE WAITS IN AUTO AS MATE IS STRUCK DOWN

Robert Ebbert, 26 years old, 6000 Champlain avenue, was unconscious at the Washington Park hospital last evening as a result of a skull fracture suffered Sunday night when he was struck by an automobile as he was walking on the Governor's highway a few miles north of Monee.

Ebbert's car stalled and, leaving his wife, Alvira, 24 years old, he had set out to replenish the gasoline supply. He did not return and four hours later Mrs. Ebbert was able to hail a passing motorist and return to her home. When she heard no word from her husband by midnight she notified the highway police. Ebbert was discovered in a ditch beside the road.

Two auto deaths in Cook county raised the 1931 toll to 1,068. The victims:

Charles Brooks, 56 years old, 3355 Wilson avenue. Died at the Norwegian American hospital from injuries sustained earlier when he was struck by the automobile of a hit and run driver in front of 1032 North California avenue.

Mrs. Catherine Mazer, 68 years old, 2148 Cleveland avenue. Died early this morning at Augustana hospital of injuries she received on Oct. 31 when she was struck by a truck driven by Steven La Moica, 15 years old, 1217 Larrabee street, at Ogden avenue and Larrabee street.

Harold G. Helfert, 24 years old, a sailor at the Great Lakes Naval training station, died of injuries suffered Sunday when he was struck in Sheridan road near the station by an automobile driven by William C. Fitch, 411 Julian street, Waukegan. Helfert's home was at Sioux Falls, S. D.

WOMAN AMNESIA VICTIM IS FOUND; WORKING AS MAID

A woman amnesia victim about 40 years old was found in Wheaton by police yesterday. When blindfolded and asked to write her name, she scrawled "Gene Taft."

Chief Lyle Grange of the Wheaton force questioned the woman when informed that she told W. H. Shaffer, in whose household she had been a maid since last Wednesday, that she could not remember her name or where she came from. Dr. A. B. Jones, city physician, examined her and pronounced her suffering from amnesia.

The woman is 5 feet 7 inches in height, weighs 135 pounds, and has dark red hair, blue eyes, and a fair complexion. She speaks with a southern accent.

GLAND EXTRACT USED IN TESTS TO GROW HAIR

Chance Puts Physician in Path of New Theory.

What makes hair grow and the causes of baldness may be learned, it was disclosed yesterday, as a result of the experiments of Dr. B. Norman Bengtson of Maywood.

Physicians who have followed Dr. Bengtson's experiments say they came about as the result of chance five years ago. He was using glandular extracts in the treatment of a woman patient to counteract a tendency to overweight. One day the woman remarked to him that her hair, which had been thin and colorless, was growing in again, thick and fine.

Evolves New Theory.

Dr. Bengtson examined her hair and found her statements correct. Puzzling over the reason, he evolved a theory on which his experiments have since been pursued. His deductions centered on the action of the pituitary extract he had been using. He considered the possibility that its effect on hair growth was due to its action on the anterior pituitary gland, located at the base of the brain.

Earlier theories about the control of hair growth had credited this function to the thyroid gland, and doses of thyroid still are given in efforts to grow hair on bald heads with indifferent success.

Since his attention was first called to the matter, Dr. Bengtson has experimented extensively with the injection of pituitary extract on bald headed men and on women whose hair growth was affected by their health. Although the results obtained are considered only initial successes, they are most encouraging, according to physicians.

University Hospital Tests.

Extensive tests of the Bengtson method are now under way in a clinic established three weeks ago at the University of Illinois Research and Educational hospital, 1807 West Polk street. Fifty subjects have been selected and are undergoing complete physical examinations preliminary to a careful test into the effects of the glandular treatment.

One of the most remarkable cases in the Bengtson records is that of a man of 58, who had been bald for two years. After taking glandular injections over a period of months, this patient had a complete growth of gray hair. Continuing to take the injections, his hair turned black at the back of the neck and around the temples—spots in which hair ordinarily first loses its color. Later the color was restored all over his head.

Another man who had been bald for twenty-three years developed a healthy growth of hair. A young man in his thirties, who had become bald at the age of sixteen, was treated for twenty-two months. In that period he grew a complete head of gray hair, which then turned back to its natural dark color.

Further Tests Required.

Whether the injection of the pituitary extract will prove effective for all types of baldness remains to be studied in the cases to be treated in the university clinic, according to physicians.

Realizing that the announcement of the new theory will provide medical quacks another field for their operations, warning is given to the public by the discovery that only reputable physicians will be capable of administering the treatment, and that only after initial instructions in the subject.

STOP PESSIMISTIC TALK, IS REYNOLDS' ADVICE TO PUBLIC

If America will stop pessimistic talk and the hoarding of money they can speedily bring back prosperity. This rebuke and advice were given by George M. Reynolds, chairman of the executive committee of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, in a radio talk last night over W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station. Mr. Reynolds explained the plans of the National Credit corporation, the big banking pool of which he is chairman, to extend aid to banks with frozen assets.

"The return of prosperity is a problem for all of us," he said. "It is the duty of every one to assist in bringing this two year depression to an end. All of us should discourage pessimistic talk. Let us talk more about the good things in our country and less about our own little troubles. Sentiment has improved lately and there has been some actual improvement in trade. Let us help them along.

"Fear is being replaced by confidence. There is no need for hoarding and it is detrimental to all the people. It takes money out of circulation, dries up credit for trade, prevents industrial recovery and enforces unemployment. Let us regain courage and work unremittingly and cheerfully. This country will come through."

HIGHLAND PARK MAN VANISHES; POLICE ON HUNT

Police were asked early this morning to search for August J. Kreuzkamp, 57 years old, of 299 Moraine road, Highland Park, wealthy retired treasurer of the Englander Spring Bed company, who was last seen in Chicago early yesterday afternoon.

His wife, Mrs. May Kreuzkamp, said that he was subject to heart attacks and may have been stricken somewhere. His son, August J. Kreuzkamp Jr., a student at the University of Chicago, was in Chicago this morning seeking him.

Mr. Kreuzkamp and his son came to Chicago yesterday. At noon he met L. W. Frank of Ravinia and the two dined at the Polk street station. Mr. Kreuzkamp left his friend, saying he planned to visit the showrooms of the company with which he was formerly connected at 36 South State street. Whether he arrived there is not known.

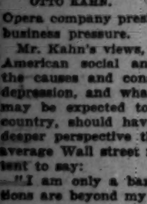
KAHN WARNS OF POLITICAL DRAG ON PROSPERITY

Says Government Theories Hamper Business.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Otto H. Kahn, head of the great banking house of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., is one Wall street leader whose interests extend beyond financial statements and market changes. An authority on banking and railroad finance, he is also a patron of the arts, interested in archaeology, the American Shakespeare foundation, and music. He recently resigned from the Metropolitan Opera company presidency because of business pressure.



OTTO KAHN.

Mr. Kahn's views, therefore, on the American social and political drift, the causes and consequences of the depression, and what new leadership may be expected to develop in this country, should have a broader and deeper perspective than those of the average Wall street man, who is content to say:

"I am only a banker; these questions are beyond my depth."

Optimistic of Future.

This German-American, who learned banking in London, has his headquarters in a gloomy old building at 52 William street, in the heart of that vital organism known as "Wall street," which dominates the American financial scene. Once inside, however, the gloom gives way to a homelike, intimate, and friendly atmosphere, the winding iron stairway from the bank floor leading to a room of light and cheerful decoration, taupe velvet carpet, desks in close touch with each other, littered with books and papers, solid looking men moving softly about.

Mr. Kahn sits in a nearby alcove room, gray and mustached, talking with an accent after nearly 30 years in this country. Over his desk is a group of pictures of the railroad genius, Harriman, whom he refers to as a great leader in business, comparable with Roosevelt in the political field.

As to the present situation, Mr. Kahn is quite optimistic. The main economic troubles are about over, he thinks, and the situation is reduced to a problem in popular psychology, which may take a new turn at any time. He expects things to be on a much better basis within a year. Gold will return as a permanent standard, the English upset being looked upon only as temporary.

Responsibility on Politics.

Leadership in social affairs cannot be expected today from business men. That is not in their training. Theirs is the rôle of advisers and the prudent management of their own business. Leadership such as the elder Morgan gave was possible in a pioneer age, but not in this time of specialization. Politicians, statesmen, and economists must furnish the new leadership. There is no Roosevelt in sight today, no figure of might to turn to, particularly not in the east.

Contrary to popular belief, business does not run politics. The bankers may know a few senators and other leaders, but their influence on the legislative body is slight in comparison with the popular will. One of our main troubles has been that politicians would not pay attention to sound business advice in the framing of legislation.

Mr. Kahn expressed his thoughts on the depression last summer when he went out to the Ravinia opera at Chicago. While in the main he still holds these same opinions, he has revised and extended his analysis, and now presents a new thesis on the subject of capitalism, which, he maintains, has not failed, nor is approaching its downfall.

"The economic collapse which started in the autumn of 1929," he says, "and its prolonged continuance, are not traceable to the system of capitalism, whatever criticism may justly lie on the score of imperfections of method, or against individuals.

Blundering Economic Legislation.

"In assessing responsibility it should be remembered that capitalism, for some considerable time, has been subject to a steadily increasing extent to governmental action by way of legislation, the functioning of commissions and so forth.

"Democracy is likely, perhaps not unnaturally, to be impatient with the intricate workings of economics and has been known, yielding to plausible agitation especially in times of stress, to resort to measures disregardful of the tested and logical tenets of economic law and designed to circumvent or overrule it. [He refers to the farm board efforts in wheat and cotton as a costly and dismal failure.] Economic law is, in its basic elements, a greater force than legislative enactments or executive proceedings. And it is an old and sad truth that the effects of economic blundering by government are felt most in the end by those least able to protect themselves."

England is pointed out as a country where the natural workings of capitalism have been particularly hampered, and France as a country that has been least hampered in this respect.

"Capitalistic business," he says, "with us is held responsible by many for unsystematized, greedy, and at times grossly excessive production, with inevitably resulting periods of reaction and unemployment. By all means let us strive to bring about a reasonable equilibrium between supply and demand, let us have coördinated planning and distribution, let us use our utmost efforts to eliminate those recurring ordeals of setbacks and depressions, which are a serious reflection upon our capacity to manage our affairs.

"But how can capitalistic business be justly held responsible for not having achieved these desirable consummations, when our antiquated antitrust laws [particularly the Clayton act] go to the length they do in exacting competition, however wasteful, harmful, and chaotic, and make foresighted and logical coöperation a punishable offense?

Business Leadership Discouraged.

"We business men are accused of having failed to produce leadership in the present emergency. I am not seeking to establish an alibi for those occupying prominent places in the business world, or to belittle their share of responsibility. But, after all, it is only by action on the part of governmental executives and legislatures that remedial measures of a sufficiently far reaching character can be rendered feasible or put into operation.

"In contemplating the causes which underlie the present situation I cannot but admit errors and other shortcomings on the part of business men, particularly during the mad days of 1929, and even instances of gravely censurable practices; but, granting that, it still would seem beyond controversy that much the greater part of those causes is of a political nature, using the word political in its broadest sense as including diplomacy and statesmanship."

"If capitalism be indeed on trial, must not democracy, as now constituted and as evolved mainly, or at least as an accelerated pace, within the last twenty-five years, be cited as co-defendant? And should not governments be the principal defendants?

Public Welfare Paramount.

"The aim and test of every social system is the greatest good of society. Not only must be business men not obstruct, but we must willingly fall in line behind every well conceived and promising effort for progress and for the enhanced welfare and satisfaction of the people. On the other hand, we must fight resolutely against the pernicious fallacies of demagogic agitators and the perilous doctrines of emotional theorists.

Keep Government Out of Business.

"There are elements inherent in the very essence of government, which emphasize the need in a democracy of confining the business functions of government to those activities which private enterprise is not qualified to undertake, or which, in their nature, it ought not to be permitted to undertake.

"What the soviet experiment will produce ultimately is any one's guess, but, whatever be the result, it will have been achieved at the cost of what western civilization has attained through the struggles of centuries and which it cherishes as a priceless possession, namely, individual liberty."

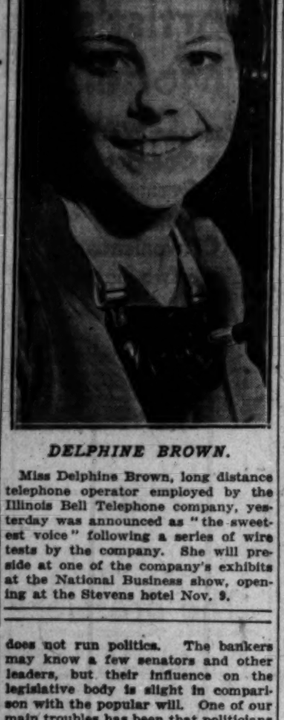
Mr. Kahn, while calling attention to the economic interdependence of countries, finds that in the last analysis the basic elements of our economic condition are in our own country and within our own people.

"One of the most important services America can render to the other nations is to regain our own prosperity and thereby re-establish our purchasing and spending power."

Mr. Kahn suggests a sort of economic general staff to analyze the suggestions that are pouring into the White House for emergency action.

Another dispatch from Mr. Kinsley will be published tomorrow.

GOLDEN VOICE



DELPHINE BROWN.

Miss Delphine Brown, long distance telephone operator employed by the Illinois Bell Telephone company, yesterday was announced as "the sweetest voice" following a series of wire tests by the company. She will preside at one of the company's exhibits at the National Business show, opening at the Stevens hotel Nov. 9.

ALDERMEN PROBE CUTTING OFF OF BATH HEATERS

Name Four to Consider Bundesen Order.

Four aldermen were appointed yesterday by the city council health committee to direct an inquiry into the necessity of shutting off the heating gas in buildings in which gas water heaters are located in bathrooms in violation of the city code.

The inquiry was prompted by notices sent out by the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company to 72,000 consumers whose heaters are installed in violation of the code. The notices called attention to the violations and stated that Health Commissioner Bundesen had ordered the company to shut off the gas where there are violations.

Some Already Cut Off.

In compliance with the order the company has stopped the flow of gas to some residences already, members of the committee said. W. G. Rudd, an official of the company, informed the aldermen that crews of mechanics are in the field now cutting off all bathroom heaters from the gas supply pipes.

"Over four thousand bathroom heaters that have no flue to the outside, the ones we consider the most dangerous, have been cut out already," said Mr. Rudd. "The men are now cutting out those that have flues."

In reply to questions, Dr. Hugh O. Jones, assistant health commissioner, said that the Bundesen order had been issued after a series of deaths, allegedly due to the consumption of oxygen in bathrooms where a heater was in operation, had been noticed. Since the order went out, according to Mr. Rudd, there have been no deaths.

Wants Reason for Action.

"There must be some reason for this sudden enforcement of an ordinance that has been in existence for twenty years," said Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th]. "The people in my ward have an idea it is a racket."

After a general discussion of the merits of the new gas mixture as compared with the old, Ald. Terence F. Moran [16th], chairman, appointed Ald. Ross, David Sutton [8th], Thomas J. Terrell [29th], and John J. Hoellen [47th] to determine what can be done with bathroom heaters with the least discomfort and burden to the owners. They will work with Dr. Bundesen and Jeffrey O'Connor, commissioner of public service.

$10,000 WON BY CONTRACTOR IN LOVE THEFT SUIT

A jury in the court of Superior Judge Walter P. Steffen, it was learned yesterday, awarded $10,000 to William C. Schultz, 413 Wisconsin avenue, Oak Park, a contractor, in his suit for the alienation of the affections of his wife, Helen, against Harry J. Burke, a broker in the firm of E. A. Pierce & Co., 164 North La Salle street. Mr. Schultze committed suicide on April 16 in a north side hotel. The verdict was returned on Oct. 20 and quietly recorded.

In his suit Schultz charged that Burke had met his wife in September, 1928, and won her regard by gifts of money and clothes.

SWANSON SEES POLITICS BEHIND LAXITY CHARGES

Prosecutor and His Aids Reply to Attack.

Denials were made yesterday to charges that undue leniency has been shown by the state's attorney's office to defendants in the Criminal court. The records of the crime commission had been used in an attack on the office of State's Attorney Swanson. His assistants were charged with laxity for accepting pleas of guilty to larceny from defendants charged with robbery with a gun.

State's Attorney Swanson said he regarded the statement as political and he defended the conduct of his assistants. It was also explained that under a larceny sentence a convict may be imprisoned six years and six months and that the prosecutors are usually satisfied to have a defendant plead guilty and leave to the parole board the length of time to be served.

"It is my idea that my assistants have fairly presented to the courts the facts in each case," said Mr. Swanson. "I am very sorry that the persons responsible for this latest outburst have no foundation in real truth and have descended to political mud singing."

Chief Justice Harry M. Fisher of the Criminal court refused to comment on the charges but intimated that any direct attack on the courts will be answered promptly and effectively.

In the prosecutor's office it was remarked by many of the assistants that there is little difference in the time of imprisonment whether a defendant is sentenced for larceny or robbery. The difference, they said, is in the maximum time, the statutes providing one to ten years for larceny and one year to life for robbery, but the parole board seldom keeps a first offender in prison longer than six and a half years on a robbery charge.

GREAT COOKING SCHOOL OPENS IN TRIANON TODAY

Entertaining Program to Accompany Lesson.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Last minute preparations were under way last night for THE TRIBUNE School of Cookery, which will open at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon in the Trianon ballroom, 6201 Cottage Grove avenue.

Architects, designers, artists, painters, plumbers, electricians, carpenters, and florist decorators worked to perfect a model kitchen on the stage of the ballroom. Electric refrigerators were set up. A white kitchen sink and an electric dishwasher were installed. Tables were carried in. A profusion of mixing bowls, spoons, cake pans, muffin tins, egg beaters, measuring cups and saucepans were assembled.

In the midst of the workmen, two women went about, testing the oven of the bright new stove, twirling an egg beater, shoving a table to one side and giving suggestions. They were Mrs. Ida M. Chitwood, who will conduct the school, and Miss Mary Meade, TRIBUNE home economics editor.

Arrange Food Prizes.

In one corner of the ballroom men were arranging the hundreds of packages of food which will be given away throughout the week. One hundred of these will be given daily, in addition to 10 special prizes. On Friday, the fourth and last day of the south side cooking classes, grand prizes consisting of labor saving devices for the kitchen will be given to those who have attended one or more of the lectures during the week.

A whole carload of groceries was looked over by Mrs. Chitwood to see that all the eggs, flour, vegetables, baking powder, and so on she will need were on hand.

The ballroom will seat approximately 1,000 persons, it was estimated, so that 1,000 families may look forward to a late but inspired dinner tonight.

Letters signifying the interest women have in THE TRIBUNE School of Cookery have poured in to Mary Meade during the last few days.

"If the sociologists and reformers who bewail the passing of the American home and the death of the old-fashioned ideals could see my mail or visit our cooking school," said Mary Meade last night, "they would receive a distinct jolt. Women are as much interested in cookery as ever.

Cooking as a Diversion.

"Some persons argue that women seek to fascinate the men. There is something in that. A woman does her marketing with more care and her cooking with more zest when it is to be consumed by critical but appreciative men.

"But aside from al that, women of all walks of life cook merely because they want to cook. I have heard women in high executive positions, prominent women doctors and lawyers and social service workers, say that when the world seems to them a hard and stony place they turn to the kitchen for solace.

"Many men like to cook, too, and any men who want to learn more about cooking will be welcome in our classes. Mrs. Chitwood will explain in a simple, direct way just how she does things. She has many new wrinkles that even casehardened cooks may learn with profit."

Classes will be held in the Trianon ballroom at 1:45 o'clock today, also tomorrow, Thursday, and Friday. Women in other parts of the city will attend classes of THE TRIBUNE School of Cookery in their own sections the following two weeks, with final classes the afternoons and evenings of Nov. 23 and 24 in the Coliseum.

Cooking and Entertainment.

As Mrs. Chitwood lectures, she will stir up cake batter, mix salads, and show how simple it is to be a good cook.

More than 100 women will carry away prizes daily. The grand prizes to be given Friday consist of an electric refrigerator, a vacuum cleaner, a motor driven food mixer, an electric percolator, an electric iron, and a toaster.

In addition to the cooking lesson and prizes, a program of entertainment will be provided by THE TRIBUNE.

To start the ball rolling, Frank Bennett, prominent choral director, will lead the more than 5,000 women in community singing, accompanied at the piano by his wife, Kathryn Bennett. Two of the songs in the list of 14 have a touch of the kitchen about them. They are "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes," and "The Old Oaken Bucket," while one might put "Comin' Thro' the Rye" in the same category.

Phil Maxwell[was master of ceremonies at the Chicagoland Music festival, sponsored by THE TRIBUNE last August in Soldiers' field, will introduce the entertainers of the afternoon. From "Girl Crazy," current loop musical comedy, will come Patricia Garrity, who will sing; Floria West, singer and dancer, and 20 girls o fthe dancing chorus.

Other Stars to Appear.

Other stars of the show to take part in the opening cookery school program will be Lew Parker and John Locke.

From the Ethel and Gertrude Morgan School of Dancing a group of 28 smaller girls will give a cycle of terpsichorean numbers.

Other songsters for the afternoon will be Ruth Streeter, radio and concert soprano, and Henry Phillips, tenor, of the musical comedy stage, and J. Arthur Edmunds, baritone, from the Chicago Musical college. He will be accompanied by Miss Miriam Mims.

71 Years Old; Convicted of Murder; Gets 14 Years

Dennis Kelly, 71 years old, was found guilty of murder yesterday by a jury in the courtroom of Judge George Fred Rush and his punishment was fixed at 14 years' imprisonment. Kelly fatally stabbed Louis Di Cicco, 33 years old, on July 18, in a quarrel because Di Cicco refused to cash some checks which Kelly had forged. The fatal stabbing occurred in a rooming house at 312 South Aberdeen street, where both men lived. The case was prosecuted by Assistant State's Attorney Nat Ruvell.

NEW JURY OPENS DRIVE TODAY ON BANK DEBTORS

Stuyvesant Peabody Foreman; Bain Group First.

Before a new grand jury headed by Stuyvesant Peabody, millionaire sportsman and coal magnate, State's Attorney Swanson will embark today on a campaign against delinquent debtors of closed banks.

Chief Justice Harry M. Fisher, swearing in the jury in the Criminal court yesterday, refrained from issuing any special instructions on the bank situation, but cautioned the jury to leave minor offenses for settlement in the Municipal court and devote their attention to "greater crimes on which evidence may be presented to you." The judge then appointed Mr. Peabody foreman.

Bain Banks Come First.

Mapping his program for the four weeks of the new jury's term, Prosecutor Henry E. Ayers, bank specialist of Mr. Swanson's staff, announced his first move would be to complete the presentation of evidence concerning the closed Bain banks.

Subpoenas will be issued to bring testimony from the cashiers of two of the Bain group, Hugh Leslie of the Brainerd bank and Irvin Larsen of the Armitage bank, Mr. Ayers said. It is likely that John Bain Jr., son of the head of the chain, will also be subpoenaed, Mr. Ayers said. Bench warrants have been issued against all three by Judge William J. Lindsay, in whose court several of the Bain banks are now in receivership.

Regarding the pursuit of delinquent debtors, Mr. Swanson said it was his purpose to compel all bank receivers to furnish his office a list of such debtors, summon them before the grand jury and possibly invoke the statute covering the concealment of assets if the debtors prove recalcitrant.

Used in One Court.

A modification of this plan has recently been employed by Judge Michael Feinberg, who forced Terry Druggan, notorious beer peddler, to pay up part of his unsecured obligations to a west side bank and wrung from Druggan's attorney a promise that the balance would be met as soon as possible.

Summing up the results of his efforts to date from June 1, when he first undertook a general probe of the ninety closed banks in the county, Mr. Swanson revealed that the grand jury has returned seventy-three indictments, naming fifty-seven officers, employes and other defendants. Six assistant prosecutors, thirty-two auditors, two investigators and two stenographers are working solely on bank cases, Mr. Swanson said.

John F. Jenkins, 27 years old, former cashier of the La Grange State Trust and Savings bank, an institution not to be confused with any closed bank, pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge James J. Kelly to a $20,000 embezzlement, committed over a period of two and one-half years in market speculations. Pronouncement of sentence was deferred to Nov. 30. Jenkins has already made partial restitution to the insurance company which has the bank fully covered against loss.

BEG YOUR PARDON

An article in yesterday's TRIBUNE concerning measures to collect on the assets of closed banks erroneously listed the Edison State bank as one of the closed banks. There is no Edison State bank. The Elston State bank was intended. Edwin C. Hansen, a director of the Edison Park State bank, points out the similarity of names and asks that public attention be directed to the fact that the Edison Park State bank, a going institution, is in no way concerned.

SWAMP BRITISH LABOR PARTY IN TOWN ELECTIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 3 [Tuesday].—The Labor party suffered another crushing defeat in the municipal elections yesterday in about 300 cities and boroughs in England and Wales. Returns announced early today showed that the Conservatives had gained 149 seats and lost five, that the Liberals had gained 26 and lost five, and that the Laborites had gained five and lost 206. The independents gained 46 and lost ten.

At Stoke-on-Trent, where Sir Oswald Mosley, leader of the New party, was defeated in the parliamentary elections last week, the independents gained 11 seats from Labor, not one Laborite being elected. At Derby, the constituency of J. H. Thomas, National Labor cabinet member, the Laborites lost 10 seats and their majority, and at Birkenhead, 11 seats and their majority. They also lost 11 seats at Bradford and 9 at Liverpool and Manchester.

At Coventry six communists polled only 498 votes between them. There were 24 contests in Birmingham, but not a single Laborite was returned, the Conservatives gaining five seats from them. London Laborites lost seats at Holborn, Stoke Newington, and Bedford.

Spanish Laborers Kill One Priest and Shoot Another

BILBAO, Spain, Nov. 2.—(AP)—A group of laborers fired upon two priests in a suburb of Bilbao, killing one of them and seriously wounding the other today. Authorities said they feared reprisals, because of strong Catholic sentiment here. Witnesses said the shooting occurred after the priests had passed the group, with whom they exchanged greetings.

REVEAL FASCIST PLOT TO SEIZE AUSTRO-HUNGARY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 2.—A nationalist revolt, which has been threatening since the war to turn Austria and Hungary back into pre-war royalism, and which several times has been attempted abortively, is planned to take place Nov. 8 and 9.

Thet powerful Fascist heimwehr organization in Austria has received marching orders for Nov. 8 to make a determined effort to rid Austria of socialism and turn Hungary from a pseudo monarchy into a real one.

News of the impending revolt has come from Austrian and Hungarian spies of the European Socialist grapevine system. The Socialists, powerless through their local parties to prevent the intended political upset, have appealed to their French comrades. The news appeared on the front page of Populaire, Socialist organ in France, over the signature of Leon Blum, chief of the French Socialists. The story was accompanied by documents.

French Socialists, through their official organ, called upon the Quai d'Orsay to take drastic measures to prevent consummation of the threatened revolt.

Ex-Kaiser, Nearly 73, Drops Ax for an Electric Saw

DOORN, Holland, Nov. 2.—(AP)—William Hohenzollern, long the "imperial woodchopper of Doorn," has dropped his ax for an electric saw and almost worked himself out of a job. The former kaiser made the change partly because of his advancing age—he is nearly 73—but mostly because he has chopped down every superfluous tree on the estate. He now busies himself in reducing to stove size with the mechanical saw, lumber imported to Doorn Manor from elsewhere.

LESSON NO. 1

Buy good food at A&P Food Stores and save money every day.

Inspired cooks are made, not born! And the touch of the gourmet is a matter of training as well as genius. The Tribune cooking school opens today, ready to teach you the fundamentals in the art of good cooking and many famous recipes that will give you a pleasant little air of fame among your friends who take cooking casually. The foods in today's display were bought at A&P stores where high quality is a matter of principle. The fascinating thing about cooking is that expense plays very little part in its success. A&P's 5, 10, and 25 cent sale this week illustrates this truth.

10 RACING PILOTS WILL DO STUFF IN AIR SUNDAY

Famed Aviators to Appear at Charity Show.

Ten of America's foremost racing pilots, most of them flying their own speed planes, plan to participate in the charity air show to be held over Grant park next Sunday afternoon for the benefit of Chicago's unemployed. All proceeds of the show will go to the Joint Emergency Relief fund.

Three additions to the tentative program were announced by Maj. R. W. Schroeder, manager of Sky Harbor airport, who is in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Ruth Stewart of St. Louis and Miss Debie Stanford of Toronto, who announced plans for a 5,000 mile flight from New York to South America last week, telegraphed THE TRIBUNE they will attend the show.

Maj. Schroeder also was informed that the Enna Jettick blimp will appear over Grant park as part of the program next Sunday. The Chicago Rapid Transit company offered the facilities of its hospital unit No. 1, which will be installed in the park for the event. Dr. Hart E. Fischer, chief surgeon for the transit company, will have a staff of 6 doctors, 16 nurses, and 20 first aid men, under Dr. D. F. Whitelaw, with the unit.

Insull Expresses Appreciation.

Samuel Insull Jr., chairman of the Joint Emergency Relief fund, yesterday expressed the fund's appreciation of the pilots' participation in the charity air show.

"The whole hearted codperation that America's crack flyers are offering to the air show is certainly gratifying to the Joint Emergency Relief committee," he said. "The presence of so many aces of the air insures a show that will undoubtedly attract a tremendous attendance, and add a substantial sum to the fund for Chicago's needy families.

"Events of this nature, appealing to the public as worthwhile entertainment, are bringing in money that could be obtained in no other way. The success of the entertainments fostered by the benefits division of the relief fund has already exceeded our fondest expectations, and will be, in the final analysis, one of the major items in the success of Chicago's determination to care for its own people.

The ten famous racing pilots to compete are:

Lieut. Alford J. Williams, who became famous seven years ago as a racing pilot in Pulitzer trophy races when he flew his Curtiss plane at speeds around 240 miles an hour, has accepted an invitation to appear before Chicagoans.

Lowell R. Bayles, who worked in an Illinois coal mine seven years ago and quit to take up flying for a business, will be present in the Gee Bee racer in which he won the Thompson trophy race at Cleveland two months ago at an average speed of 236 miles an hour.

Mrs. Tait to Fly.

Miss Maude Irving Tait, society girl of Springfield, Mass., who flies a Gee Bee racer for sport, and who won the Aerol trophy for race women at the national air races two months ago, plans to come to the air show with Bayles.

Mrs. Phoebe Fairgrave Omlie of Memphis, who started in aviation doing wing walking and parachute jumps, but who has developed into a long distance racing pilot, will fly to Chicago in her yellow and red monoplane fo rthe show.

John Livingston, who has won so many places in national air races that the count has been lost, said at his home in Aurora he will be glad to attend the charity show.

James Haizlip Will Appear.

James Haizlip of St. Louis, associate of Maj. James H. Doolittle, plans to participate in the air show. Haizlip has been racing for years and, although he had hard luck at the last national air races, his performance has been noteworthy.

E. M. [Matty] Laird, a Chicagoan who became interested in aviation while working as an office boy at the First National bank and building model planes, later to build and learn to fly his own plane, will be in the air next Sunday.

Harold Johnson, who flew the Continental Airways' Lockheed Orion from Los Angeles to Cleveland to take second place in the Bendix race, plans to attend the charity air show in that plane.

Lou Reichers, flying Bernarr Macfadden's fast Lockheed Orion, the Golden Eagle, promised to attend the air show. Reichers will have Macfadden as co-pilot.

Ben O. Howard, who won the admiration of Chicagoans last year at the national air races by his smooth racing in the little white "pylon polisher" that he built himself, plans to attend the air show.

Aviation Notes

An airplane shuttle service between the Chicago airport, 63d street and Cicero avenue, the Curtiss-Reynolds airport, near Glenview, has been started by Century Air Lines. Four flights will be made from each field daily. The trip will take twenty minutes and the fare will be $2.50. Stinson Jr. cabin monoplanes, powered by Lycoming motors, will be used in the service.

A protest was made to the city council zoning committee yesterday against the adoption of a proposed amendment to the zoning ordinances which would prohibit the erection of buildings higher than 65 feet in the vicinity of the Chicago airport. Ald. James Kovarik [15th], whose ward includes the airport, told the committee that the amendment would have the effect of driving out industries that have invested large amounts of money in the district. Property owners declared the amendment would detract from the value of their lots. Walter Wright, supervisor of the airport, replied that the erection of six and eight story buildings would make the airport useless.

The Chicago chapter of the National Aeronautical association last night elected officers for the coming year as follows: Maj. Lafeton Whitney, president; George Vest, vice president; Frederick Greenebaum, treasurer, and E. W. Hogle, secretary.

Russell Boardman and John Polando last night described their flight from New York to Istanbul, Turkey, of last July, on which they covered 4,999 miles, a new world record for distance without refueling. They were the guests of the Air Corps Officers association.

107 VOYAGERS SAIL AIR WAVES IN U. S. S. AKRON

See Marvels of Navy's Giant of Skies.

the best vantage spot on the Akron. Today, from the rear deck, the slower Los Angeles could be seen chasing its slim shadow across the hills and valleys of half a dozen states. It wheeled and turned every time Lieut. Com. Charles E. Rosendahl, the skipper of the Akron, maneuvered his leviathan. Below, in city streets, autos stalled and pedestrians gaped at the aerial parade.

THE TRIBUNE sky voyager passed the morning in the upper fin of the Akron, a fin with an area equal to that of an average city lot. Each of the eight Maybach engine propellers was visible from the emergency control car in the fin. When one looked out it was like gazing along the underside of some prehistoric monster.

To reach the bottom of the fin it was necessary to walk the length—785 feet—of the ship, along a narrow ledge and then climb down four vertical ladders. The passage left one with shaky knees.

Luncheon in the Air.

There is a telephone at every post and the telephone in this post summoned your correspondent to lunch forward in the officers' mess soon after noon. It was the second meal served on the Akron during the day. The meals were piping hot, cooked by a Filipino chef on an electric stove.

After lunch the correspondent was invited forward into the control cabin to watch the wheels turn. Skipper "Rosy" Rosendahl was on the bridge. The executive officer, Lieutenant Commander H. V. Wiley, was checking on the navigation and Lieutenant Commander B. J. Rodgers, chief engineer, was in constant communication with each of the eight enlisted men stationed in the engine wells.

Admiral Moffet chatted with the joy riders in the control cabin. He was enthusiastic about the Akron. "We are going to fly her over the Pacific in the early spring, as far as Honolulu, anyway," said Admiral Moffett.

A Sturdy Craft.

"The Akron will go right along with the fleet, for she is a ship of the line.

"In February the Akron will be flown to her new home in Sunnydale, Cal.," continued the admiral. "She is such a sturdy dirigible that it is possible for her to cross the Rocky mountains in midwinter and remain outside her hangar until it is completed."

The acre of empty space in the midsection of the Akron will be filled with five new planes early next year, Admiral Moffett revealed on today's flight. He said the planes would be real "dirigible babies" in that they would have neither pontoons nor landing wheels. The belly of the Akron will be their nest and they will take off and return like homing pigeons.

ALWAYS "JUMPY"? MAYBE NERVES ARE POISONED!

Science knows today that nervous, "jumpy" people are in reality suffering from a particular type of nervous inflammation. Haven't you noticed that when you're feeling well—lively—wide-awake—those nervous spells pass off and don't bother you at all?

Unless there is some really serious, deep-seated disease, exhaustion, weakness, and lack of vitality are often due to serious body poisons. Not intestinal poisons only, but body poisons carried by the blood, and beyond the reach of cathartics and laxatives. These are the poisons which often lead to such dangerous common ailments as diabetes, arthritis, rheumatism, Bright's disease, and neuritis. They are also the "upsetters" that make you nervous and jumpy. That is why constant spells of "nerves" often are fore-runners of serious diseases.

Today thousands of people not only ward off minor illnesses caused by body poisons—they actually act to curb the dangerous ailments through a wonderful new discovery. This discovery is called Sleepy Water. Sleepy Water comes from only one place—a pair of springs in the Ozark Mountains. It contains an unusual compound of tasteless minerals which not only neutralize the acid body wastes in the blood stream, but draw them out of the blood and eject them from the body. No other water contains the same combination of minerals. No other treatment acts so gently, but thoroughly, to clean out the body poisons this way.

So surely does Sleepy Water act that you can test it and prove its action in less than thirty minutes. Write today and find out how to make this amazing test. Stop those jumpy nerves—stop the exhaustion and the low vitality which body poisons inflict on you. Tear out and mail the coupon now for facts about the 30 minute test. If you prefer, just call Kedzie 1228, and we'll tell you at once. Chewaukla Mineral Springs Co., Dept. P-10, 3330 West Jackson Blvd., Chicago.

$50,000 TO USE U. S. AIR LINES IN 1931, YOUNG SAYS

Official Dedicates New Passenger Terminal.

CLARENCE YOUNG.

Col. Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics, told representatives of the air lines operating out of Chicago yesterday that present indications from reports made to his office that that between 650,000 and 700,000 passengers will be carried over air lines in the United States during this year.

Col. Young made his prediction at a luncheon of the Chicago Air Lines Ticket Office association in the Palmer house, after he had officially opened the new $100,000 air passenger terminal at Chicago airport by purchasing the first ticket. The terminal, built by the city, will be occupied by an organization composed of all air lines operating out of the airport.

Vital Part of Transportation.

"Air transportation of passengers, mail and merchandise, has become an absolutely indispensable factor in the transportation system of the United States," said Col. Young. "In fact, air transportation has become more accepted by business than is generally realized, and its development has taken place almost entirely in the last few years. It was only two years ago that much effort began to be put forth to develop passenger air transportation.

"Air transportation has continually increased despite trade recessions. Every phase of it has increased over previous periods, except passenger transportation during the first six months of this year. But the gain in August over July was 9,000, and your lines are carrying three and four times as many passengers as they carried in 1928.

"We had hoped for at least 1,000,000 passengers to be carried this year, but present indications are that the figure will amount to between 650,000 to 700,000."

335,910 Carried in 1930.

Col. Young's prediction compares with the total of 335,910 passengers carried during 1930. He described the work of his branch in developing airways and in the inspection of air line operations and equipment. The inspection work, he said, is decidedly not in the nature of police investigation, inasmuch as before any reports reach his office the inspector confers with the operator in an attempt to have desired changes or improvements put into effect voluntarily.

He declared the air lines have all the federal regulation that is advisable or necessary at present, and that rate regulations such as the interstate commerce commission exercises over the railroads would be impossible as yet because the economics of air transportation are not as yet known well enough.

Col. Young was introduced by Col. L. H. Brittin, head of the organization, and vice president of Northwest Airways. Col. Brittin said Chicago airport now offers the traveling public 250 outbound seats a day. The lines operating from the airport outbound fly 44,370 miles a day, not counting connecting routes. He pointed out that the airlines have an investment of $2,200,000 in hangars and equipment and the city an investment of $800,000 in airport improvements, not including cost of the site.

IOWA EXECUTION DRAWS NEAR.

Dubuque, Ia., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—According to unofficial advices from Des Moines today, Gov. Dan Turner will take no action in the case of Joseph A. Altringer, 23, Dubuque, that his death sentence be commuted to life imprisonment. Altringer is scheduled to be hanged Friday for the murder of Emil Feller, 12, a year ago.

NEW TERMINAL AIRPORT STATION OPENED

CANNON OPENS FIGHT TO AVOID FEDERAL TRIAL

Posts Bond; Lawyer Files Demurrer.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Bishop James Cannon Jr. made his first court-room appearance today in the criminal case in which he stands indicted by a federal grand jury for willful failure to report campaign contributions received and handled by him.

He heard Justice James Proctor of the District of Columbia Supreme court set Nov. 20 for the argument of a demurrer filed by his attorneys. With him was his co-defendant, Miss Ada L. Burroughs, treasurer of the anti-Smith Democratic committee at the time the bishop was leading the "Hoovercrat" fight in parts of the south.

The two stand charged with conspiracy to evade the corrupt practices act, in that they failed to make the required report to the clerk of the house of the receipt and expenditure of all of the $45,200 received by Bishop Cannon, as the contribution of E. C. Jameson of New York to the campaign to defeat Al Smith.

Miss Burroughs also faces a possible contempt citation by the senate, whose committee on campaign expenditures she defied. She took the stand before the commmittee and refused to testify.

Just before Justice Procter's court convened Bishop Cannon and Miss Burroughs filed bonds in the amount of $1,000 each.

The demurrer filed with the court by Robert H. McNeill, Bishop Cannon's principal attorney, challenged the constitutionality of the corrupt practices act. It contended that presidential electors are state officers and that the corrupt practices act is unconstitutional in so far as it attempts to maintain jurisdiction over their election.

It has been the bishop's contention that because the funds were spent within the state it was not necessary to report campaign contributions received and spent by the Virginia anti-Smith Democratic committee, as distinguished from the headquarters committee, of which he also was chairman.

Physician Is Robbed of $1,200 on Way to Bank

When Dr. Max L. Busch, 2610 Rosemont avenue, emerged from the Edgewater hospital at 5700 North Ashland avenue yesterday, two gunmen climbed in the car with him. Dr. Busch, who is superintendent of the hospital, was on his way with $1,200 to a nearby bank. He surrendered the money. The gunmen threw him out and fled in his car at Summerdale and North Winchester avenues.

A MALE STORK TRIES TO HATCH ROCKS AS EGGS

Long Beach, Cal., Nov. 2.—(AP)—Bim, a male stork on the Palos Verdes estate of Frank A. Vanderlip, financier, has started an inspired but vain task.

In a pen adjoining Bim two cranes began housekeeping. The mother crane selected a site for her nest, laid a couple of eggs, and started incubation.

Bim looked on. Then he gathered two stones, about the size of geese eggs, rounded out a place in the turf, surrounded it with sticks, and placed his rocks.

He sits on the "eggs" constantly, leaving only for brief periods in search of food.

A POLICEMAN'S GROUCH SOLVED, SO HE GOES FREE

Evidence of the transition of Motorcycle Policeman Charles Marine, 31 years old, of 2454 North Le Claire avenue, from a cheerful and friendly person to a sullen and quarrelsome one, won him exoneration yesterday before Judge James F. Fardy in the jury court.

Marine was charged with assault with a deadly weapon, growing out of his invasion on Oct. 1 of the real estate office of Benjamin Coolidge at 5093 Monroe street, in which he threatened Coolidge with a gun.

In court yesterday Dr. H. Rex Amberson, 4384 Elston avenue, appeared for Policeman Marine. On Sept. 27, he said, Marine was thrown from his motorcycle while chasing a speeder. From then on, he said, Marine became quarrelsome with his family and friends, and brutal to dogs. Before the accident, Dr. Amberson said, Marine had been kind to dogs.

The physician produced an X-ray photograph showing that Marine had suffered a double skull fracture from the mishap, and this, he explained, had undoubtedly changed his entire nature, and prompted him to invade the real estate office. Judge Fardy dismissed the charge.

DRUG STORE HELD UP.

Three Negroes held up Isaac Fox yesterday in his drug store at 5301 Indiana avenue, taking $300, a quantity of postage stamps, and a number of money order blanks from him.

BOOK IN ANSWER TO NAN BRITTON RULED LIBELOUS

Extent of Damages Only Need Be Shown.

Toledo, O., Nov. 2.—(AP)—Nan Britton, who claims the late President Warren G. Harding was the father of her daughter, was libeled by attacks on her character in the book, "The Answer to the President's Daughter," Federal Judge John M. Killits ruled today.

JOHN M. KILLITS.

Although the judge did not give a formal verdict in Miss Britton's suit, for $50,000 damages against C. A. Klunk, Marion, O., hotel keeper, he said statements in the book which attacked Miss Britton were libelous per se, and added: "There is nothing left for the plaintiff to show except the extent of the publication."

Bars Public from Trial.

Judge Killits' ruling was given shortly after he issued an order barring newspaper reporters and all other spectators from the trial because he had heard many persons were attending the trial solely in the hope of hearing testimony of lasciviousness. Miss Britton's daughter, Elizabeth Ann, 12, was barred from the trial several days ago.

Miss Britton's own book, "The President's Daughter," claimed she had clandestine meetings with President Harding in the White House. The other book, written by Joseph Debarthe, now dead, said such meetings would have been impossible, and accused Miss Britton of degeneracy.

Judge Killits said degeneracy does not necessarily mean perversion, but that nevertheless the accusation was libelous. Klunk was sued on the ground that he helped circulate the volume.

Rules Her Book Not Libelous.

Because President Harding had been dead four years before Miss Britton's own book was published her volume was not libelous, the judge ruled. "One can't libel a dead man," he explained.

Concluding his statement, Judge Killits mentioned the number of witnesses from Marion, O., former home of Miss Britton as well as President Harding, and said he believed all except one of them who testified concerning Miss Britton's character had indicated they knew nothing about her character and had not heard anything about it until after her book appeared.

With the trial rapidly drawing to a close, Judge Killits continued to hold secret the contents and the nature of a deposition from a New York hotel, introduced as evidence in Miss Britton's behalf.

There was some doubt of the competency of the hotel deposition as evidence, the judge explained as his reason for withholding it from the jurors and the public. He said, however, it would be preserved in the records of the case for use in event of an appeal to a higher court.

Court recessed late this afternoon after an all day closed session. It became known, however, that Miss Britton did not go on the witness stand.

GRANDI WILL GIVE U. S. REAL CHANCE TO "PUT ON DOG"

Italy's Foreign Chief a Stickler for Etiquette.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Nov. 2.—When Dino Grandi, Mussolini's minister of foreign affairs, arrives in the United States about the middle of this month, returning Secretary of State Stimson's visit to Rome this summer, official and unofficial Washington will have the opportunity of seeing another type of Latin statesman.

DINO GRANDI. [Harris & Ewing Photo.]

Grandi will be found different from Pierre Laval, the French statesman, who when home, at least, cares little about his personal appearance, buys his suits ready made, and goes in for patent neckties which hook over the collar button.

Sports a Fiendish Beard.

The Italian minister, on the other hand, goes in for more dignity and form in a specific social sense. He is a careful dresser and usually wears the high silk hat and morning coat affected by British cabinet ministers as the uniform of statesmen. He wears a carefully cultivated beard, which gives him somewhat of a Mephistophelian appearance.

This beard, which is much copied by the youth of Rome, is said to have been adopted to give him a more elderly and judicial appearance, for Grandi is but 36 years of age. He has aristocratic manners, kisses hands with punctilio, which, together with a pleasing personality and adept conversational facility in many languages (he speaks English well), make him a popular figure in diplomatic and official society in Rome.

In London two years ago, during the disarmament conference, Grandi was popular socially and figured often at the parties given by Lady Astor. Once Grandi kissed Lady Astor's hand in the great hallway entrance to the house of commons, to the dismay of some of the Labor members, who thought some new wrinkle was being introduced into the ordinary composite of British manners.

Friend of U. S. Envoy.

And so, with Grandi and his suite, unless they choose to go Democratic when they reach the United States, the protocolar section of the state department may expect to find an ample field for their functioning.

Sig. Grandi is a close friend of the American ambassador to Rome and his wife—John W. and Mrs. Alice Garrett. He and Signora Grandi, who is one of the most beautiful women in official Roman society, are frequently guests at Mrs. Garrett's musicales and receptions.

Grandi has won most of his international reputation in the last two years; in fact, before the London disarmament conference he was practically unknown outside of Italy.

A Wartime Hero.

At London it was considered that Grandi had won his diplomatic spurs and after that he figured prominently in all the debates at Geneva and at the numerous conferences of European statesmen till now he has established himself as an outstanding personality.

Grandi was born in Bologna on June 4, 1895, and took a law degree in the University of Bologna. At 21 he was a lieutenant in the Italian army. He came out of the war with a captaincy and the Italian silver medal and bronze medal and three crosses for military valor.

LAVAL IS HOME; LAUNCHES MOVE TO LOWER DEBTS

Will Lay Scheme Before German Envoy Today.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 2.—Unruffled, unhurried, cigaret in his lips and his famous white tie knotted as carefully as ever, Premier Laval returned to France today from his visit to America. His first official act was to call at the Elysee palace and acquaint President Doumer with full details of his conversations with President Hoover.

Tomorrow morning Laval will make a similar report to the cabinet. He will reveal to them what, if any, secret understanding was reached at Washington and ask their approval of plans for European relief which he has already worked out. First is the problem of how to pull Germany out of her financial hole. Many believe this is the crux of the entire economic situation in Europe.

Will See German Envoy.

To this end the premier will see Leopold von Hoesch, German ambassador, shortly after the cabinet meeting. Von Hoesch arrived from Berlin this afternoon with a new German proposal relating both to reparations and to private credits.

Germany's new offer will be met by French counter proposals which will voluntarily offer a considerable reduction in Germany's reparations payments in return for certain guarantees. One feature of the French plan is to commercialise the reparations payments by issuing reparations bonds and eventually dropping the word "reparations," which the Germans hate so much, from the vocabulary of international finance.

Von Hoesch, it is reported, will stress the private credits now frozen in Germany and offer a scheme to mobilize them through the Reichsbank and repay them in 10 annuities of about $520,000,000. The size of the payments would necessitate a large scaling down of reparations, according to the Germans.

Plan General Conference.

These two theses will have to be ironed out between France and Germany, and when they are, a general debt and reparations conference will be held. Cannes is now mentioned as one of the likeliest sites, and the date probably will be early in December.

Laval was given an enthusiastic welcome home today. When the smiling, swarthy Auvergnat stepped off the train with his daughter, Josee, they were virtually mobbed. They were hustled along by gendarmes through a milling crowd that almost tore the clothes off the premier, but he lost none of his composure.

The premier has plenty of trouble ahead of him. Not only must he solve the toughest of political and economic problems in international relations, but he also has a knotty local political nut to crack when the chamber of deputies meets in less than two weeks. He faces sharp criticism of his policies from both the left and right. The former object to his American trip on the ground that it accomplished nothing, and the latter on the ground that it committed France too deeply.

Germany Finishes Debt Probe.

[Copyright: 1931: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, Nov. 2.—Germany's debts abroad, especially in America, will be used as an eloquent argument by the reich in its negotiations with France to obtain a reduction of reparations.

The Reichsbank and bankers' committee headed by Chancellor Bruening today completed an investigation of Germany's foreign debts and came to the conclusion that every cent that Germany makes through exports will be needed for at least 10 years to pay interest on the amortise short and long term loans granted Germany by foreign countries.

Germany points out that this year, which is far above the average, she has earned a surplus of $600,000,000 of foreign currency through sales of goods abroad. This sum was swallowed entirely by interest due on money borrowed abroad, including interest and amortization on Dawes plan loans and Young plan loans.

YEAR'S HOLIDAY ON ARMS OPENS, BUT IT'S PSYCHIC

GENEVA, Switzerland, Nov. 2.—(AP) Six more governments accepted today the invitation of the league of nations to take part in a one year armament holiday, beginning yesterday, but the league remained uncertain whether the holiday was in effect.

Reservations by almost all the larger states were the basis for the uncertainty. But in league quarters it was said the primary purpose of the suggested "gentlemen's agreement" had been to create a proper "psychology"—to show that the nations of the world were seriously inclined toward disarmament. This, it was asserted, has been accomplished.

Observers averred this psychological effect had resulted from the favorable responses by 36 of the 64 nations invited to the impending disarmament conference. There were increasing expressions that the one year truce might be realized.

The nations answering today were Great Britain, France, Poland, Portugal, Lithuania, and Estonia. The United States already had accepted.

Try Bankrupt on Charge of Failing to List Assets

Hugo L. Getz, former Chicago real estate man, was placed on trial before a jury in Federal Judge John P. Barnes' court yesterday on charges of concealing assets in bankruptcy. Getz is alleged to have filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States District court two years ago, listing liabilities of $450,000 and assets of $300. An investigation is said to have disclosed that he failed to schedule additional assets of nearly $250,000.

Bandits Try to Hold Up Cop, but Gun Routs Them

Detective James J. Quinn of the automobile detail was walking to his home at 6104 South Tallman avenue early this morning when two bandits, with guns drawn, stepped out of an areaway in Tallman avenue, near 60th street, and commanded him to raise his hands. Quinn sidestepped, drew his revolver, and fired four shots at them. The gunmen backed in time, however, to escape the bullets, and fled.

Child's Finger Is Bitten Off by Milk Wagon Horse

Charles Browning, 22 months old, 837 Wilson avenue, was left in his buggy in front of a grocery at Wilson and Hazel avenues yesterday afternoon while his mother was making purchases. A horse drawing a milk wagon approached. The child tried to pet it and the animal bit off the little finger of his right hand.

Hours of gargling wasted while bad breath lingers on

We've made a breath taking discovery for taking away bad breath (halitosis)

Don't waste dollars on antiseptics that must be used full strength. We've discovered a new antiseptic that, even when diluted with two parts of water, kills germs in 10 seconds.

MILLIONS of garglers wasting their time on weak and ineffective antiseptics. Stop gargling long enough to consider this: If you mix your mouth wash with water—as 3 out of 4 do—you must use one that kills germs when diluted. Then, and only then, have you the right to expect freedom from bad breath—security against offending others.

A radical new antiseptic discovery

Modern research laboratories have thrown away the old ideas on killing germs.

Now there's a revolutionary antiseptic on the market—Pepsodent Antiseptic. Its formula is a radical advance. It climaxes the best antiseptic study of 50 years. A germ-killing agent is employed unlike those now in use. It makes Pepsodent Antiseptic from 3 to 11 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics, depending on which one you use.

SORE THROAT COLDS

Pepsodent Antiseptic does double duty when fighting bad breath. For at the same time it combats colds and throat irritations. Remember P. A. is 3 to 11 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics . . . and it kills germs when diluted.

Kills germs in 10 seconds diluted with 2 parts of water

That is the startling news in this new discovery. Think! You can mix Pepsodent Antiseptic with 1 or even 2 parts of water, to suit your taste, and it still kills germs in less than 10 seconds. That's where most other leading mouth antiseptics fail. Yet in spite of all that power, Pepsodent Antiseptic is utterly safe when used full strength. What a weapon this new antiseptic is in fighting bad breath!

New security against bad breath (Halitosis*)

Pepsodent Antiseptic checks bad breath 1 to 2 hours longer! That's Pepsodent Antiseptic's record in fighting this widespread social offense due to unhygienic mouth conditions. Immediately after use, 95% of germs on mouth surfaces are destroyed. Two hours later the number of germs is still reduced by 80%. That is far longer acting than other leading mouth antiseptics. And remember when you use Pepsodent Antiseptic to check bad breath you are doing double duty by also fighting colds.

$3 worth for $1—regardless of size

To kill germs—most mouth antiseptics must be used full strength. So to mix such antiseptics with water is a waste of money. Contrariwise, Pepsodent Antiseptic can be mixed with twice its own volume of water. Thus Pepsodent Antiseptic goes 3 times as far—saves you $2 for every $1 you spend. Pepsodent Antiseptic comes in 3 sizes: 3 ounces for 25 cents—7 ounces for 50 cents—16 ounces for $1. The larger the size the more for your money.

Checking bad breath and combating colds are only two uses for this remarkable antiseptic. There are scores of other uses. Some are listed on this page. Learn to rely on Pepsodent Antiseptic whenever a safe, effective germ-killing agent is required. Keep it in the home. Take it with you when you travel.

Again we say: Quit being good to germs. They've laughed at you long enough. Play safe. Buy an antiseptic that really kills germs when diluted. Remember: You can fool yourself but you can't fool bad breath.

Ad B—4 colors—in Another Weekly

The ad above, appearing in 2 colors in Liberty, was read by more people than the same ad in 4 colors in Weekly A . . . but the Liberty ad cost 47% less!

If you saw these ads when they ran, you noticed only two differences:

1. Ad A ran in two colors—Ad B ran in four.
2. Ad A ran in LIBERTY (with its smaller-size page)—
   Ad B ran in Weekly A, with its larger "conventional" page size.

But if you could have been in homes where these ads had a chance to do their work, you would have found two more differences:

1. Ad A was seen by as many people per 1,000 circulation—and read by more . . .
2. And Ad A did its job at a cost of 47% less—on the bread-and-butter basis of readers actually reached!

Now those are strong statements. They call for proof. So go back with us to the beginning and get the whole story.

A Modern Publishing Formula

LIBERTY, as you know, was planned to be an advertising medium.

1. Planned around newsy, concise, swift-moving stories and features by artists and writers close to the pulse of our changing times.
2. Given whole family appeal, in recognition of women's interest in things outside the kitchen, and to provide men and women readership at the cost of one advertisement.
3. Laid out with every editorial feature complete — no buried run-overs—to put every advertisement next to reading matter.
4. Made compact in size, easy to handle and easy to see.
5. Built for 99% single-copy circulation, bought only when wanted.

When LIBERTY'S new owners took charge last April, they sought a way to prove that these ideas had worked. They called on Dr. George Gallup, professor of Advertising and Journalism at Northwestern University. They invited the A.N.A. to act as referee.

Dr. Gallup suggested this plan: Investigators would visit six cities: Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Springfield, Massachusetts; Greensboro, North Carolina; Columbus, Ohio; Topeka, Kansas, and Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

They would carry current copies of the four leading mass magazines.

They would push doorbells—15,000 of them.

And wherever they found a current copy of any one of these four publications—they would leaf through it, page by page, and check off what had been seen, and what had been read, both editorial and advertising matter.

Some Surprising Figures

They found, all told, over 3,000 homes where there were current copies of one or more of the four mass weeklies.

And after talks with members of those households they discovered this fact:

On the basis of equal circulation units—say 1,000 copies—the average page ad in LIBERTY is remembered as having been seen by

73% more women and 32% more men than the average page in Magazine A

153% more women and 85% more men than the average page in Magazine C

But that is not all. LIBERTY'S page costs—like commodity prices in general but unlike most advertising rates—have dropped 35% in the past 4 years. So in terms of persons seeing your advertisement (which is what you buy space to accomplish) every dollar you invest in LIBERTY at page rates buys the attention of:

168% more women and 107% more men than it does in Magazine A

77% more women and 54% more men than it does in Magazine B

188% more women and 109% more men than it does in Magazine C

What the Gallup Tests Prove

Now, with prices for your product falling, as well as unit sales . . .

With advertising appropriations coming out of profit margins, if they come at all . . .

With salesmen and dealers taking their cues from your courage and aggressiveness in keeping up your advertising . . .

It is important not merely to advertise, but to advertise efficiently!

It's important, not only to have good copy, but to put it where it has the best chance of working.

Dr. Gallup's work is proof that LIBERTY makes your advertising dollar reach 54% to 188% more people.

It's proof that your space buyer has something to say about the effectiveness of your advertising, as well as your copywriter.

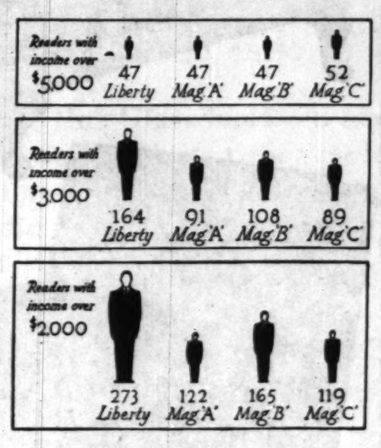
And it proves—in passing—just how far-sighted Coca-Cola was when it put LIBERTY on its list eight years ago—and kept it there.

Write for the Gallup Report

We have the complete story of Dr. Gallup's survey—a far more complete story than we can give here—ready to put before you.

It presents, for the first time, facts on reader interest in terms of what was actually seen and what was actually read. It has been broken down to give you the answer to almost any sort of a question you may have to ask about it. A copy will be delivered promptly by a LIBERTY representative to executives of advertisers and advertising agents. LIBERTY, 420 Lexington Ave., New York City.

Actual READERS-per-page-Advertisement that your dollar will buy:



EVERY copy of LIBERTY that goes into the "Over $5,000" group gets there because it's wanted there. . . . The 14% of LIBERTY'S circulation found in the "Over $5,000" group (where is only 9% of the population) is voluntarily bought on a copy-by-copy basis, week after week; it is a logical, natural placement. For, according to the six Gallup tests, approximately the same number of persons in this group remembered having seen the average advertising page in LIBERTY as in any of the other weeklies, which, largely through subscription mailings, place 20% to 30% of their circulations in these homes.

RAIDERS SEIZE GANG ARSENAL OF 64 PISTOLS

3 Seized; Counterfeiting Material Found.

thiel and his deputy, Lieut. Walter Storms, went directly to the 11th street court of Municipal Judge Donald McKinlay and obtained a search warrant for the entire first floor of the building. Then they went to the gun shop with a squad.

A systematic search ensued, starting with the exploration of a safe in the rear room. Inside were 53 revolvers, ranging from .22 to .45 caliber, and of all makes. The numbers had been obliterated by the use of a stamp die.

In a trunk were the counterfeit molds and the fake silver. An exhaustive rummaging of the room yielded the fuses and caps and a pair of goggles. Chief Schoemaker recalled that kidnapers generally carry these implements to blindfold their victims.

Liquor Is Also Seized.

Behind a broken down chair were two valises with pint and half pint bottles of inferior whisky. There, too, were bundles of gin labels. Underneath the bed was a pair of handcuffs.

In a second room the searchers found the third man, Peter Hoinig, 500 North Union, who said that he was the assistant gunsmith.

Hoinig said that he had only been working there a few weeks.

Two other men knocked at the door while the search was on. They gave their names as Sam Triolo, 5247 South Sawyer avenue, and Louis Grossi, 3712 South Wood street. Triolo said that he was a brother-in-law of Scaramuzzo and the latter gave the same address as his home. The visitors were arrested.

From Italy in 1913.

Belgivello said that he came from Italy in 1913, landing in Canada, where he lived until 1916 in Montreal. That year he came to Chicago, where he joined the American army. In 1920, he claimed, he was given citizenship, but could not remember the name of the judge administering the oath.

"Where did you get all these guns?" asked Schoemaker.

"They were brought in by customers," he explained.

"But how do you know to whom they belong?" insisted the chief. "The numbers are gone."

"I have a good memory," said Belgivello.

"Where did you get this deputy sheriff's star?"

"In 1930 I was taken to Sheriff Hoffman's office and sworn in. I was a deputy for a year."

Scaramuzzo said his gunsmith's shop had been at the Blue Island address for six years and was located at Polk and Halsted the preceding four years. He said that he never kept a record of firearms, being ignorant of the state law.

Chief Schoemaker said that ballistic experts would be asked to attempt to bring out the obliterated numbers on the pistols through the use of acid and wax. It is expected that Scaramuzzo and Belgivello would be prosecuted under the new law making it illegal to change numbers and which provides that possession of such a weapon shall be considered prima facie evidence that the possessor changed the numbers.

FEDERAL AGENTS START DRIVE TO DEPORT MANGANO

Charge He's Citizen Under False Pretenses.

Deportation proceedings were started yesterday against Dago Mangano, public enemy No. 1, one of Al Capone's lieutenants. Immigration authorities paused in their activities against 42 Chinese arrested in raids in Chinatown Sunday afternoon and with the deportation of 50 European aliens who were put aboard a train last night to help Chief of Detectives Schoemaker rid Chicago of gangsters.

Mangano was taken into custody by federal officials when he appeared before Judge John Prystalski yesterday morning on a writ of habeas corpus. Government agents showed the court their authority from Washington to seize Mangano under a warrant issued by the department of labor.

Charge Naturalization Fraud.

The basis of the deportation proceedings, according to the federal agents, is that Mangano was 1 year old when his parents brought him to this country from Italy, and that he obtained his naturalization papers in 1915 through having concealed the fact he had been convicted of pandering and sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson said he was investigating to see if an indictment for criminal perjury may be obtained as a result of Mangano's answers in court when he was naturalized. Upon a conviction of this charge his deportation would be almost certain, Mr. Johnson said, although there is a probability that he can be sent back to Italy because of the pandering conviction.

Mangano was released by the immigration authorities on a bond of $2,500.

Michael [Bon Bon] Allegretti, cellmate of Mangano and cousin of Al Capone, was discharged in court yesterday when the police said they had no evidence against him except his reputation as a brothel keeper.

Aurelia Genchi, 36 years old, 730 Miller street, described as a gunman recently imported here by Capone and Mangano, was held without bail for deportation by orders of Murray W. Garsson, special assistant secretary of labor.

As a result of the raids in Chinatown Sunday afternoon, when 500 Chinese were questioned in the drive against aliens, Koliang Yih, consul general for China in Chicago, sent a protest to the Chinese legation in Washington. He complained of the manner in which the raids were conducted and the wholesale arrests.

The forty-two Chinese held after the raids were over are to be arraigned before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker.

Feet tire and ache?

Tired, aching feet, rheumatic-like foot and leg pains, corns, callouses, bunions, sore heels, etc.—are symptoms of foot arch weakness.

These conditions never correct themselves, and the longer they are neglected the more serious they become.

Dr. Scholl's Scientific Methods eliminate all guess-work. The exact nature and extent of your foot trouble is determined scientifically—hence accurately—right over your stockinged feet—by

Highly Trained Experts

The Dr. Scholl Appliance or Remedy you need is demonstrated on your own feet to show you how quickly it gives you relief. A careful analysis of your foot in relation to shoe styles and sizes is also made, and advice given as to proper shoes for your feet.

For this service there is neither charge nor obligation. The cost of the methods we advise is nominal. See us about your feet without delay.

TO PHYSICIANS

BRITAIN DEMANDS INDIANS SETTLE QUARREL AT ONCE

Communal Leaders Call on MacDonald.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Tribune Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Prime Minister MacDonald today devoted himself, in intervals between cabinet making activities, to delivering ultimatums to the Indian delegates to the round table conference on questions of self-government for India. One of his first callers at 10 Downing street this morning was Agha Khan, head of India's Moslems. Mr. MacDonald laid down the law to him, stressing the necessity of an immediate agreement among the quarreling religious factions.

AGA KHAN.

The next visitor was Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru, leader of the Hindu liberals, with whom MacDonald has established friendly relations. Sir Tej declared he is willing to meet the Moslems half way, but that he was hampered by Mahatma Gandhi, Nationalist leader, who remains steadfast in his arguments.

Gandhi to Call Today.

The "holy man" did not call on the prime minister today because it was his day of silence. When Gandhi visits Mr. MacDonald tomorrow he will be told he has just one week to make up his mind, because the prime minister will go to Lossiemouth, Scotland, tomorrow afternoon after the opening of parliament for a week's rest, which has been ordered by his doctors, before participating in the formal opening, Tuesday, Nov. 10. Indian delegates, even those most closely associated with Gandhi in the past, are commencing to find fault with the Mahatma's leadership at the conference. One of them even went so far as to declare that it was a great mistake ever to have allowed Gandhi to come to England.

The round table is now marking time. Today was devoted to another discussion of the draft report of the proposed constitution for India issued by the federal structures committee on Saturday. These conversations will continue until MacDonald's return next week when it is believed the parley's conclusion will be written one way or the other.

Cabinet Ready Today.

Mr. MacDonald, devoting the rest of the day to cabinetmaking, interviewed practically all the political leaders. He stated he expected to have the leading cabinet posts selected in time for announcement before he leaves London tomorrow.

He had hoped to fly to Lossiemouth, but decided to take a night train when he discovered he would not be able to complete his work in time. He has appealed to the press and public to respect his privacy and allow him a real rest while at his Scottish retreat.

8 ROBBERS HOLD UP 18 IN BANK; FLEE WITH $4,000

Eight bandits, three of them carrying submachine guns, invaded and robbed the Empire Trust and Savings bank at 2256 North Crawford avenue of $4,000 yesterday. Twelve customers and six employés were forced to lie prone while the robbery was in progress.

The robbers had filled canvas bags with cash from the tellers' cages, ran from the bank, climbed into a large maroon colored car and sped away west in School street. The car was traced through the license numbers to W. O. Darrah, 901 North Oak Park avenue, who had reported it stolen from in front of his house on Saturday night.

Ralph Copperschmidt, president of the bank, said the loss was fully covered by insurance.

2 Die, 100 Hurt as Panic Seizes 2,000 in Church

PALERMO, Sicily, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Two persons were killed and 100 injured in a panic in the Church of San Domenico today. The cause of the panic, in which 2,000 persons choked the church exits, had not been determined by the authorities tonight.

CLERK IN A WIG TO SET COMMONS IN MOTION TODAY

Traditional Rites Will Open House.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—(AP)—The pointing finger of the bewigged chief clerk of the house of commons will be the signal tomorrow for a parliamentary tradition that will set in motion the enormous national government machine constructed by the British electors Oct. 27.

Amid complete silence the clerk will rise from his seat and solemnly point to Sir George Courthope, Conservative, who has sat in commons 25 years.

Sir George will rise and propose that Edward Algernon Fitzroy, speaker of the last parliament, should hold the same office in this one. When he sits down, the clerk will point again—this time at Will Thorne, Labor member, who will second the proposal.

Lead Speaker to Chair.

This over, Sir George and Mr. Thorne will walk up to Capt. Fitzroy, who will be sitting somewhere on the Conservative back benches as a humble and ordinary member, and, taking him by the arms, they will urge him gently in the direction of the speaker's chair.

Parliamentary etiquette demands that Capt. Fitzroy should make a show of resistance, as if he were unwilling to accept the great honor thrust upon him. Some speakers have put up a good fight all the way to the speaker's chair.

Even when Mr. Fitzroy reaches the chair tomorrow, he will not immediately sit in it, but, speaking from the dais, will make a brief address expressing his unworthiness for such high office. Encouraged, however, by reassuring exclamations from the members, he finally will allow his "reluctance" to be overcome.

561 for the Government.

Then he will sit in the chair, the mace will be brought from under the table, and the new parliament will be officially constituted.

Only formalities will occupy the members during the first sitting. The speech from the throne will be read on next Tuesday, when work will get under way.

Final results from the general election show that 554 members will be lined up with the government, and the opposition will total 61. The last two returns gave places to Miss Eleanor Rathbone, Independent, and Sir Reginald Craddock, Conservative, representing the English combined universities. Sir William Jowitt, National Labor attorney general, lost one of the seats, but it is expected he will be accommidated with one elsewhere before long.

Kidnaped and Beaten; Left Behind Hospital

La Roy A. Veley, 28 years old, 656 Belden avenue, was found unconscious yesterday morning in the yard behind the Evanston hospital. He said that he had been kidnaped by three men in front of the Edgewater Presbyterian church, 1020 Bryn Mawr avenue, late Sunday night. After blindfolding him they kicked him and took him for a ride that lasted several hours. No effort was made to rob him.

AL CAPONE'S $10 TO PANHANDLER PUTS HIM IN JAIL

Al Capone as a philanthropist was shown the error of his ways yesterday when William Dawson, his former cellmate at the county jail, returned. Dawson is addicted to a drink called "smoke" by the members of his panhandling profession, and $10, which is a staggering sum for one of them to get hold of at once, will buy "smoke" in quantities.

When Capone was locked up in the jail ten days ago Dawson was awaiting trial on charges of being drunk and disorderly. Capone gave him a $10 bill and Dawson was released the next day without a fine.

Sunday night Dawson was sleeping on the steps of the Free Methodist church in Evanston. Evanston police pronounced him drunk and when arraigned for the second time before Justice of the Peace James Corcoran yesterday he was sentenced to twenty days in jail.

GOOD WEATHER TILL CHRISTMAS, PROPHET SAYS

Good weather until Christmas was promised for the Chicago area yesterday. The man who made the prophesy is John F. Barrett of River Forest, veteran Board of Trade member who retired from business in August.

Mr. Barrett, whose forecast last winter worked out to the discomfiture of friends who bet against him, said that he was taking his cue from the winds this fall. "The winds have been from the south," said Mr. Barrett, "and the weather will be comparatively warm and comfortable until Christmas."

Further than Christmas, Mr. Barrett would not say, but he indicated that along toward the first of the year he will be able to predict the nature of this winter's weather. Last winter Mr. Barrett won $1,250 on weather bets, his wager being that there would be no zero weather after Dec. 20.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

DEMOCRATIC OPPORTUNITY.

Senator Fess of Ohio has made it known that he probably will remain at the head of the Republican national committee until the convention is held next June. That and many other evidences indicate just about what the Republican party proposes to do, with what it will hold, to what it will point with pride and what it will view with alarm. These indications are that it will be dry, clerical, and pacifist, more internationalist than it has been in the past, and less occupied with American interests. It will have international parleys to indorse, with peace pacts, disarmament treaties, naval reductions, defense cuts, and an experiment with the league of nations.

These are probabilities at present revealed by the tendencies of the party leadership in organization and in government. They should make fairly clear what a party in opposition would do. The Republican management is heading back to Mr. Wilson in international affairs and to Mr. Bryan in domestic policies. Mr. Wilson was not a dry fundamentalist, but Mr. Bryan was the complete political cleric without ordination. Very little of their great Republican opponent, Roosevelt, will be found in the Republican party if it keeps its present direction. His peculiar preoccupation with American interests and his responsibility to trusteeship as head of the nation will not be conspicuous in Republican commitments if present signs are worth anything.

All this would seem to suggest to the Democrats that they look for a candidate on the other side of the fence. It would not be wholly out of their tradition. Grover Cleveland was a robust American, and, inasmuch as the Wilson-Bryan traditions have been so completely absorbed into the Republican management, the Democratic party to make an opposition and not a supporting chorus will have to find a man whom Mr. Bryan would not have liked.

In one respect this ought to be congenial to the party. It could fall back on its traditional respect for the states as competent governmental units within their reserved powers and lead off for a deflation of the overgrown federal government and its excessive taxation for extragovernmental activities. Inasmuch as the Republicans have carried off the international show it is useless for the Democrats to join that ballyhoo. A confession of error in these times would be accepted. A sound policy of Americanism would grace any party and be a credit to any candidate. Neither party nor candidate will need apologize for any doctrines of the past if it joins itself to good ones for the future.

If the Democrats with their southern dry wing could go constitutional on the liquor question with Al Smith they ought to be able to revive the whole American idea of country first, national interest, competent states, adult citizens, local control, and individual responsibility. Therein is the opportunity of the Democrats if they can find the man and are willing to use him with a platform which will breathe life again into the old pattern of the United States and the form of the American citizen.

There are many Americans who would rejoice to see both the pattern and the form showing some signs of life again. It's a good guess that these Americans constitute a majority of the voters in the country. And a majority is what the Democratic party needs.

EDISON AND CAPONE.

Thomas A. Edison died after a lingering illness toward dawn of Sunday, Oct. 18. His physician had made no secret of the fact that hope of prolonging life for more than a few days had been abandoned. The papers of Monday morning, Oct. 12, had quoted the physicians to that effect, and day by day the message had been repeated. The public was fully prepared for the event when it took place.

On the night that Edison died a jury was debating the guilt of Alphonse Capone. He had become the symbol throughout the world of the gangster who was able successfully to defy the law. His reputation as a law violator had grown to prodigious proportions through the years, but he had successfully defied any efforts of the state of Illinois and Cook county to punish him. That night no one knew and millions wondered whether Capone was to be immune from punishment by the United States government. Interest in the outcome of the prosecution was indicated by hundreds of telephoned inquiries.

THE TRIBUNE of Sunday, Oct. 18, gave its principal headline to the conviction of the gangster. Beneath the eight column streamer was another headline, stretching across five columns, reporting the death of Edison. A number of readers have written to the editor protesting against what is regarded by them as a slur upon the memory of the great inventor. Some have said that the arrangement of the news constituted a glorification of the gangster by placing him above the great benefactor of mankind.

The authors of these letters assume that the front page is either a hall of fame wherein the greater man has the taller pedestal, or else that it is to be regarded as a chapter in a history textbook in which the most important event of the day in the life of the human race is given the chapter heading. The fact is that the moral eminence of the actors in the news and the importance of events as they may strike historians fifty or a hundred years hence are only two of numerous elements which control the selection of the streamer headline. That headline is intended to call the attention of men and women now living to the item in the day's news which seems for one reason or another to be of greatest interest to the largest number of them. More frequently than not the headline deals with things and persons of historical significance because news concerning an eminent man is likely to be of wider interest than news concerning a nincompoop or a blackguard; and news about crucial events is likely to be of wider interest than an account of an ephemeral happening. But not always. A great many factors such as suspense and unexpectedness enter into the calculation.

Certainly those readers who regarded the news of Capone's conviction as glorification of the gangster would have some difficulty in proving their case. If a cure for cancer were to be discovered that fact would be heralded on every front page in the land, but hardly with a view to glorifying the disease. If heralding the conviction of gangsters is their glorification, it is a little difficult to figure out how gangsters can be vilified.

PAUPERIZING THE FARMER.

Farmers in the northwest who were encouraged to borrow money from the government to buy seed last spring are not paying back what they owe. About $4,000,000 was due on Sept. 30, but only $147,000 had been repaid, according to the accounting of Oct. 2. This is another item to add to the long record of repudiated loans to farmers from the federal treasury. The government has failed to recover the money advanced for many of its reclamation projects, and if the accounts of the farm board are made public it seems probable that many of its advances, too, would be disclosed as gifts rather than loans.

Professional farm relievers are forever talking in terms of loans. Their cure for many of the farmer's misfortunes is to increase his debts and his interest payments, thereby further compromising his independence. They have encouraged farmers to borrow, and when they have said "borrow" the eyebrows have been lifted and the tongue has been in the northeast corner of the cheek. The result has been that the marginal farmers who cannot earn a living farming have been kept in business by government dole and in consequence the campaigns which have been waged for reduction of surpluses have failed.

There is no justification in economics for many of these loans which the federal treasury has made; and certainly there is no justification for them in morals. A government which teaches its citizens to borrow in excess of their probable means of repayment and to welsh on the debt if they have the means of repayment is guilty of debasing its citizenship. It would do better to give the money outright. That might pauperize the recipients of the dole, but at least it would not teach them that cheating is a virtue.

Editorials of the Day

SAFETY IN THE AIR.
[Detroit Free Press.]

A noticeable reduction in the number of fatal accidents in the air is reported by the aeronautics branch of the department of commerce for the first six months of the year. The total number of such accidents in miscellaneous flying in the first half of 1931 was 109, as compared with 141 during the corresponding period last year. The number of lives lost in accidents in 1931 was 163, a reduction of 75 from the 1930 casualty list. As less flying has been done this year than last, a truer measure may be found in the number of miles flown for each accident. The rate for the first six months of 1930 was 367,143 miles of miscellaneous flying for every fatal accident; for the first six months of 1931, 397,088 miles, an increase of nearly 37,000 miles per accident.

The largest percentage of accidents, according to the aeronautic branch's report, was incurred in pleasure flying, with commercial flying second on the list, student instruction third and experimental flying fourth and last. Air acrobatics, or stunt flying, was responsible for 39 of the 109 fatal accidents that occurred between Jan. 1 and June 30 this year and for 55 of the 163 lives lost in them. The idea that an accident to an airplane in flight means sure death for all aboard it is exploded by the fact that of 1,755 persons involved in the accidents reported for this year, 1,253 escaped injury altogether and 216 more suffered only minor injuries.

Air travel is constantly becoming safer, as better machines are turned out, airways are better marked and weather conditions more efficiently reported, and as greater attention is paid to the training of commercial pilots. Slightly more than 53 per cent of the flying accidents reported to June 30 this year were due to personnel errors, 19.37 per cent to power plant failure and only 11.75 to airplane failure. The human equation at the controls appears still to be the weakest joint in the armor of safety in the air. As this is mended, air travel will continue to increase in security and popularity.

CAPONE'S CONVICTION.
[The Sun, Baltimore.]

Until the conviction of "Scarface Al" Capone has been sustained on the inevitable appeal, it cannot be said that the government has demonstrated conclusively its ability to deal with gentry of this ilk. But the verdict returned by the jury in the Chicago federal court serves to bring the demonstration one step nearer.

As the indictments of Capone broke down the prevailing impression that no evidence could be secured against the chief operators of metropolitan gangdom, so the conviction at the hands of a jury serves to dissipate the myth that juries would be afraid to condemn men with such great reputations for vindictiveness. It was this myth which seemed to predispose the United States attorney at Chicago to accept a plea of guilty from Capone and give the promise of a comparatively light prison sentence in return. Judge Wilkerson held out against any compact of this character, and the event has more than justified his stand.

If other cities are really desirous of ridding themselves of gangsters, and if Chicago is desirous of prosecuting to a conclusion the work which the federal government has begun in the Capone case, the task will be easier because of the success which has so far attended this particular legal offensive. The procedure at Chicago has proved that legal weapons are available for use against gangsters as against other criminals. The next year ought to show whether the cities have the will to use them.

SANITATION OF PARKED CARS.

WHEN the Shriners held their convention in Toronto the local committee estimated that something more than 10,000 people would use parked Pullman cars as hotels during their stay of about one week in the city. This committee first took up with the railroads the matter of parking space for the required number of cars.

The need was for sidetracks on which the cars might stand unmoved for one week at points accessible to the street without an undue number of thoroughfare tracks that had to be negotiated. There must be facilities for feeding the considerable number of people, as well as sleeping places, hot and cold water, toilet facilities, including baths, and garbage and allied services. The railroads set aside two parking yards reasonably accessible, and built a few temporary service buildings.

These arrangements having been agreed on, the next point to be worked out was the sanitary arrangements. This called for consultations with the health departments, as well as the railroads. The objectives were: To prevent the yards from becoming offensive, to prevent the breeding of flies, to avoid soil pollution, and to be certain no local condition contributed to the spread of typhoid or any other communicable disease.

Sleeping cars were used for sleeping purposes, and dining cars as restaurants. The toilets of sleepers were provided with the type of arrangement used on occupied sleeping cars standing for several hours in stations. Arrangements were made to empty the night soil into convenient sewers through manholes several times daily. Garbage cans were set at dining cars. An organized service collected the garbage daily and carried it to the city plant. Rubbish cans were located near sleeping cars and at other convenient points. The arrangements provided for collecting this rubbish and disposing of it at the city plants.

The water supply was obtained from the city mains. Ice was stored in temporary ice houses located in the parking area. As the convention was held in the summer and the station heating plant was not in operation, engines were spotted in the parking yards and their boilers supplied the needed hot water and steam.

Shower baths were installed in temporary houses built nearby. And, finally, a personal laundry service was organized. In order to make the parked cars accessible, the roads built some walks that would not become muddy if it rained.

The convention was held, the people were comfortable, flies were not a nuisance, no odors were complained of, the yards were clean, and no sickness resulted. If this plan were more generally used, conventions of large size—even great political conventions—could be held in places with no hotel facilities.

DEFORMITY OF TOES.

A Reader writes: What is the meaning of hammer toe and kyphosis?

REPLY.

Hammer toe is a deformity of the toe. It is an extreme curving, which results from pressure and bony displacement.

Kyphosis is a posterior curvature of the spine—hunchback.

PLUCKING THE EYEBROWS.

O. J. writes: Will you give your opinion on the plucking of eyebrows so as to arch them?

REPLY.

I don't think I have an opinion. Probably the ladies who indulge in time will become shaggybrowed old women resembling, as to eyebrows, Carlyle and Darwin. No harm should be apparent then. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.

CITY CARPENTERS.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—[Friend of the People.]—I would like to take the civil service examination for a carpenter job in the city schools. Could you tell me when and where they are held? Is it necessary to file an application in advance? Any information you can give me will be appreciated. H. L. E.

At this writing no examination is scheduled for the position of carpenter, but we have placed the name of the writer on our mailing list for notification of same when called. JAMES S. OSBORNE, Secy., Civil Service Commission.

"ALIMONY ROW."

Chicago, Oct. 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Why is it some men pay $3 a week alimony when they earn $35 per week, others pay $12 per week for two children with earnings of $50 to $60 a week, others $25 to $35 for one or more children and do not have a steady income? 2. There are some who, when subpoenaed to court, were financially unable to employ an attorney. Nevertheless, they were required to bear the complainant's costly attorney's fees. 3. In addition to a six months' jail sentence it is understood that a writ of ne exeat can be obtained by complainant and put into force, thus making the imprisonment indefinite if the defendant is unable to secure bond. 4. Is it right, in accordance with the laws of humanity, for judicial powers to convict and imprison with reckless abandon in such alimony cases, depriving the defendant of the opportunity of trying to seek employment that he may possibly contribute something to the support of the family in addition to trying to pay up debts contracted and caused by this trouble? We may emphasize the fact that this injustice as well as the jail reputation and the environments are anything but beneficial to the unfortunate as well as his family and stimulates a harder feeling. ALIMONY ROW.

1. The determination of the amount that the husband should pay depends on many factors additional to ones which you mentioned. The family standard of living would be one factor, the position of the children in school another.

2. We agree that it is unfortunate to settle court expenses upon an already inadequate family income.

3. The propriety of a ne exeat writ would depend upon whether the defendant has threatened to leave the jurisdiction.

4. Of course it is not right to imprison with reckless abandon. We believe that in most cases there are two sides of the question. You have heard only the man's side, and the court presumably has felt that the woman's side was more plausible or convincing.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

HIZZONER MAYOR CERMAK tells 'em down in New York that the Unterrified Democracy of Illinois demands a dripping wet candidate in the national handicap next year. But that isn't the way of American politics at all. What the shrewd party managers of both parties are looking for is somebody who will look toasted dry on one side and dripping wet on the other.

—:—

ONLY FIVE CONGRESSMEN to be elected today throughout the whole country, but, oh, the tense interest and the bated breath and that sort of thing over the result. Because congress is now just about fifty-fifty and a few more votes one way or the other is going to make a whale of a difference. And also it's going to show whether or not everybody is climbing into the Democratic band wagon as claimed. Wheat went up a little yesterday; that ought to make the election go Republican. But the stock market went down yesterday; that's a victory for the Democrats. And the American voter usually doesn't remember farther back than yesterday. So we can't say at this writing who's going to win.

WORDS TO A WESTERN TUNE.

(Prescott Impression.)

The song of stinging rawhide,
The whirl of writhing rope;
The mesas dim and wide,
Where the laughing coyotes lope.

The grace of yuccas swinging,
A dawn wind down the trail;
And, faint, a night herd singing,
On the crest of a western tale.

The sound of bullets whining,
Commingled dust and sweat,
A desert moon that's shining,
And gold for a gambling debt.

The creak of saddle leather,
The desert sun at noon;
A man and maid together—
Words to a western tune.

LOOK, LOOK! Here comes a brand new presidential boom! And it's indeed a shock and a surprise, because it's a Republican boom. All the booms we've heard of before have been those of the Jefferson boys. But here comes a boom with G. O. P. branded on the side. And look who's under it. Ah, he hasn't himself said in so many words that he wants the Republican nomination, but there he is right under that boom. Come out from under there, Hiram Johnson. Ah, you little rascal, we see you under that boom. Well, go to it, senator. Good luck and happy landings!

AND SPEAKING OF BOOMS, they're starting one for Gen. Smedley Butler. And at that Smedley would be a most picturesque and spectacular figure in the White House. But, dear friends, remember the chief arguments advanced during the last presidential campaign. Think of the foreign diplomats—oh, we must think of the foreign diplomats with their silk hats and their purple spats, to say nothing of their long black coats and their striped trousers and their patent leather shoes. Suppose if Smedley Butler were elected President he should say—well, you know, the naughty, naughty word d—n right out loud in the presence of a foreign diplomat. Oh, my dear! How perfectly dreadful! No, not Smedley. Oh, dear, no! We must be nice, dearies; we must be nice! The hell with everything else in this country—think of our foreign diplomats!

But pardon us if we seize this opportunity of pointing a moral, be sure you get your Linebook of 1931 before the edition is likewise exhausted. How many people say "I was walking around the block and I was robbed by a footpad?"' Listen to this published in THE TRIBUNE Oct. 28: 'She was beaten unconscious by a footpad as she alighted from a Jackson boulevard bus at Western avenue.' Now, doesn't that prove that the word 'footpad' is used in our American speech, or does it merely show the wide influence of the American Bible?" We cannot admit that "footpad" is popularly employed in America. And we are absolutely certain that the reporter didn't get the word out of the American Bible, the King James Bible, or any other kind of Bible. We know reporters. We think he slipped the word into his story just to make a bum out of us.

WATCHING THE FORECAST FOR 1932

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 3, 1915.

NEW YORK.—Suffrage for women was badly defeated in New York, Massachusetts, and Pennsylvania. The majority against the proposition in New York was large, some estimates placing it as high as 200,000. Massachusetts also was emphatic in its declination to allow its women to vote, beating the proposition by nearly 2 to 1. Pennsylvania administered the most stinging defeat to the women. While the count has not been completed, the antis declare that the proposition was beaten by close to 200,000.

BOSTON, Mass.—Samuel W. McCall, Republican, has been elected governor, defeating Gov. David I. Walsh, Democrat, by a plurality of 6,373. The remainder of the Republican state ticket was elected and the Republicans made a net gain of twelve seats in the lower branch of the legislature.

COLUMBUS, O.—For the second time in two years Ohio voters rejected a state-wide prohibition amendment to the constitution by a majority that may reach 40,000.

DOUGLAS, Ariz.—With salvos of artillery beginning shortly after 5 o'clock this evening Villa apparently began preparing for his fifth assault on the Carranza stronghold of Agua Prieta. Ammunition and reinforcements for the Villa army were reported coming through Gallardo pass and Gen. Villa apparently succeeded in getting provisions and water for his thirsty and half starved men.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 3, 1901.

CHICAGO.—Robert E. Burke, former city oil inspector and Democratic politician, was again indicted by the Cook county grand jury. The indictment charges him and Max Praeger, his chief deputy, with conspiracy to defraud the city in the conduct of his office.

NEW YORK.—Edward S. Stokes, former speculator and hotel man, who killed James Fisk, the financier, thirty years ago, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Mary McNutt, at the age of 60. It was at the height of the Tweed ring days when James Fisk Jr., senior partner of the Wall street firm of Fisk, Gould & Martin, was in the glory of his career. Fisk's home was an Aladdin's palace, peopled with ballet houris and given over to rollicking suppers and general riotous living. The head of his household was Helen Josephine Lawler-Mansfield. His wife lived elsewhere. Stokes and Fisk met in January, 1864, and became fast friends. Stokes began to make money rapidly. Then Stokes and the woman who presided over Fisk's home betrayed Fisk, who started a campaign of revenge. Stokes was indicted on a charge of embezzlement and the woman retaliated by turning over to Stokes letters said to compromise Fisk with the Tweed ring. Stokes shot Fisk to death in the Grand Central hotel. He was convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged in 1873. On a new trial he was again convicted and on a third trial was found guilty of murder in the second degree. He served four years in Sing Sing, where his conduct was exemplary.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 3, 1881.

NEW YORK.—Mails out of New York for the west will be greatly facilitated by arrangements completed by Postmaster General James. The fast Chicago express over the New York Central will take the mail to Chicago in less than twenty-six hours.

NEW YORK.—Dr. Benjamin Franklin Bache, famous chemist and great-grandson of Benjamin Franklin, died at his home in Brooklyn at the age of 80. He was an officer in the United States navy for nearly sixty years.

CHICAGO.—Miss Hattie C. Chase, daughter of Mrs. C. H. Clark, 519 Dearborn avenue, and J. William Pope, son of Charles Pope, the well known maltster, were married at the Clark home by the Rev. Dr. Ryder of St. Paul's Universalist church. Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Eichold celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding at Standard hall.

A STATE INCOME TAX.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—A state income tax in Illinois, in my opinion, would be the fairest method of taxation, provided that real estate and personal property taxation were discontinued. It is not fair to penalize a man who is industrious and saves enough to build a home for himself and family by taxing these savings repeatedly year after year. His fellow worker who squanders his earnings is not taxed and his employer who lives in furnished apartment hotels is also untaxable. Fair taxation should be based on earnings and not on what a man can save out of his income.

VINCENT B. MURPHY.

TAX ANTICIPATIONS.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Unless the power to sell tax anticipation warrants is taken away from Chicago, all that the legislature can do to help matters will give only temporary relief. This city has lost enough by the sale of such warrants in the last few years, in interest and otherwise, to pull it out of its present financial bog. If it had not had that power it would have been compelled to get along on its income, but as long as future revenue can be drawn upon and sold it will be done, and the money squandered as in the last few years.

W. M. WILKINSON.

TAXING AUTOS.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Listed as an outstanding recommendation in the report of Gov. Emmerson's revenue conference is one which reads: "A law requiring applicant for state automobile license to submit receipt showing personal property tax on car has been paid or affidavit that it has been scheduled for taxation."

I hope the motor clubs, auto dealers and small car owners do all in their power to kill this recommendation, if possible. Has not the auto contributed its share and more already, what with state tax, county tax and gas tax? Then there is the family who has a small car which is sorely needed to get to out of the way places to work. Why should such a family be taxed more for the use of their car when more often than not there is not enough of anything else to list as personal property tax?

A DUAL PERSONALITY.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—In today's TRIBUNE I note your review of Frederick Palmer's story of Newton Baker's part in the late war, and as I also read your recent editorial in which you stated, in effect, that Baker was a complete washout as a war secretary, I am wondering whether you would have your readers believe your editorial or your book review, which makes Baker out a man of rare judgment and ability, far beyond anything that his most enthusiastic partisans have ever contended? MELVIN J. FOYER.

UNNECESSARY SIGNS.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—The writer had occasion to pass a park at the corner of Diversey and Avers avenues last week and was surprised to find that four signs had been erected there in the last month, one on each corner of the park announcing that that was Roosevelt park. That park has been there for many years and did not need signs before and now, all of a sudden, it needs signs. At little farther on is Mozart park, at the corner of Armitage and Avers avenues. They also have blossomed out with four new signs announcing the name of the park; two of these signs face Armitage avenue, not more than 150 feet apart.

All of these signs must cost from $50 to $200 apiece. The park commissioners of both these parks seem to think that the taxpayers are not paying enough taxes and consequently have to add on another load. What in the world is the idea? A. C. SMITH.

WHOOPEE.

Topeka, Kas., Oct. 30.—Let's have a day appointed in the near future for one grand nation-wide holiday and put some money out in circulation. It will be each person's duty (unless employed, of course) to spend some money, say from $1 to $5, for something not absolutely necessary. You can think of a thousand things to buy that will add to your enjoyment and also help to stimulate business. Or you could give the money to a fund for the unemployed. Anyhow, spend some money on this day and start money circulating, and at the same time we can all have a great time and make lots of whoopee.

Strike up the band! Get out the flags and tin toot horns and let's go! I have $5 to blow in and I have been unemployed for five years. We have had gloom enough. W. M. NELSON.

RIPE ON THE BOUGH.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—The numerous stock brokerage houses here should provide a heavier source of revenue to the city. They are engaged in a business devoid of the usual depreciation of merchandise prices, their revenue being derived on a strict percentage commission basis, which remains practically constant, regardless of the rise or fall of the stock prices. They probably do less advertising for the volume transacted than any other business. Their business is the nearest "all velvet" known, if they keep company funds out of the market as they should. V. REPORT RUSSIA IN SECRET PACT TO HELP CHINA

Japanese Cabinet Meets to Probe Rumors.

TOKIO, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Recurring rumors of Russian military activity in northern Manchuria were balanced today with official Russian denials as Chinese government troops in southwestern Manchuria put down another rebellion.

While officials sought to extract some grain of fact from a shifting pile of rumors of agreement between Russia and China to coöperate in north Manchuria, dispatches told of victory by troops of Chang Hsueh-Liang, whom Japan deposed as governor of Manchuria, over those of Gen. Ling Yu-Ching, near Panshanhsien.

Report Chinese-Russian Pact.

Despite Russia's denials of any intention to send troops into Manchuria, the Japanese cabinet at its meeting today gave particular attention to unofficial reports that China had entered into a secret arrangement with soviet Russia under which the Chinese would receive not only arms and ammunition but moral support as well.

Some officials declared the attitude of the Nanking government toward Japan had stiffened, which they suggested would be the logical reaction in case an accord with Russia actually had been reached.

Official announcement was made of the transfer of about 600 soldiers from Kirin to Japanese garrisons in Tsitsar, Szupingkai, and Chenchiatun. As many more will remain at Kirin to protect Japanese interests. Both the foreign and war offices said conditions in Kirin were more or less stabilized and the men could be better used in the west, where banditry is a problem which already has caused bloodshed in a number of clashes along the railway from Szupingkai westward.

Peace Parley Collapses.

[Wireless: 1931: By the New York Times.]

SHANGHAI, Nov. 2.—The Nanking-Canton peace conference collapsed today after a week of fruitless negotiation, marked by a campaign of mutual recriminations and denials.

Speaking at a Sun Yat-sen memorial service at Nanking today, Chiang Kai-shek, head of the Nanking government, made a stinging denunciation of the Canton delegates now in Shanghai. He accused them of attempting to hamper Nanking in dealing with the Sino-Japanese situation and of acting in a manner tantamount to assisting Japan.

Chiang refused to resign the presidency as the Cantonese demanded. He asserted that Hu Han-min, ousted chairman of the Nanking legislative yuan, had informed the Canton delegates that he, Chiang, would be made another Trotsky and be exiled from the country after being compelled to resign the presidency.

TAX ATTACK TO GET REMAPPING FAILS IN COURT

An attack, with the income tax as a weapon, by John W. Keogh, Chicago attorney, upon the failure of the Illinois legislature to reapportion the state, lost yesterday in the United States Supreme court. On the argument of "taxation without representation," Mr. Keogh sought an injunction to restrain the collector of internal revenue from collecting his 1928 tax and from requiring him to file a return for 1929.

Washington dispatches said the appealed suit was dismissed on the ground that an injunction could not be invoked to prevent tax collection. His petition had been denied in the lower courts.

Mr. Keogh based his suit on the contention that the legislature has failed to reapportion the state since 1901, thirty years ago, and that the disparity in the population of districts is taxation without representation, the disparity amounting to wholesale disfranchisement. He contended that the federal government has failed to fulfill the constitutional guaranty of a "republican form of government" and that hence it had no right to step in and collect taxes in a state where the principle of equality of population has been violated.

REVIEWERS PUT RAIL VALUATION AT $18,688,551

The 1930 assessment books for railroads in Cook county were completed by the board of review yesterday. The assessed valuation—37 per cent of the full value—was fixed at $18,688,551. This is only $265,000 less than the assessment made by the board of assessors.

All the property consists of equipment other than the actual rolling stock of the railroads which is assessed by the state tax commission, and real estate other than actual right of way which also is taxed by the state commission. The table for the assessments follows:

	Assessors.	Reviewers.
Property outside r.-a.	$ 2,929,473	$ 2,684,473
Real estate	16,024,875	15,904,078
Total	$18,954,348	$18,688,551

The only changes made by the reviewers, according to Andrew W. Gatsinel, chief clerk, were those recommended by the board of assessors. None of the property valued by the assessors, he asserted, had also been assessed by the state commission.

Work Shop Is Opened for Women Who Need Jobs

A workshop where unemployed women without families may earn a small salary was opened yesterday at the service branch for women of the relief emergency relief in the State-Lake building. The workshop is supervised and the materials furnished by the Chicago Woman's club under the chairmanship of Mrs. Allison W. Augur.

Yesterday about forty women sewed on garments for the Visiting Nurse association and for similar agencies. If in the plan, Mrs. Augur said, to increase the workshop to 100 women daily. The workers are selected from those sent to the service branch by various agencies, and the shop is supervised by volunteer members of the Chicago Woman's club.

JUDGES SUGGEST A FEW DEFENSES IN CANAL TRIAL

Northup Quizzed on Two Indictment Counts.

Possible defenses against two counts in the sanitary district graft indictment were suggested yesterday by the judges who are hearing the case. The two counts are considered by prosecutors the most damaging of all to Timothy J. Crowe, former president of the sanitary district, and his fellow defendants.

JUDGE FISHER.

The judges' suggestions were in the form of questions put to First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup. At the time he was defending the indictment against defense motions to quash it before Chief Justice Harry M. Fisher and Judges James J. Kelly and John Prystalski, who are sitting en banc to hear the motions.

The two counts under discussion charge the defendants with improper conduct in spending $1,100,000 for a cinder bridle path along the north shore drainage channel, and with spending $750,000 for the lighting system on the highway paralleling the bridle path.

"What would you say, Mr. Northup," asked Judge Kelly, "if the path were built without personal benefit to the trustees?"

"We are in no position to show that the cinder path money went to the trustees," replied Mr. Northup. "But we are ready to show that the path could have been built for $300,000 or less."

"Supposing," Judge Fisher then asked, "there was an unhealthy channel where mosquitoes were breeding, and the district filled the channel with cinders, and made it usable? Would you say that would be outside the jurisdiction of the trustees?"

"No one has yet conjured up anything to show why the trustees built the cinder path," retorted the prosecutor.

"You don't charge in the indictment," Judge Prystalski said, "that the building of the highway along the channel was illegal. If the trustees had the right to build the road, wouldn't they have the right to light it?"

"As to the lights," said Mr. Northup, "they do not in any way help the flow of water or the disposal of sewage, which are the prescribed duties of the district."

GETS PERSONAL INJURY VERDICT.

Lincoln, Ill., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Mrs. Emma C. Dean of Chicago was awarded $6,000 damages against the Yellowway Pioneer System, Inc., by a jury in the Logan county Circuit court Monday afternoon for personal injuries suffered in October, 1928, in a fall at a local bus station while waiting for a bus.

Los Angeles Aqueduct Dynamited

One of the huge siphons which form part of the conduit which carries water to city 250 miles from sources in the Sierra mountains. These siphons, which are used to carry the water over hills, are of steel pipe, nine feet in diameter. Two sections of a siphon above the Jawbone canyon were destroyed by explosions.

BLAST AQUEDUCT BRINGING WATER TO LOS ANGELES

Damaged Section of Line in Remote Area.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Dynamite in two big charges early today ripped out portions of the Los Angeles aqueduct, which carries lifegiving water for this city 250 miles from sources in the high Sierra mountains. The explosions occurred several miles above Jawbone canyon in an unpeopled desert region north of the little town of Mojave, 140 miles northeast of Los Angeles.

The bombings are attributed to dissatisfaction of ranchers in the Owens valley and adjacent sections, with the progress of arrangements made by the municipality of Los Angeles to recompense them for acquisition of the chief Owens valley water sources. Lakes, rivers, valleys, and wells in Owens valley have been dried up and ranches gone back to sandy desert wastes. Two sections of the aqueduct were blown out. One section was about 15 feet wide and another about 20 feet wide.

Siphon Is Damaged.

At the point where the damage occurred the aqueduct takes the form of a huge siphon, lifting the water over the foothills. The siphon is composed of steel pipe nine feet in diameter.

Repair crews were sent to the scene immediately and the water shut off at Haiwee reservoir, about 40 miles north of the break, to prevent waste of water at the rate of thousands of gallons a minute.

H. A. Van Norman, chief engineer of the Los Angeles municipal water bureau, asserted there will be no water shortage in the city due to the fact that many of the reservoirs which carry the city storage supply are well stocked. Van Norman estimated that repair shifts working day and night might be able to repair the dynamite breaks in four or five days.

Blasted Twelve Times.

In 1927 the aqueduct was blown up at twelve different times during guerrilla warfare between the city's guards and disgruntled ranchers of the Owens valley section, who saw their farms going back to desert before their eyes. Commissions from the city and the ranchers later agreed on a program which bound Los Angeles to buy property in Owens valley affected by construction of an aqueduct. Delay in the city's policy of paying off has recently brought a renewal of bitter charges from the ranchmen.

RUBBER IS MADE OF SALT, WATER, AND ACETYLENE

American Chemical Body Announces Process.

Akron, O., Nov. 2.—(AP)—Discovery of a process to make synthetic rubber out of acetylene and salt and water was announced to the rubber division of the American Chemical society meeting her tonight.

Three Du Pont company chemists explained the tricks in a scientific paper.

They stated that the synthetic material was not a substitute for natural rubber, but a supplement, which might be employed in some of the thousands of uses. Also the artificial substance is expected to find uses in some lines where real rubber is not suitable.

For example, natural rubber is eaten by gasoline, but the paper stated that the new material was gasoline-resistant. The report was made by F. B. Downing, W. H. Carothers and Ira Williams.

Acetylene is treated to obtain chloroprene, and that in turn is converted into a plastic mass by a chemical process called polymerization. The paper stated that the development was the result of work of a score of chemists over a period of several years.

Certain important differences from natural rubber are claimed. One is more resistance to swelling action of gasoline, kerosene, and other solvents. It is also more resistant to oxygen, ozone and some other chemical compounds which attack pure rubber.

ERROR FOUND IN HOOVER COTTON MEMORANDUM

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—(AP)—An error in President Hoover's statement of last Friday, that the price of cotton had increased by $15 to $20 a bale was corrected today at the White House. The figures, it was said, should have been "$5 to $10."

The President today received a telegram from A. D. Jones, director of the Georgia state bureau of markets, calling attention to the error and requesting that it be corrected.

The explanation given at the White House was that one of the President's secretaries, in making computations for him, had penciled an arithmetical mistake. Steps have been taken in the form of letters and telegrams, it was said, to correct the error.

COUNTS 12,600,000 NOSES FOR STATE 50 YEARS HENCE

The population of the state of Illinois in 1980 will be approximately 12,600,000. This figure was estimated by Jacob Crane Jr., state planner, in his survey of state plan possibilities for Illinois recently completed for the Illinois chamber of commerce.

Judging from the present basis of 44 per cent of the state total in Chicago and 56 per cent downstate, Mr. Crane's figures would make the 1980 population of Chicago, 5,544,000, and of downstate Illinois, 7,056,000. The increase in the state's population will be about 1,000,000 every ten years, according to Mr. Crane.

With the increase of persons to every square mile, it will be the state plan commission's task, said Mr. Crane, to balance the distribution of population to relieve congestion and to build up a better standard of living.

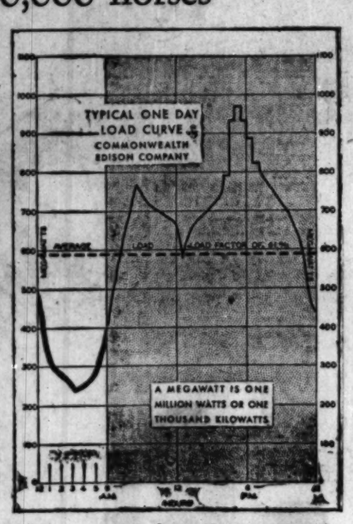
WHAT IT IS — EDISON SERVICE — WHAT IT DOES

THROUGH CHICAGO'S MOST QUIET HOUR

Electricity does the work of more than 300,000 horses



EDISON SERVICE is twenty-four-hour service; available all the time, week days, Sundays and holidays. The diversity of the demands Chicago makes upon the SERVICE, the daily ups and downs in the use of electricity are shown by a twenty-four-hour Load curve. ("Load" is a technical term for the quantity of electricity used at any given time.)

The curve shows that when a new day begins at midnight, the EDISON SERVICE Load has already dropped well below the line indicating the Load Factor, which is a measure of the average for the day. Theaters are then dark; most shops and restaurants are closed; traffic on the electric transportation lines is slowing up; and most folks have gone or are going to bed.

The curve shows that the deadest hour of a Chicago night is from 3 to 4 o'clock in the morning. But even then EDISON SERVICE finds work to do. On the typical day shown, the smallest quantity of electricity required was 235,000 kilowatts, or 313,000 horse power. Partly, that is because transportation must go on, miles upon miles of Chicago's streets must always be lighted and the all-night restaurants must be kept open for night workers.

Besides these, however, there are four major industries that must be supplied with electricity while the city sleeps. These are to charge the batteries of electric trucks which deliver everything from ice to milk; to make thousands of tons of ice; to bake the city's bread; and to print the newspapers Chicagoans read at their breakfast tables.

Every householder is benefited by this night Load of EDISON SERVICE because it raises the Load Factor of the Company. A mounting Load Factor has helped EDISON SERVICE to make fourteen reductions in household rates since New Year's of 1898.

COMMONWEALTH EDISON COMPANY
A Home-Owned, Home-Managed Institution

One of the reasons why EDISON SERVICE costs the householder so little is that it draws pay only for actual work. Push one button, and its pay starts; push another and that pay stops. It has no hour off for luncheon. If it suffers accidents or gets sick, it not only does so at its own expense, but cannot let either sickness or accidents interfere with its work. It is an honest servant and a faithful one.

Joel D. Hunter, superintendent of the United Charities, made public yesterday a letter from Henry Colt, president of the American Radiator company, 30 North Michigan street, calling attention to the practice of certain large employers who make a rule for immediately discharging workers against whom garnishment papers are filed. Mr. Colt urged that this practice be discouraged, a practice which Mr. Hunter said he believed.

Would Protect Employés.

"Many employers have adopted the effect that the continual garnishment of wage assignments against an employé is grounds for immediate discharge, and hundreds of men and women are losing their positions each month by reason of the abuse of the garnishment law," Colt wrote.

"On the one hand we see the efforts by many of our best citizens to relieve the unemployment situation and on the other hand business institutions taking action calculated to drive men out of their positions."

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

It's one thing for a truant officer to collar the pupil whose antipathy to the three Rs incites him to go wandering during school hours. It's quite another to seize a boy or girl who has been missing from school only to discover that the absence is enforced by lack of sufficient clothing.

The present situation is peculiar in the experience of most of the truancy officials. With free meals available at the average school for those who come, but have no money for lunches, the number of absentees continues far too large, although the attractions of the classroom under existing circumstances are much stronger than the delights of "playing hookey." Literal hundreds of children who would prefer to attend school and partake of victuals lacking in their own homes are compelled to stay away.

Expect Attendance Drop.

Mild weather up to the present has made it possible for many destitute youngsters to come to their classes barefoot. But with colder weather the attendance figures are sure to drop, the teachers say.

Even with insufficient clothes boys and girls have come consistently to their lessons this fall and eaten at noon in the penny lunchroom, their main meal of the day. Hot, warming soup, nourishing meat and potatoes and gravy, or sandwiches spread with peanut butter, jelly, or a nourishing mixture of some sort, and followed by a dessert with milk, constitutes a magnet for hungry children.

Aid Society Provides Clothes.

As far as it has been possible, the School Children's Aid society, which provides clothing and shoes for pupils unable to buy their own, has been cooperating with the teachers and the lunchrooms to make the most impoverished children comfortable. Although the demand for garments and footwear is many times heavier than the organization can handle, and the need for free lunches is a long way from being adequately filled, the School Children's Aid and the Hungry School Children's Fund are attempting to cope with the emergency.

Readers of this newspaper who have contributed to the fund raised for the free lunches are now supporting lunchrooms in more than sixty schools, and others are being added almost daily.

CAMELS are never parched or toasted!

FRESHNESS and flavor in a cigarette trace right back to natural moisture.

If you overheat or process tobacco so harshly as to dry out all natural moisture you drive out freshness and flavor too.

Camel never parches or toasts the fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos it uses—they are naturally smooth, cool, mellow, with natural moisture retained.

That's why the Camel Humidor Pack proves such a blessing to Camel smokers—it brings them a fine cigarette fresh to start with, and fresh to smoke.

If you don't realize what natural moisture means in genuine freshness and flavor, switch to Camels and see.

Try this mild, slow-burning, throat-friendly favorite for just one day—then leave it, if you can!

A Sound Program for All

The simple justice of putting all forms of transportation on an equal basis of regulation is generally conceded. However, that is not the only reason why they should be equally regulated. The controlling reason is one of public economy.

In order to have an efficient national system of transportation giving all the people the best service at the lowest total cost, every form of transportation must be used to do the work for which it is best fitted. Fitness is determined by comparing service and rates, and such comparisons are sure to be misleading when there is inequality of regulation.

It is in the public interest, therefore, to require all forms of transportation to pay their own way, as the railroads do, and to be regulated in the same ways and to the same extent that the railroads are.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

President, Illinois Central System

Chicago, November 2, 1931.

Both producers and users of transportation should demand equal regulation.

TRADE RECOVERY AHEAD OF LIQUOR, LEWIS' PLATFORM

Senator Tells Stand on Economic Issues.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis, who was boomed by Mayor A. J. Cermak in New York yesterday as the choice of the Illinois democracy for the presidency as an "out and out wet," holds that the economic issue of jobs and food comes ahead of the liquor question. Senator Lewis, in a statement last night, took the ground that in the national platform of 1932 the prohibition issue must travel in company with unemployment relief and industrial readjustment.

"I appreciate the constantly expressed indorsement of me by Mayor Cermak," said Senator Lewis, "but as to the political platform being only wet or dry I have to say I am sure the mayor and myself recognize that in the present hour the American public is more concerned to know where many of its people will get something to eat before they consider what they shall have to drink.

Must Aid the Homeless.

"Also, it is more urgent at once to consider places of shelter for homeless families this winter than for places to enjoy a beverage. The prohibition question is one to go along with food, clothing, and homes for the needy millions, and with aiding the returning prosperity that is now on the way to our nation. These are the concerns altogether of the national democrary."

A plethora of candidates for the Republican nomination for attorney general has popped above the horizon, and more potential candidates for this office are being boomed than apparently for the rest of the places on the state ticket. The latest boom has been launched in the Paris-Danville region in the interests of Sumner S. Anderson of Charleston, former county judge of Coles county.

At the time he was on the bench Judge Anderson was reputed to be the youngest county judge in Illinois. He declined renomination in order to practice law. For several years he has been a member at large of the board of governors of the Illinois State Bar association. From 1917 to 1921 Mr. Anderson was an assistant attorney general and represented the state in more than 400 cases before the State Court of Claims, involving a total of more than $2,000,000.

Another candidate leading in the talk is Charles W. Hadley of Wheaton, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission. In the last campaign in 1928, Hadley retired from the race for attorney general to give Oscar Carlstrom a clear field.

Col. Smith a Contender.

Another "new blood" who has been listed for months as a possible contender is Col. Ashbel V. Smith of Waukegan, three times state's attorney of Lake county.

Several state senators in addition are rated as possible starters. They are Roy C. Woods of Chicago, who for three years was an assistant state's attorney of Cook county; Charles H. Thompson of Harrisburg, who was state's attorney of Saline county; Arthur A. Huebsch of Brookfield, who was one of the prison research party in Europe and England this summer and is active in formulating penal reform in Illinois, and Andrew S. Cuthbertson of Bunker Hill, dry leader, who is chairman of the Illinois judicial advisory council. He is a former state's attorney of Macoupin county.

HOOVER PROCLAIMS NOV. 11 AS DAY OF PEACE FOR THE WORLD

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—(AP)—A proclamation calling upon citizens of the United States to observe Nov. 11 as Armistice day with ceremonies pledging an effort "to perpetuate the peace of the world" was issued today by President Hoover.

The proclamation said:

"Whereas, the eleventh day of November, 1918, marked the termination of the world war and the cessation of its destruction and suffering; and,

"Whereas, it is appropriate that recurring anniversaries of this day should be commemorated by exercises honoring those who gave their lives in the service of their country and dedicating ourselves to the attainment of the ideals of justice, freedom, and peace for which they made a supreme sacrifice; and,

"Whereas, by concurrent resolution of the senate and the house of representatives, in 1926, the President was requested to issue a proclamation for the observance of Armistice day;

"Now, therefore, I, Herbert Hoover, President of the United States of America, pursuant to said resolution, do hereby order that the flag of the United States be displayed on all government building on Nov. 11, 1931, and do invite the people of the United States to observe the day in their churches and schools and other suitable places with appropriate ceremonies, giving expression to our gratitude that peace exists and pledging ourselves to the effort to perpetuate the peace of the world and to cultivate relations of friendship and amity with all nations.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the seal of the United States.

"Done at the city of Washington this second day of November, in the year of our Lord 1931, and of the independence of the United States of America the 156th.

"[Signed] HERBERT HOOVER."

CERMAK DECIDES TAMMANY'S NOT ROOSEVELT FOE

He Also Rules Out Straw Polls of All Kinds.

New York, Nov. 2. — [Special.] — Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago, here avowedly to get a back stage closeup of the political drama in this state, established to his own satisfaction today that there is no basis at all for all this talk that Tammany Hall is fighting the presidental candidacy of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt. Not an iota.

The truth of the matter is that the ranks of Tammany, like other Democratic groups, are divided on the governor's aspirations. Some of them are strongly for him. Others are opposed.

Another thing: These straw polls being taken on the relative standings of Alfred E. Smith, Roosevelt, and Gov. Ritchie of Maryland are not worth the slips of paper the votes are written on. The visiting mayor is sure of that.

"It's too far from convention time to be guessing on the relative chances of any of the party's possibilities," he insisted. "I never did take much stock in these straw polls."

Certainly the mayor doesn't credit those showing Roosevelt in the lead. He said so in so many words.

Calls on John F. Curry.

The visiting mayor's information was gleaned in a number of pop calls he made on some of the great and near great of the Democratic party hereabouts during the course of the afternoon. First he saw John F. Curry, the big chief of Tammany Hall.

The two men sat down for a long confidential chat in an uptown hotel this afternoon and, although Mayor Cermak intimated very strongly that Chicago's chance of landing the 1932 Democratic convention was the big topic, it was reasonable to suppose that the respective boomlets of Smith, Roosevelt, and Ritchie had found, at least, a casual reference in their remarks. Neither had any "quotes" to repeat to the eager newspaper reporters after their parley.

From the Curry conference, the visiting mayor hurried to city hall, where he called on Mayor James J. Walker. Again, there was a long talk of "this and that" without any of the text being made public. Then came a call on Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, one of the leading big shots of New Jersey Democracy—with the same curtain of silence.

Of one thing Mayor Cermak is certain as he reviewed the result of his day's rounds, at his hotel tonight. And that is that the Democratic standard bearer in the next campaign must be "wringing wet." Certainly he will have to be to get the support of Illinois.

Convention for Chicago?

Mayor Cermak insisted that the thing nearest his heart just now is to land the 1932 convention for Chicago. And he believes that his city has more than an even chance for that honor.

"The principal thing I talked about with the New York men, in fact, was the question of bringing the 1932 Democratic convention to Chicago," he said. "I think I was successful. Mayor Walker and Mr. Curry both looked upon the plan favorably and promised to work in favor of Chicago among politicians here."

G. O. P. SESSION IN CAPITAL TO BE ON DEC. 15

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—The Republican national committee today was called by Chairman Fess to meet at the Willard hotel at 2 p. m. Tuesday, Dec. 15. The formal call letter was brief, merely stating that important matters are to be considered and urging committee members to attend.

At this committee meeting the date for the national convention and the city in which it will be held next year will be selected.

Questions relating to apportionment of the delegates among the various states in view of the recent reapportionment of the house of representatives are expected to come up.

Senator Fess of Ohio has announced he will continue as chairman until after the convention.

A New Man ... after 14 days of Pluto!

YOU won't know yourself after you've taken the new Pluto treatment. All that tired, constipated feeling is gone and in its place is a new vitality, a new robust good health. And it's all so easy! Just a quarter of an ordinary glassful of Pluto in a tumbler of hot water each morning for 14 days—drink it in your own bathroom, and health worries are over, for Pluto never fails to do its work. It's gentle but thorough in its action, flushing out the poisonous wastes that accumulate in the intestinal tract and endanger your well-being. You'll feel like a million dollars when Pluto's through.

Bottled at the famous springs in French Lick, Pluto brings to your own bathroom the beneficial waters used in treatments at this widely known health resort. If you can't go to French Lick for your health, you can go to your nearest drug store or fountain for two large bottles of Pluto Water—ample to carry you through the 14-day treatment. Start it at once! Two sizes—20c and 45c.

BENEFITS OF NEW TRAFFIC COURT TOLD BY JUDGE

Fixing Is Now Eliminated, Padden Declares.

BY HAL FOUST.

Judge Frank M. Padden paused yesterday in his trial of 500 cases in the Traffic court to tell what this branch of the municipal judiciary has accomplished since its reorganization two months ago. He was interviewed by Joseph H. Braun, general counsel for the Chicago Motor club, who was a member of the advisory committee which planned the reorganization.

JUDGE PADDEN.

"Our object," said the judge, "is to reduce accidents, and I believe we are making progress. The 'ticket fixer' has been eliminated. There was a time when three out of four motorists who received arrest slips never appeared in court. The certainty of punishment is deterring reckless driving."

Recalls Former Conditions.

"On that point, judge," suggested Mr. Braun, "I want to emphasize that it's the certainty and not the severity of punishment that acts as a proper deterrent. You will recall a few years ago, when a judge announced he would hand down stiff penalties to speeders, dishonest policemen reaped a harvest of petty bribes from motorists who were afraid to go to court."

"The records of my court," the judge replied, "show my fight against motorcycle policemen operating speed traps, lurking in park brush or in shadows beside cemeteries. But I have no sympathy with the motorist who will offer a bribe to a policeman. Any one worthy of the name will report attempted shakedowns to proper authorities.

"Continuing on this reduction of accidents, I had a case a couple of years ago for which I want to compliment the south park policeman who made the arrest. The charge was reckless driving. The report showed the defendant had been driving twelve miles an hour.

Driving Without Brakes.

"'He didn't have any brakes,' the policeman testified. 'He couldn't have stopped promptly had he been going four miles an hour.'

"I found the man guilty and sentenced him, as I recall, to five days in jail. We need more policemen like this south park officer, alert to observe the condition of some of the junks that are menacing the public.

"There should be a law requiring periodical inspection of all cars. Faulty brakes and steering gears contribute to the cause of a large portion of our accidents. Pending such legislation, the police should make a thorough examination of automobiles following accidents. It is criminal negligence to operate a machine which cannot function properly."

TWO BANDITS ROB RESTAURANT.

Two gunmen robbed Felix McWhirter, 5149 South Eggleston avenue, a customer, of $4, and took $35 from the cash drawer in the Central restaurant at 6306 South Central avenue yesterday.

State Receives Bids for $6,398,015 in Road Jobs

BY HAL FOUST.

The state highway department yesterday received bids for $6,398,015 worth of road construction. The contracts will be the first to be awarded since the prevailing wage act was declared unconstitutional. The projects for the metropolitan area total $2,770,459.

The largest of the metropolitan area jobs is the construction of a span to carry Mannheim road over the Des Plaines river valley, with its two canals and two railroads. Other important projects in this area include the following:

Busse highway—Widening from Desplaines to Park Ridge, 2.80 miles.

Northwest highway—Widening from Palatine to Barrington, 2.92 miles.

Rand road—Widening from Desplaines to Park Ridge, 3.02 miles.

159th street—New paving south and southwest of Calumet City, 1.74 miles.

Route 53—New paving from Palos Park to Kedzie avenue west of Blue Island, 6.49 miles.

Route 58—New paving from Roosevelt road at Glen Ellyn to Ogden avenue near Lisle, 4.43 miles; grade separations with Roosevelt road and with Ogden avenue.

North avenue—New paving in Elmhurst, 1.74 miles.

Elgin-Evanston highway—New paving and widening from Niles Center west, 5.37 miles.

Traffic Survey Continues.

The highway department was making further traffic counts yesterday in its survey to determine requirements for future pavement improvements. Most of the 250,000 automobiles that enter and leave Chicago daily were stopped near the city limits and their drivers were asked to report their destinations and the starting places of their trips. The state has not made public as yet traffic counts taken two months ago.

The National Paving Brick Manufacturers association has started an investigation of a published report that the brick resurfacing on the Lincoln highway in the southern part of Cook county has been the scene of a large number of accidents during wet weather recently.

Suggests an Improvement.

George F. Schlesinger, chief engineer for the association, with headquarters in Washington, D. C., inspected the project and informed the state highway department that the unusual hazard was due to the fact that coarse sand had not been mixed with the overflow of asphalt filler from the cracks between the bricks. He also recommended crushed stone to reinforce the soft clay shoulders of the road which are throwing many automobiles in the ditch.

William H. Moseley, manager of the Illinois division of the paving brick group, said there has been no trouble from slippery surface on other projects in the sixty-three miles of cracked and broken concrete which were resurfaced with brick by the Illinois highway department this year.

Ban on Painters Union in Furniture Deals Upheld

The United States Supreme court yesterday affirmed a decision of the District court in Chicago restraining the Painters' District council, No. 14, from interfering with the interstate shipment of furniture. The case grew out of an indictment of several officers of the union who were charged with violating the Sherman anti-trust law by forcing the shipment to Chicago of kitchen cabinets and other furniture unpainted. Arthur W. Wallace, secretary-treasurer of the union, and others were tried, but the jury disagreed and the case then continued as a civil proceeding, the injunction being granted in 1930.

Learn the secret of PERFECT LEAVENING for your baking

FOR ideal results in baking you need a baking powder which applies two-thirds of its leavening power during the mixing and the remaining third in the oven.

Fifty-two scientific tests in the process of manufacture make absolutely certain that Rumford Baking Powder gives you the advantage of this perfect leavening proportion in every baking. That's one important reason why Rumford is preferred by cooking experts and authorities on food.

Another vitally important reason for the choice of Rumford is the fact that Rumford adds real food value to cakes and hot breads. For Rumford contains in substantial quantities the food Calcium and Phosphate so necessary to the proper growth and development of bones, nerves and teeth.

FREE RAILROADS AND STABILIZE LABOR—WILLARD

Says Recapture Clause Blocks Employment.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Elimination of the recapture clause of the transportation act would enable railroads to build up reserves and thereby become a stabilizing factor in supplying employment during times of depression, Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, testified today before the special senate committee conducting hearings on the formation of a proposed national economic council.

Mr. Willard doubted whether any official or unofficial action could avert depressions, which he termed social problems resulting partly from technological improvements given impetus by the world war.

"I suspect we are going to have depressions," he said. "We thought we had passed that stage in economic development, but we found that we had not. The men I saw engaged in business seemed to be as much mistaken as I was.

Dislikes La Follette Plan.

Mr. Willard gave scant indorsement to a proposal by Senator Robert M. La Follette [radical Rep., Wis.], chairman of the committee, to set up a national economic council, with the object of advising business on coördination work. He added that he would oppose strongly such a measure if it would give a new government department the right to inquire minutely into every phase of a business.

"If the bill becomes a law," Mr. Willard said, "a man could put me under oath and ask any question or go into my office and see all my records. I don't think that is right if we are to stay on a competitive basis. If you are going to require industry to subject itself to that sort of inquiry by a man who finds himself a member of that committee I don't like it."

Mr. Willard gave the committee a graphic picture of the plight of the railroads, which, he said, have been unable to mitigate the effects of unemployment during the depression through a lack of reserves.

Taking his own railroad as an example he testified that the working force has been decreased from 60,000 men in 1929 to about 41,000. There were 80,000 men employed on the B. & O. in 1923, he added.

Competition a U. S. Blessing.

Mr. Willard said the depression had caused some to question the worth of the competitive system, and added:

"Through the competitive system we have developed the richest country in the world, and, so far as I know, the only country where we have enough to eat, to wear, and everything. In fact, we have too much. Our trouble is the trouble of riches, and that has developed under the competitive system. It seems to me we ought to hesitate before we put the competitive system aside."

The committee also heard two diametrically opposed descriptions of other industrial conditions. George J. Anderson, president of the Consolidation Coal company, one of the largest bituminous producers, frankly said that the coal industry is in a state of "chaos." Henry C. Kendall, textile manufacturer of Boston, on the other hand, told of his system of plant management, which he said had made possible weathering of the depression with virtually no business shrinkage or cuts in employment or working hours.

Railroad Employers Asked to Confer on Pay and Jobs

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Railroad labor today called upon its employers to join with it in conference to consider their "conflicting interests." The Railway Labor Executives' association at a meeting here adopted a resolution proposing the conference and sent it immediately to R. H. Aishton, president of the Railway Executives' association.

The proposal for the conference represented labor's answer to recent steps by several roads to cut wages. Since the interstate commerce commission denied the railroads' petition for a blanket 15 per cent freight rate increase several roads have moved to reduce wages.

As proposed in the resolution the conference would be on a fifty-fifty basis, with the roads presenting their suggestion for wage cuts and labor submitting proposals for stabilization of employment.

Labor, one of the executives said, believes that the question of wage cuts can be more easily settled if the roads consult the representatives of those who would be affected by such measures. On the other hand, he stated, labor is anxious to arrive at some means of stabilizing employment and arresting unemployment. Both of these subjects, he said, would be considered if the roads would acquiesce to the suggestion for a conference.

Among the labor executives attending the meeting today were four Chicagoans—J. G. Luhrsen, president of the American Train Dispatchers' association; B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employes department of the American Federation of Labor; Roy Horn, president of the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, and D. W. Holt, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen.

Cut on Rail Salaries.

New York, Nov. 2.—[Speical.]—The New York Central railroad, which last week began a move to have union workers accept a 10 per cent cut in wages, put into effect today a 10 per cent reduction in salaries of more than $350 monthly earned by non-union personnel. This followed a 10 to 20 per cent reduction announced previously on salaries of more than $500 monthly. John C. Walber, vice president of the New York Central, continued today his negotiations with union members on the line for the proposed voluntary wage reduction.

SUICIDE THEORY GAINS FAVOR IN KOEHRING QUIZ

But Search for Possible Slayers Continues.

Mauston, Wis., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Developments late today in the investigation of the death of Philip A. Koehring, 55, Milwaukee manufacturer, have complicated solution of the mystery, Edward Vinopal Jr., district attorney, said tonight.

Two new witnesses told of seeing Koehring, apparently alive and alone, in his automobile in the field near Mauston, shortly before his body was found with a bullet hole through the head.

Hear Calls for Help.

Since hearing their stories, Vinopal strongly favors the suicide theory, he said tonight.

Ten other witnesses were heard during the day. Four persons told of seeing a car resembling Koehring's speeding toward the Lyndon cemetery, pursued by two smaller cars; three children said they heard cries for help near the death scene; others told of shots, and a farmer was positive an automobile was parked near the top of the hill shortly after the shooting.

The new stories told the authorities today, which will be repeated at the inquest Thursday morning, are:

Harry D. Corning, retired Kilbourn merchant, told of seeing the coupe in the field of the James Trainer farm as he and Mrs. Corning were driving home from Reedsburg. It was shortly before 4:20 p. m. Saturday, they said. Corning stopped, thinking the man had an accident and needed help. He drove on, he said, when the man looked out of a window of the automobile, apparently to assure him he was not in trouble. His wife corroborated his statements.

Three Cars in Race.

Eloise and Dorothy Rohde, young women who have a cottage on the Lemonweir river, said they were walking toward town shortly before 4:30 p. m. Saturday, when they saw a big automobile going rapidly with two small cars following it. They stopped and watched the trio speeding past. There was only one man in the big machine, they said. Through the rear window they could see a big package behind him. The district attorney said this was apparently the package containing Koehring's sheepskin coat.

Three school children declared they heard cries of what they interpreted as "Help! Help! Hurry! Hurry!" coming from the field where Koehring was found dead a few minutes later. They thought the cries came from a man who lives in the neighborhood who frequently plays jokes on them. These children are Eleanor Riley, 11, her brother, Billy, 13, and Victor Morset, who live near the scene.

Children Hear Shot.

Barnard Nate, 9, and his brother, Donald, 7, said they heard a shot, apparently the death shot. Their brother, Eugene Nate, 17, said he saw an automobile parked on the hill opposite the place in a woods where footprints were found.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Suszycki, Mauston theatre owners, told Vinopal they saw an automobile similar to Koehring's going east at high speed near the death scene, with a small car in front and another behind. They declared two persons were in the big automobile.

All of these witnesses' estimates of time have been carefully checked, the authorities said, and have been found to be correct.

The funeral services for Mr. Koehring will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Grace Reformed church, 2944 North 9th street. The body will be at the Koehring home, 2773 North Lake drive, until 10 a. m. Wednesday. The family will receive only close friends in the home. The body will lie in state at the church from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. Wednesday. Burial will be in the Valhalla mausoleum.

WOMAN DIES FROM FALL.

Mrs. Anne Clifford, 50 years old, died in the county hospital yesterday from injuries suffered when she fell downstairs in her home at 960 Edgecomb place on Saturday.

What's become of the "Superfluous Woman"?

THESE were the women that the census taker used to put down as "Females without Occupation." You know. Old-maid aunts. Women with grown-up families. And the familiar ailing relatives that had to be supported by some other member of the family.

What's become of these so-called "superfluous women"? There were never more healthy, busy, happy women in the world than there are right now.

Health has everything to do with it. It doesn't matter whether you're still in school. Or holding down a business job. Or running a home and bringing up a family.

Just talk to women who've been successful along their own particular lines. They'll all tell you they take Nujol regularly.

Kentucky Hills Yield Buried Jar of Coins

Then Discord Enters Into Simple Lives.

"Buried Treasure," by Elizabeth Madox Roberts. [Viking Press.] Published today.

AGAIN with the Kentucky hills as a background, Miss Roberts creates a drama of contemporary life. It could be placed, however, in any time, in almost any place, because of the universality of the experiences she describes and because of her deep search into the fundamentals of life.

ELIZABETH MADOX ROBERTS.

Andy and Philly, two people of the soil, irrevocably and willingly bound to it, discover one day, while they are getting firewood, a kettle buried at the roots of a tree. Philly, Andy's wife, thinks it can only be an old pot left by her ancestors, whose innumerable traces of living and warring are in the soil about them. Andy, more of a dreamer—although a primitive one—personifying the less practical nature of man, believes it to be gold. They open it and find over a thousand dollars in old coins, and two exquisite pearls wrapped in a decayed silk cloth.

They take it to their house, wonderingly and in frantic joy. Philly at once dreams her practical dreams while her husband sits by in abstract happiness, glad only to possess the gold and unwilling as yet to discuss its uses.

A boy, Ben, the descendant of the shepards who settled this part of the country, is sent by his father to discover the graveyard—with its names and dates—of his people. Wandering over the hills, feeling the stir of the soil in his veins as he imagines the life of his predecessors, quietly poetical, he is thrown unexpectedly into the drama of Philly and Andy. He observes from a treetop their treasure find, and he feels that the treasure rightly belongs to him through his ancestors who lived here during the civil war.

It is always through either the mind of Philly or that of Ben that the author traces the events of the book. It is not an adventure story, as the title might suggest, but is rather an analysis of the human soul in the crises of adversity and good fortune. We watch the conflict of the two personalities of Andy and Philly—different in their psychological cores—and their union of desires and interests when they are confronted with good fortune. They try to resist the forces of evil within themselves, they fight against their instincts of possessiveness and suspicion, but being human they never fully succeed. Pitted against them is the outside world, ever suspicious, never understanding, always to be distrusted. The symbol of that world is the thief who attempts to rob them.

Ben represents the sophisticated world beyond their own immediate understanding. He is not wholly disinterested, but within him lie the possibilities of both good and evil, a fate they cannot comprehend or deny, but a fate beyond any control.

The first half of the book is closely knit and has an emotional intensity that never relaxes. The second half is more diffuse.

The promise of the portrayal of a deeper morality in human desires and frustrations is not fully realized by the author. But the singing quality of Miss Roberts' prose poetry, reaching the heights of the lyric here, the simplicity and firmness of a style that has the heritage of the Bible in it, the subtle undertones of feeling and thought that become refrains in the even, gracious flow of her language, make this book one of the near-great epics of human tragedy.

"THE ADMIRABLE CRICHTON."

A comedy by J. M. Barrie; given at the Erlanger theater Nov. 2, 1931, with Walter Hampden and Fay Bainter as stars, under the management of George C. Tyler.

THE CAST.

Mr. Crichton .....Walter Hampden
Hon. Ernest Woolley.....Maurice Wells
Lady Agatha Lasenby.....Alfreda Hill
Lady Catherine Lasenby..Henriette Amiard
Lady Mary Lasenby.....Fay Bainter
The Rev. John Treherne..J. Colvil Dunn
The earl of Loam.....Sydney Greenstreet
Lord Brocklehurst .....J. P. Wilson
Mrs. Perkins, housekeeper..Sybil Campbell
Tompsett, coachman.....William Dale
Lady Mary's maid.....Vivian MacGill
Countess of Brocklehurst..Effie Shannon
And others.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

IF you happen to hear that last night's première at the Erlanger theater is a "revival," and that the play deserves respectful attention as a "classic," you should not decide to stay away from "The Admirable Crichton" on that account. For there is nothing hoary about this comedy by J. M. Barrie, whose whimsical humor has been a glory of the English drama for the past forty years; and there is nothing to be learned in it either, although its theme is concerned with the high sounding subject of social democracy. To many of you this suave fantasy will come as something new and refreshing, and you will find it as jolly as an intelligent comic opera.

"The Admirable Crichton" is the best play in the Barrie repertory, and it appears after a silence of twenty-eight years in a distinguished restoration. Walter Hampden, who has been absent from the Chicago stage since his visit in "Cyrano" seven years ago, brings his high skill and commanding presence to the rôle of the butler who became king of a desert island, and there is reason to feel that he is better suited to the rôle than the original Crichton, who was William Gillette.

Fay Bainter, a crisp and charming actress who also ranks among the major stars, represents the lady of title who became a serving maid to that same triumphant butler. For extra measure the cast contains Sydney Greenstreet, a senior comedian of rr bust girth and style, and Effie Shannon, a grande dame of many fond play-going recollections. Here you have a fine company in a work of gentle satire and romantic appeal—a play that has had a great past and is worthy of a prosperous present.

There has been a mighty winnowing and reassorting of social values since Barrie wrote "The Admirable Crichton" as his merry smile at the caste system of Great Britain. A great collection of class fetishes have gone into the melting pot. Snobbery, however, still exists, and masters and servants continue to inhabit this remodeled world, although the former may be more humble and the latter less cringing than they were of yore.

"The Admirable Crichton," therefore, retains its pertinence. Its satire is not aimed at a missing target. It is a play with the quality of endurance. It contains, among other things, the greatest butler of the British drama; and when one reflects how many thousand butlers have strutted their stuff on the English-speaking stage, that fact alone makes the play eminent.

Here, too, you will find the romance of the South seas—a theme of standard appeal to the civilized imagination—treated with the glamour of "Swiss Family Robinson" and the wit of W. S. Gilbert. Added to it there is a love story that runs true to Barrie's wistful charm, with the butler-ruler and the patrician-waitress as its central figures. "The Admirable Crichton" is quaint and humorous and wise in its study of the master and servant superstition in London and the jungle; but it also has a sure and keen stroke of emotion for its third act climax. The parting of Bill Crichton and Lady Mary is one of Barrie's best bits of drama.

Here, then, is an old play that deserves attention as a new play. It is acted with consummate skill, and it provides an evening of imaginative delight.

"Mrs. Moonlight," with Edith Barrett and Sir Guy Standing in the leading rôles, began an engagement at the Harris theater last night under the auspices of the Dramatic League of Chicago. The performance will be reviewed tomorrow.

'The Bargain' Leans Heavily Upon the Cast

"Friends and Lovers" Has Similar Nature.

"THE BARGAIN."

Produced by Warner Brothers. Directed by Robert Milton. Presented at Orpheum, Stratford, Norshore, Regal, and Congress theaters.

THE CAST.

Maitland White.....Lewis Stone
Veronica .....Evelyn Knapp
Jeffrey .....Charles Butterworth
Nancy .....Doris Kenyon
Roderick White.....John Darrow
G. P. Warren.....Oscar Apfel
Etta .....Una Merkel

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

"The Bargain" struck me as being a meandering and pointless picture. It wouldn't hold the interest at all were the cast composed of less able players. Doris Kenyon, Lewis Stone, Charles Butterworth, Una Merkel—all names to reckon with! John Darrow, a pleasing youth, contributes his bit of pull. Open mouthed Evelyn Knapp, thought by some to be one of the most promising of the screen's younger actresses, is no favorite of mine—but she works hard.

The story has to do with the Maitland Whites, their son, and his fiancée, Mr. White, who has always yearned to paint, had, upon marrying, put art aside for economic reasons, and gone into the soap business. He would keep his son, who has leanings toward architecture, from following in his steps, although his marriage has been far from an unhappy one. Mrs. White's endeavor to make up to her Maitland for what he has sacrificed, and the fiancée's reactions, keep the pot of action boiling—slowly.

Technically the film's okay, but I'm afraid it will ease into history as "just another movie."

"FRIENDS AND LOVERS."

Produce by RKO. Directed by Victor Schertzinger. Presented at the Palace theater.

THE CAST.

Capt. Roberts.....Adolphe Menjou
Alva Sangrito.....Lily Damita
Lieut. Nichols.....Lawrence Olivier
Victor Sangrito.....Erich von Stroheim
McNeills .....Hugh Herbert
Gen. Armstrong.....Frederick Kerr
Lady Allen.....Blanche Frideriel
Ivanoff .....Vadim Uraneff
Non Conn.....Lal Chand Mehra
French maid.....Yvonne D'Arcy
French barmaid.....Kay Deslys
English barmaid.....Dorothy Wolbert

Here's another mediocre movie just trying to get along.

Like "The Bargain," it is long on players and short on story. The former are not especially well cast. Adolphe Menjou, for instance, is much more convincing as a French boulevardier than as an English officer. Eric von Stroheim, of military mold, officiates in a blackmailing rôle that is far from worthy of his skill. The story is so far-fetched and tiresome that after a reel or so has unwound audiences start to wriggle and cough and laugh in the wrong places.

See you soon.

Woman's City Club Offers Lecture Series About Use of Ballots

Mrs. George Bass, who has accepted the chairmanship of the citizenship department of the Woman's City club, yesterday announced the first of a series of programs under those auspices.

At a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock Friday at the Woman's City club rooms, 6 North Michigan avenue, the initial gathering will be held with Prof. Charles E. Merriam, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Rabbi Louis L. Mann, and Miss Harriet Vittum speaking on the topic, "Men, Women, and the Ballot."

Later in the season, Mrs. Bass indicated, two speakers of national political importance will be brought to Chicago by the department to discuss the theme, "Twilight of the Parties." One will be high in the Republican ranks and the other, an outstanding Democrat. Another topic in prospect for the winter's calendar is "If a Party, Which?" The meeting on that occasion, it is planned, will be turned into an open forum, in line with the tendency of the committee to look into the future for its subjects.

Old Time Raising to Restore Oldest of Monroe County Homes

Monroe, Mich., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Farmers and villagers of Monroe county are to hold an old fashioned house raising to replace the oldest house in the county, which was destroyed by fire Saturday night. The house was owned by Colton Ulysses Stow Clark, 79 years old, and was built for a sister of Zachary Taylor, President of the United States. It has been occupied by Mr. Clark since 1871. For the last fifty years he has lived alone.

The house was filled with priceless relics which had been sought for years by historical societies and by individuals.

Dead Vulture Seems to Fly Against Wind

Aviation Enthusiast Tells of Theories.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Demonstrating an invention which apparently defies the laws of physics, J. H. Montgomery of San Gabriel, Cal., in his laboratory at 115 West 7th street, sent a dead vulture flying head-on into an electrically produced thirty-five mile gale, the bird at times lifting clear of the tracks a four pound carriage to which it was attached.

After twenty years of study of the flight of birds and of the construction of their wings, Mr. Montgomery claims to have discovered what he and his associates hope to establish as a new principle in aviation, which, it is believed, will revolutionize the science of flying.

"In the wings of every soaring bird is a true power plant, with which the bird has nothing whatever to do further than his ability to control it," Mr. Montgomery said. "Contrary to the prevalent view of scientists, birds do not fly by taking advantage of air currents, but their power to soar is due to the structure of their pinions, which are filled with thousands of vortices which catch the air.

"In other words, the law of vortex and vacuum is the principle which enables the bird to soar. Nature steps in and endeavors to close the vacua by lifting the bird into them."

According to Montgomery, the same principle by which birds soar could be applied to a new type of airship which would require no motor, but could be regulated to fly at any speed up to 350 miles an hour.

"For thousands of years man has believed that a bird, by will and intelligence, has flown by taking advantage of air currents," Mr. Montgomery said. "The explanation has been fallacious, as I have proved by compelling a dead bird to fly. It is true that the bird, by control of its feathers, flies at the speed it desires, and, by controlling its 'lead' feathers, controls the direction of flight, but that which makes flight possible is in the mechanical construction of the wings. Turn back the bird's feathers and break up the vortices and there can be no flight."

Plan Show for the German Old People's Home

The junior auxiliary of Altenheim (German Old People's Home) will present "The Family Album," a series of tableaux, by members in historic costumes, on Friday evening at the Germania club. Mrs. Stanley O'Connell is president of the auxiliary.

Farmers Stop Sheep Raising; Claim Loss from Raids by Dogs

As one drives through the colorful countryside northwest of Chicago these days, the noticeable absence of flocks of sheep in farm areas adjacent to cities becomes apparent. Particularly was this brought out yesterday in a tour of McHenry county, Illinois.

Up to a few years ago some farmers persisted in keeping their flocks. Their actual value as foragers and in cleaning up the fields and farmsteads makes such flocks desirable on any farm. But C. W. Harvey, farm adviser at Woodstock, says he doesn't know a farmer in the county, except a few in a small northeast area, who now maintains more than a handful of sheep.

Significant in this depopulation is the tremendous increase in number of large dogs, capable of serious losses for the sheep owner. On the James McMurray farm, known as Oakbrae farms, east of Algonquin, a flock was maintained up to four or five years ago. Since dispensing of the sheep the caretaker who was capable of handling sheep has been moved to another property of the same ownership.

Another mile east, on the Spencer Otis farms, a flock of some 260 sheep had resisted the onslaught of killing dogs up to three or four years ago. The caretaker on this farm reported yesterday the last indemnity claim had just been collected from the county this year.

25 Boy Scouts Win Heroism Prizes; 4 to Get Gold Medals

New York, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Awards for heroism to twenty-five Boy Scouts were announced today by Daniel Carter Beard, national scout commissioner and chairman of the national court of honor.

Four received gold medals for outstanding deeds of valor. They were: Leonard R. Hardy, 16, Highlands, N. J.; Trafton T. Buchanan, 15, Renovo, Pa.; George L. Nelson, 30, assistant scoutmaster, Long Beach Cal.; and Gerald Barbeau, 24, scoutmaster, Pasadena, Cal.

Hardy saved Emily Armstrong and Henry Horback from drowning. Barbeau, handicapped by the effects of infantile paralysis, saved John Carawan, 8, at Arch Beach, Laguna, Cal., by administering first aid while still swimming at a distance from shore, a factor which made it possible for physicians to resuscitate the boy later.

Buchanan, just learning to swim, saved a boy of 3 in the swirling current of the flooded Susquehanna river.

Nelson rescued a girl swimmer at Long Beach, Cal., under trying conditions.

Twenty-one certificates of heroism were awarded. Among them were: Edgar T. Gisson, Springfield; Carl Detering, Lansing, Mich.; Ralph Cornell, Ossian, Ia.; and Philip Duckworth, Paragon, Ind.

Society's Gems, Gowns Add to Opera Setting

Boxes Glitter as Singers Are Applauded.

BY MILDRED JAKLON.

The 1931 opening of the opera season last night was as glamorous and brilliant a première as there has been in many years. The display of furs, jewels, and the lustrous fabrics of the new gowns and wraps was colorful and gorgeous. There was great festivity in the box tiers and during the gay promenades in the foyers between the acts. Enthusiasm for the performance ran high, and the good spirits of the audience augured well for the gayety of the new winter season.

The fashions were distinctly varied and interesting, with numerous novelties of the mode to be noted. Metal brocade wraps have gone into the discard and long trailing velvet cloaks of deep purple and wine reds with deep sable collars are worn.

Contrast of Black Velvet and Ermine Among Features.

Black velvet and ermine wraps were numerous. There also were many luxurious capes and wraps of sable and ermine. Pearl necklaces and diamond earrings seemed to be the most favored jewels, and satin in pastel shades and sheer velvet in darker tints the most popular fabrics.

During the intermission there was a gay concentration of visiting in the lower box tier. Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick's box in the midst of the box row was the center of much sociability, as also was that of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull at the end of the row.

Mrs. McCormick was wearing a gown of ivory satin and diamond and pearl pendent earrings. Her guests included Mrs. Nevins Johnson wearing coral chiffon and pearls; Mrs. Walter Borden, in green metal cloth and wearing pearls; Lawrence M. Viles, Edwin D. Krenn, and Col. George Voevodsky. With Mr. and Mrs. Insull were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Field and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe. Mrs. Insull's gown was of silver brocade and she wore a rope of pearls and diamond earrings.

Mrs. Field was in ivory satin with shoulder straps of diamente, and a pearl and diamond necklace, and Mrs. Schweppe wore white satin with silver ornamentation on the shoulders.

Mrs. George A. McKinlock wore a gown of jade green velvet with a matching wrap with a deep V-shaped collar and a pearl necklace and earrings. In Chicago after a long absence, she received many callers, as did Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, recently returned from their four years' residence in Poland, who were attending their first opera in the new opera house. Mrs. Dewey was wearing blue and mulberry changeable taffeta with blue tulle.

Mrs. Jacob Baur, who promenaded between acts with her daughter, Miss Rosemary Baur, and the latter's fiancé, Bartie Bull, wore a gown of white faconne satin with a V-back with black velvet revers, and Miss Baur wore a pale rose crepé gown with a pointed cape collar and deeper rose fringe trimming, and a rose velvet wrap.

More About Society Notables and Gowns They Wore.

Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick, who came in with Mrs. Baur, wore an aquamarine satin gown with bead embroidery.

The new interpretations of the mode in decolletage were among the most interesting of the style features. Mrs. Charles Hines' raisin brown taffeta frock had a Chanel "harness back" and she wore matching suede gloves. Mrs. Borden's metal cloth had what the stylists call an "overall" back with twisted straps of the fabric forming a double V.

Mrs. Henry Field's French blue satin dress also had an overall back and a cluster of scarlet feather flowers at the waistline in the back. Mrs. Barrett Wendell Jr.'s ivory velvet gown had a deep V back with a strap across the shoulders, a circular train, and it was trimmed with sapphire blue velvet flowers and a sapphire velvet girdle. Mrs. John Wentworth's gown of opalescent baguette sequins with a full skirt and a low U shaped back, and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed's classically simple ivory crêpe gown with a cowl neck and a graceful bow and sash terminating the V back were among the notable costumes.

On the main floor were Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, who arrived yesterday from the east; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker and Arthur Meeker Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Ludwig Baum, Mrs. Baum wearing a handsome gown of raisin velvet with a cascade of ruffles and train; Mrs. R. R. McCormick, Mrs. Henry Hooper

BY EDWARD MOORE.

IT was hard to see any signs of depression when the Civic Opera company began its tenth season last night. On one side of the footlights was a stirring melodrama with a setting of Puccini's most stirring and most melodramatic music, and a superb cast with two debuts therein; on the other was a crowded house, colorful costumes, flashing jewels, and, once the opera had begun, a striking air of gayety. On the outside of the Civic Opera house were more expensive looking automobiles than you are likely to find outside of an automobile show.

What with one thing and another the opera really began to look like opera in the old times—old times referring to something more than two years ago—when the opening of the season meant good cheer. At that, one sometimes fears that an animated flow of spirits is a bit checked by the opera house itself, or, more particularly, its lighting system. For the illumination of the auditorium may be artistic, even comforting, but it is well suppressed, and patrons last night talked in low tones, almost whispers, while the house was being filled. After the performance began, however, it was of a kind to let enthusiasm run unconstrained.

Of the two debuts, one was a leading tenor, the other, at least in this cast, of a secondary contralto. Mr. Kiepura, who made his first appearance in America in this performance, appeared as Mario Cavaradossi; Miss Ornstein sang the brief notes of the shepherd at the beginning of the third act, and sang them very well, too.

Mr. Kiepura, unless all signs fail, is going to be popular before he finishes his engagement here. He is young, he has a voice of striking charm, he is better looking than any male person has a right to be, unless perchance he is a leading tenor. Apparently he has everything for a hit of large proportions.

Further Comments on New Tenor's Debut Here.

Of course, if you are inclined to cavil you can say that he becomes overly fond of the sound of that voice when he meets with a sustained high note or that he permits a cameo profile and a beaming smile to do some of the things for him that most other artists try to do with the art of acting. But why cavil? Minor operatic frailties of that sort seldom interfere with the effectiveness of a performance. What is more to the point is that he gave a frank, highly melodious performance, and not the less attractive because it was youthful.

With the many virtues of Miss Muzio in the same part and Mr. Vanni-Marcoux as Scarpia in this opera the city has been in past years better acquainted, Miss Muzio with her uncanny and never failing insight into what can be projected from singing actress on the stage to audience in the house, Mr. Vanni-Marcoux who uses his voice for the purpose of conveying dramatic emotion rather than conventional singing tones and is generally successful in making one forget the absence of sensuous song when he does it. I have never seen them better than or as good as they were last night. Their long scene of the second act was fairly a struggle of giants.

Neither of them for a moment lose sight of the fact that "La Tosca," as the opera company calls it, "Tosca," according to other authorities, is a piece of clever, artificial theatricalism, yet they manage to develop an enormous wave of fervid emotion over it.

Vanni-Marcoux as Scarpia Is Complete Opera Villain.

Mr. Vanni-Marcoux presents Scarpia without the faintest trace of morals, which is as it should be, yet with good manners and graceful bearing, which a great many other baritones seem to forget all about. And Miss Muzio, charming the ear with "Vissi d'Arte" one moment, slaughtering Scarpia with great violence in another, was his dramatic match. You should see her as she steals out of the room after the murder, fascinated eyes held by the recumbent body, while the Scarpia theme softly dies away in the orchestra. This is real opera.

In only one respect could one have wished the performance changed. That was that Vittorio Trevisan should still be a member of the company. Had there been no chance of comparison, Mr. Baccaloni would have got by fairly well. But who, having seen Mr. Trevisan's sacristan, can ever forget the marvelous figure he made, or how definitely he made himself a part of the plot. It was the difference between something pretty good and something perfect. On the other hand, another small part, that of Spoletta, was given a perfect performance by Mr. Dua.

"Tosca" is comparatively brief, and there was a ballet, "Chopiniana" later in the evening. But the dead line began to call, wherefore one hopes that the pleasure of seeing it was merely deferred, not lost. At that, the time of beginning on the program should have read 8:15 o'clock instead of 8. Had it really been 8, this account might have had an addition.

Wise Parents Guard Against Exploiting Child's Good Points

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

"What a lovely child—and so unconscious!" is one of the nicest double barreled compliments any one can pay. It is double barreled in that it's a compliment to the child and to its parents, too.

There is also a double barreled reason for wanting children to be unself-conscious. One reason is that it makes a child much more attractive to be so. The other and more important reason is that the child who is natural is much more free than the one who is not. Self-consciousness becomes to some, as they grow up, a real handicap and to some even a form of torture.

Whether a child is free from self-consciousness or not is the doing of its parents, and the other grownups who have much contact with him. Primarily, though, it is the mother and father who set the pace. They can take an attitude which will be followed by their relatives and friends.

If they are wise, they will avoid talking about the child's appearance before him except in the most casual way. They will avoid discussing their child's behavior in his presence.

They will not make capital of his attainments. Praise given at the right time is needed, but limelight and the center of the stage are quite another story.

There is a happy medium between ignoring and exploiting. It is well to avoid elocution so called, and artificial forms of dancing, as well as public appearances and publicity. Where the two latter seem necessary because of genius, a child should be carefully protected.

Talking to a child in a friendly way about things of interest to him helps to keep him unconscious. It has an entirely different effect from talking to others about him. With a little judgment a mother can keep her child natural and when relatives and friends are around so control the situation that they will take their cue from her and not spoil her good work.

NEW YORK OPERA OPENS WITH 4,000 HEARING 'TRAVIATA'

New York, Nov. 2.—(AP)—The fashionable world and his wife, together with other opera lovers from laborer to magnate, turned out tonight to make the 47th opening of the Metropolitan Opera company the most impressive in history.

More than 4,000 persons—an even larger crowd than last year—packed into the old Metropolitan to hear Rosa Ponselle and a great cast sing the florid arias of Verdi's "La Traviata."

Standees, who had waited for tickets in a queue that stretched half way around the huge structure, stood six deep applauding vigorously and enjoying the spectacle.

In the dazzling "golden horseshoe" boxes the élite of the metropolis sat. Such names as Vanderbilt, Astor, Morgan, and Harriman were heard as the rows of seats filled and the lights went out in the gilded and red carpeted auditorium.

When, at the end of the first act the striking solo "Sempre Libera" had echoed and died over the hushed house, a torrent of applause broke and Miss Ponselle was recalled eight times before the curtain.

A feature of the opening week will be the performance of Mr. Gatti's first novelty of the season, a Czech folk opera called "Schwanda the Bagpiper."

Dean of Corean College Will Speak Here Monday

Dr. Helen Kim, dean of Ewha college in Seoul, the only woman's college in Corea, is to speak at an open meeting at 2 o'clock next Monday afternoon in the assembly room of the Eleanor club in the Stevens building. Mrs. Raymond G. Kimbell is to preside. Dr. Kim was a delegate from Corea to the last general confernece of the Methodist Episcopal church, has represented the Corean people at the Institute of Pacific Relations three times, and was an outstanding figure in the great Jerusalem conference in 1928.

Even Sports Ensembles Take on Romantic Airs

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Even sports outfits are not immune from the influence of the empire period. Paris is putting romance even in our more prosaic moments. Along with bustles, lace petticoats, and ruffles, the new Paris sports ensemble steps out softened and relaxed. But that doesn't mean your sports ensemble is no longer going to be a sports ensemble. It is just as practical as ever with none of its comfortable modern features deleted.

In the sketch today you will see this slightly altered sports outfit. Jane Regny designed it. This two piece ensemble is in a soft thin jersey, which is embroidered in a tiny floral motif. It is in a bright royal blue. The hip length jacket, which is sleeveless, as you can see, has a U neck. This is cut very low, almost half way to the waist, to permit the sweater to show beneath. This U neckline is outlined by two bands of fine stitching, which continue down the front of the jacket.

Four buttons are placed in the center front, but these have no active duty, as the jacket slips over the head. There are two slit pockets at the sides, about two inches wide, which also show the sweater beneath. The jacket is beltless and indents slightly at the waist.

The skirt is slightly longer than the average sports skirt, as many of them are, when intended for spectator wear. It has three narrow box plaits at the center front, three inches below the waistband, which gives it its fullness.

The sweater takes its sleeves from those new old Empress Eugénie styles and become full at the elbow ending in a tight band at the wrist. A soft jersey, woven in a lace pattern, makes this sweater, with its alternating stripes of pale blue and white, which gradually widen, as they advance from top to bottom.

A FRIEND IN NEED

The mother of the two babies is without a warm wrap for the winter, as is her mother who has an incurable case of tuberculosis but is able to be up. They need a coat size 38 and another size 40, and any other clothing you may be able to get for them. Neighbors feed them but are not able to do more. D. R."

Winter will mean the greatest of suffering for these needy people if we cannot provide them with warm and adequate clothing. Anything in their sizes which you may have to give will be appreciated.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Discovery of Tree Retreat.

Last summer while hunting blueberries in a nearby wood, I became lost and climbed a tree to get my bearings. Just then a party of picnickers came that way and sat down under my tree to rest. All would have been well if I hadn't been obliged to cough. Of course every one of them simultaneously glanced up to where I was perched among the branches.

Natural Eyebrow Is Best Accompaniment to Platinum Blond

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

I caught a note in one of the society columns the other day telling of the return of deputantes and subdebs from their country homes. Comment was made on the number of these young society women who'd turned platinum blond on their vacation.

Mary Garden returns with her flaming locks of last season turned blond.

Hollywood, of course, went platinum or blond some time ago. And girls, everywhere you go these days and nights, indicate that heads are easily turned from red, brown and raven into the pale tints that suggest moonlight nights, orchids and men to provide.

As they announced at the beauty congress held recently in New York, platinum blonds are in and plucked eyebrows are out. Whether the intention is associating the moonbeam hair with the nonplucked eyebrow was deliberate or not, I don't know. But so it may be read into the minutes.

A platinum blond with plucked eyebrows is a different looking girl than a p. b. with natural eyebrows [or naturalized with the right style makeup]. The plucked eyebrows never did do right by any type of beauty—but they're incongruously out of place with that hair coloring that needs soft, fresh, unsophisticated charm.

Now, it isn't going to be a bright idea if older women take to this platinum hair shade. Here and there you may find a mature one of the hair-tinting sex who has managed to retain the youthful charm of skin and throat to carry it off. But only here and there! In between there will be scads of women who'd be better off showing the locks in their natural turning stage.

And there'll be young women, too, who'll do better for themselves clinging to their natural hair beauty. Girls who are not petite, girls who are not svelte and tall, girls who are in no way distinguished of dress—these should pass up the platinum temptation as just one of those things that don't agree with their constitution, as acid fruits or too much ice cream.

Destroy a used handkerchief!
It's possible with new* KLEENEX
Disposable Tissues

HANDKERCHIEFS are repulsive enough when used during colds, as every sensitive person knows. But that is not the worst about them.

Germs by millions are concentrated in a single handkerchief! Germs that do not die, but live and grow; for damp handkerchiefs, kept in pockets at body temperature, are ideal for breeding dangerous organisms.

Thus your own handkerchief is a constant source of danger. You must expect repeated self-infection if you use it over and over.

Use Kleenex and destroy

How much more cleanly is Kleenex, a handkerchief to use and destroy! A handkerchief that costs less than laundering alone . . . that is infinitely softer than cotton or linen. Made of rayon-cellulose, Kleenex is so velvet-soft, so marvelously absorbent, that it never irritates.

Many uses for Kleenex!

Try Kleenex for removing face creams, for polishing spectacles, wiping razor blades, applying medicines and ointments. Mothers find it invaluable in keeping babies fresh and clean. Ask for Kleenex at any drug, dry goods or department store.

Smart, attractive package

The attractive Kleenex package keeps contents clean and sanitary, while permitting you to remove tissues easily as needed.

KLEENEX Disposable TISSUES

Germ-filled handkerchiefs are a menace to society!

SEE SPOTS AND STAINS VANISH instantly... Watch the lecturer in the Cooking School perform this magic with Clorox

Visit the Cooking School this week. You will come away with the dread of many mean housekeeping jobs gone forever!

Watch the lecturer remove ruinous spots and stains—ink, berry, medicine—from white cottons and linens. Watch her whiten discolored wood. Watch her cleanse and disinfect porcelain and enamel kitchen ware and sickroom equipment.

Hear what she has to say about removing scorched spots and mildew—about destroying odors and killing germs. Clorox is a remarkable product because it both cleanses and disinfects in one easy operation.

But watch the demonstrator work—and ask her advice—she will tell you many, many ways to make your housekeeping easier with Clorox.

PLAY-A-PROBLEM

Play this hand tonight at your bridge game. Keep a record of the bid and play in the spaces provided. Numbers in the bidding squares are for successive rounds. Check your results with tomorrow's answer.

To play "Solitaire": Record the bids you think each hand would make in the bidding squares. After the final declaration has been made start the play, leading from the hand at declarer's left. As you play each card, cross it off of the diagram and record it in the proper square, as N. S. H.K. etc. In the last column indicate the hand which won the round and kept from that hand on the next round.

Countess Here Today on Way to Visit Ranch

BY THALIA——

It's ages and ages since the erst-while Theresa Higginson has been in Chicago, and I don't believe a her husband, Count Giangiulio Rucellai, ever has been here, so it's too bad that they're only going to stop off today in between trains on their way to Arizona.

They've been with Countess Rucellai's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Higginson, at the Ledge in Lenox, Mass., for the last month, and are going west to visit Mrs. Higginson's sister, Mrs. Joel McMurray, at Mule Shoe ranch near Willcox. Today they'll spend the few hours before their 6 o'clock train with Countess Rucellai's good friend, Mrs. Darrow Bruce Fulton, and they will make a longer stay with the Fultons on their way back east some time before the Christmas holidays. The Higginsons' other son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John H. P. Gould, have closed their villa, Mahkeenac Farm at Stockbridge in the Berkshires, and are staying at the Ledge for a few days before going to New York for the winter.

Miss Chicagoans Return for Winter's Social Season.

It's almost as though some invisible social dictator checked off a fashionable roll call when the opera opens. Very nearly everybody who intends to participate in the winter's social scheme is back in town and has a full calendar of memoranda indicating the countless things he has to do and places he has to go. The travelers who tarry in other places later than the majority of fashionables arrive just for the first week of opera, and those who have stayed at their country places through the fall move into town to open their city abodes or "take a place" for the season.

Mrs. C. Morse Ely landed from her European travels the other day on the La Fayette and got into town yesterday, and Madame Cardelli was also an arrival of yesterday. Her son, Count Giovanni Cardelli, is now in New York City. His marriage to Miss Jacqueline Stewart, daughter of Countess Raoul de Roussy de Sales of Paris and Cecil Parker Stewart of New York City, was to have taken place in Paris shortly after the engagement was announced in December, but is now planned, I understand, for next month.

Of the late movers in there are Mr. and Mrs. C. Frederick Childs and Miss Madeleine Newell, who are to occupy for the winter months the apartment at 900 North Michigan avenue that the Howard Eltings had. Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson closed her Lake Forest house a few days ago, and has moved into her residence at 38 Banks street. Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw and the John T. McCutcheons are moving in this week to their respective apartments at 2450 Lake View avenue, and the Clay Judsons to theirs at 2256 Lincoln Park, West. They all stayed out in Lake Forest later than usual to welcome the Charles T. Atkinsons back from their round the world trip. Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Dickinson have taken an apartment at "900" too, and moved in from Lake Forest yesterday.

Formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Mary Penfield to Waldo Morgan Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hubert Allen of Hubbard Woods, was made by Miss Penfield's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Chapin Penfield of Evanston, at a tea they gave for their daughter on Sunday afternoon. Miss Penfield is a graduate of Northwestern university, and Mr. Allen was graduated from Yale with the class of 1916. No date has been set for the wedding.

Lecture on Russia Today; Miss Dickinson's Debut Today.

Miss Gertrude Ely of Philadelphia, who is to tell about "Seeing Russia with Bernard Shaw" under the auspices of the League of Women Voters at the Casino at 5 o'clock this afternoon, arrived yesterday and is Mrs. William G. Hibbard's guest during her short stay in Chicago. Mrs. George A. Richardson gave a luncheon out in Lake Forest for Miss Ely yesterday, and Mrs. Hibbard entertained at a dinner for her last evening.

Today she and Mrs. Hibbard hope to find time to go and see the Century of Progress exposition buildings, and she has to leave right after the lecture. Mrs. Ralph Winston, Mrs. Scott Linn, Mrs. Quincy Wright, Mrs. Grant Laing, and Mrs. Gerhardt Meyne are the committee taking charge of the details for the talk. Tickets can be purchased at the Casino door.

Some of the "things-to-do" and "places-to-go" today and in the near future. . . . The debut tea Mr. and Mrs. William Woodbridge Dickinson are giving at the Fortnightly this afternoon for their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Dickinson, to be followed by a dinner given by the debutante's aunt, Mrs. Max Hoffmann, at the Casino and a theater party for her and her assistants. . . . The English Speaking union's 10th anniversary dinner at the Blackstone this evening with Dr. George E. Vincent and Alfred E. Johns, secretary of the British union, as special guests . . . the Chicago College club's benefit for the joint emergency relief fund, a talk by Mary Hastings Bradley on "Black Kings of Africa" at the Drake on Thursday evening [Mrs. Joseph L. Valentine, Mrs. Ward Castle, and Mrs. Cyrus Mark are to be hostesses] . . . a private reading of a new play by Helen Walton at the Playwright theater's new room in the Illinois Women's Athletic club on Thursday evening . . . the Princess der Ling lecture and tea at Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick's on Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Drama league, with Mrs. Townsend McKeever, Mrs. Clarence Hough, and Mrs. Stuart Logan assisting Mrs. William E. Wright to receive . . . an informal social hour to be given by the Woman's National Republican club for its president, Mrs. Jacob Baur, on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 17, at Zeisler hall in the Chicago Woman's club.

Notes—A marriage license was issued yesterday to Bartle Bull and Miss Rosemary Baur, who are to be married at St. Chrysostom's on Saturday afternoon. . . . Mrs. Margaret Grover Tagmose, who gave a series of concerts at Charlevoix and the Harbor Point club during the past summer, has returned to Chicago and is residing at 244 East Pearson street. Her mother, Mrs. Thomas D. Grover, is living at the Seneca hotel. . . . Miss Frieda Foltz is to be in charge of a "studio" in connection with the Piccadilly in the Fine Arts building, and the opening is to be a fashion show and tea on Friday afternoon next. Walter Fraser is decorating the studio and Mrs. Lyell Ritchie is to work with Miss Foltz.

SPONSOR

MRS. C. S. DEWEY.
[Moffett-Russell Photo.]

Mrs. Charles S. Dewey was recently elected a member of the board of directors of the Illinois League of Women Voters. The league is sponsoring a talk by Miss Gertrude Ely on "Seeing Russia with Bernard Shaw" this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Casino.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover today attended the first concert of the National Symphony orchestra, composed of Washington musicians and conducted by Hans Kindler, formerly of Holland and now living in Washington.

The concert was given this afternoon in Constitution hall and Mrs. Hoover had with her Mrs. William Howard Taft, Mrs. Warren Olney Jr. of California and Mrs. Stark McMullin.

The secretary of state and Mrs. H. L. Stimson returned this afternoon from Long Island where they spent the week-end in their home, Highold.

Miss Mary Ingraham Henry, daughter of the chief of cavalry, United States army, and Mrs. Guy V. Henry were hostesses at luncheon today at the National Woman's Country club in honor of Miss Clara Bolling, niece of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, whose marriage to Harry R. Fowler will take place Saturday.

The marriage of Miss Anne Butler, daughter of Mr. Justice and Mrs. Pierce Butler, to Edward K. Dunn of Baltimore will take place Tuesday, Nov. 24, in the bride's home. Invitations went out today for the reception following the ceremony, which will be witnessed only by members of the families and the closest friends.

Presbyterians Deny Science Upsets Religion

Carbondale, Ill., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—To combat what is termed godless learning and intellectual pride through Christian education with the slogan "God's facts do not contradict God's word" the fourth of a series of men's conventions being held in Illinois closed here today. The series is under the auspices of the national board of Christian education of the Presbyterian Church of America.

Sermons which had for their keynote "Attacks Upon the Misconception of Learning That Is Hostile to Faith" were given by the Rev. Dr. Clair Boyd Gahanen of Chicago, associate director of men's work, and by the Rev. Earl Morgan of Decatur, field representative for the board of Christian education.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt had a party for luncheon at the Central Park Casino yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Watson gave a dinner in the terraced restaurant of the Plaza tonight and took their guests to the opera.

Mrs. William Payne Thompson has returned from Europe where she passed the summer and continued some of her art studies in Paris.

Mrs. William Gerrish Beale returned from Bar Harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Fraser of 823 Park avenue will introduce their daughter, Miss Janet Armitage Fraser, at a dinner dance, Dec. 18.

Chicagoan Sails.

New York, Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Albert R. Windust of Chicago sailed for Europe on board the American export liner Excalibur today.

Plans Charity Card Party.

Father James Walsh of the Sacred Heart Roman Catholic church, 815 West 19th street, announced yesterday that a card party for the benefit of the needy in his parish will be held on Nov. 7 at the Trianon ballroom.

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams.

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight.")

Few people, I believe, would seek an opportunity to jump 5,000 feet in a parachute. Yet, if they were up in a plane a few thousand feet and that plane caught fire a parachute would be a very welcome addition to the party.

When there is only one chance and all other avenues of escape are closed, the one and only loses most of its horrors. Anyway, that is what South thought when he originally played yesterday's Play a Problem. Here was the hand:

NORTH.
♥—5,3
♦—A,Q,J,9,7,6,5,4,2
♣—None

WEST (Dealer). EAST.
♠—A,J,7,5 ♠—K,8
♥—K,Q,10,6,4 ♥—A,J,9,7
♦—K,10 ♦—8,3
♣—4,3 ♣—A,K,10,8,5

SOUTH.
♠—Q,10,9,6,3
♥—8,2
♦—None
♣—Q,J,9,7,4,2

West opened with one heart. North attempted to shut out by calling four diamonds. East raised to four hearts and South, West and North passed.

North's hand was of the most obvious preemptive type. It was worthless for any declaration but diamonds. Yet after North's attempted shutout failed it would have been almost foolhardy to rebid the hand. North is sure to lose four tricks and if the ♦ K is on the wrong side of him, or his partner holds no diamonds, he will lose five tricks.

North's opening lead was the ♦ A. East [dummy] played the 3. South saw as soon as the dummy went down that North could have neither high spades [West must have held the ♠ A for a one heart bid] nor high hearts [West must hold K and Q] nor high clubs.

North then made his bid on a very long diamond suit of at least eight cards and probably nine. If South allowed his partner's to take and then trumped the next diamond lead, what was South to lead back? Obviously the one chance of stopping game was to find North void of either spades or clubs. With North's long diamond suit he might well be void in some other. Since South saw eleven clubs between his hand and dummy he thought clubs were apt to be North's void suit, if North had one.

But if he waited until the second lead of diamonds to trump and then led back clubs, even if North could trump, the partnership would make only three tricks, which would not stop game. For West could take anything that North might lead to the fourth trick and take his game without further ado.

There was just one chance. It was an awful chance, too, since the odds were even that North would slaughter him on the spot, but he decided to take it. He trumped his partner's A.

If North was without clubs, North and South could take in two trump tricks each before relinquishing the lead.

North was without clubs. He recovered sufficiently from the shock to put his 3 of trumps on his partner's club lead. He then returned a diamond, South trumped with his 8, led another club, which North trumped with his 5 and the game was over.

Simple—yes. But very effective.

I will admit, however, that with many partners I would have prefered to have given East and West the game than to take the chance of trumping that A.

PLAY-A-PROBLEM: SOLITAIRE OR PARTNERS

Play this hand tonight at your bridge game. Keep a record of the bid and play as you think each hand would make in the bidding squares. After the final declaration has been made start the play. Then time the hand at declarer's left. As you play each card, cross it off at the diagram and record it in the proper square, as 3, 5, K10, etc. In the last column indicate the hand which won the round and how. Lead from hand on the next round.

The Marriage Racket

By VINA DELMAR

SYNOPSIS.

Irma Corbin, while playing in vaudeville in Thrace, an upstate New York town, is showered with invitations by Bill Fitzroy, friend of her pianist, and Wallace Graham, a widower friend of Bill's. Wallace asks Irma to be his wife. Bill's proposal to her is of a different nature. Irma marries Wallace and leads a dull existence as his wife. Wallace's young daughter, Mildred, and his aunt live with them. A son is born to Irma. He becomes the center of her universe. Wallace and Irma go on a trip to Europe. Irma worries continually about the baby. They meet Russell Byrnes, a wealthy bachelor from New York who has a cabin on a boat sailing in two days, which Irma persuades him to sell to Wallace. Back in Thrace they find the baby well, but Mildred planning a eugenic marriage with Scott Avery. Wallace appoints Irma to guard her. Mildred eludes her guard and elopes with Scott. Wallace and Irma quarrel. Irma decides her marriage is a fiasco and takes the baby to New York. She gets an engagement dancing in a night club where she meets Russell Byrnes.

INSTALLMENT XXXVIII.

A MISTRESS.

Dear Irma:

I suppose this letter is a surprise to you. When you saw my writing on the envelope you either said, O for God's sake, a letter from Wallace; or else you bit your lip and trembled a little. Be at ease, dear girl, this is not an unpleasant letter. At least, I hope not. I have worked hard over it trying to make it read like a letter from an interested friend. I have tried to forget everything except my solicitude for your happiness, both present and future.

To begin with, I have heard—never mind from whom—that you are living with Russell Byrnes. I recall him vividly. He is not more than thirty-six or so and unusually handsome, yet I cannot believe that you are in love with him. Perhaps I am wrong, but I can't picture you in love.

If I know you at all you have been worrying about what steps I'd take if I heard of your arrangement with Byrnes. I want to assure you right here and now that I will take no steps. You have been worrying because you know that a law court would call you an unfit guardian for the baby. I believe otherwise. No matter what you were doing I would still believe that the baby was safe with you. Nobody in the world knows better than I how crazy you are about him. I would as soon contemplate killing you as taking the baby away from you.

And your love for him is what has prompted this letter. Have you considered the future? Surely, the opinion of your son will mean something to you. When he is a man he will look back and recall your way of living. What will he think? Have you asked yourself this question?

You will think that because I am your husband and because I am of a small town that such thoughts are only natural for me. They would be natural for any one who highly regarded the future happiness of yourself and your son. It is not a far off future, either. While still a child he will ask you questions that you cannot answer and the mothers of his schoolmates will do their best to make you both unhappy.

She felt isolated.

Stop and think, Irma. Is the game worth the candle? If you think it is, then I hope that the game brings you much enjoyment and happiness and that you never have cause to regret that you played.

Affectionately yours,

WALLACE.

Dear Wallace:

It was nice of you to write in so friendly a manner. I appreciate it deeply. Also I appreciate the nice things you said about trusting me with the baby.

But I am not living with Russell Byrnes. Russell Byrnes lives at his club as he always did. I am not trying to deny that there is a very substantial basis for the story that you heard. I will try to be truthful and give you a clear picture of how baby and I live. We have a penthouse. It is very beautiful and very quiet and the air is clear up here. We live alone with a French nursery governess and a colored cook. There is a girl who comes in to do the cleaning. The entire life of the place revolves around the baby's comfort. There is a child's specialist who comes once a week to examine him and last month when he had chicken pox—God alone knows where he got them—he had a day and a night nurse till he was well again. So much for baby's physical life. You can see that he's well taken care of.

Now let me turn to the matter of what his opinion of me will be. First of all, Russell Byrnes has yet to enter this apartment alone in all the six months I've lived here. If your impressions of what my life is like are gathered from the movies, let me assure you that Russell has no key to my home. He does not order our servants about nor does he keep a dressing gown here. Certainly, he comes here. He comes to tea or dinner but always with other people. He is no more oustanding a figure on the baby's horizon than a dozen other men and women who come here. I wish I had a pen expressive enough to banish the picture which must be in your mind. I know you see Russell lounging about here—perhaps in dressing gown—reading his paper and ordering the baby to be quiet. Believe me, such is not the case. Russell Byrnes knows that the minute he makes a move to destroy the wholesomeness of the life which touches my baby that he can have his penthouse back again.

As far as the memories which the child will have when he grows up—well, they'll be better than the average child's. Most children remember dreadful quarrels which their parents had, or their mother's complete misunderstanding, or the dreadful whippings their fathers gave them. Martin will have better memories than that. They've stopped pointing fingers, too, Wallace, and they won't make me wear a scarlet letter. Because Martin will not know that there was a man awfully prominent in my life and because the atmosphere of his home was so pleasant he'll think that I earned a large salary when I worked. He'll murder the first person who says otherwise and you can tell that to the person who told you that I was living with Russell Byrnes. I'm not and I never will be. Everybody has their own idea about morals.

I hope that all is well with you, Wallace. Thanks again for your letter.

Sincerely yours,

IRMA.

It always gave Irma a start to see the mail chute, looping like a slim, gilded chimney, rubbing elbows, so to speak, with one of her own oak chairs. It was fun, too, to wear the same costume outdoors. To stand on the terrace feeling miles above the street was a panicky sort of delight. She felt isolated, alone, yet below her was the greatest city in the world and behind her the happiest home she had ever known.

It was pleasant, too, to slip indoors when she became a trifle chilled, to walk briskly and unconcernedly through the oversized living room and to run up the seven soft carpeted stairs to the baby's room. His room was always a joy to her. The sun streamed in across his little white bed and made a path directly from it to the door. That amused Irma. It reminded her of the baby himself jumping from his bed and making a direct run for the other rooms. When he was out walking she stayed sometimes for an hour in his room opening his closet and delighting in the quantity and quality of his clothes, smiling at the array of stuffed animals, admiring his diminutive chairs and tables, looking to see what record was on the little white Victrola. In fact, just doing anything that gave her an excuse to linger in the little room with its blue, star sprinkled ceiling and its walls where happy children danced. When he was at home she did not dally. She came in, kissed him good morning and inquired of mademoiselle if the child seemed well. Irma would leave them to go to her breakfast with mademoiselle's reassuring "oui, madame" ringing in her ears and making the morning fair. Sometimes as she ate she would hear the baby's hearty laughter in the nursery. At such moments she thought of Russell and almost loved him.

She thought of Wallace, too, and pondered on what their lives would have been had he had money. She was certain that things would have been different. Love, she reflected, was one-third imagination and two-thirds comfort. The first ingredient had not been lacking. Surely, she and Wallace had seen nonexistent qualities in each other during those early days.

Had he had money Aunt Tessie would have been settled in a little place of her own, the baby would have unquestioningly been given over to the highest type of nursemaid, and Mildred would have been away at a seminary. The baby and his nurse would have accompanied them to Europe. Yes, she could have been happy with Wallace. It was cruel that money made all the difference. Where, then, was this power of love people were always writing about? Russell loved her but he was a man. Their love was built of different materials than a woman's.

She knew that Russell loved her. Why else did he give in to every whim and caprice so willingly?

She had told Russell in the begining that she was going to be tough to manage and he had only laughed. So far, he had been like the hero in old legends who always did whatever task was set for him, no matter how impossible it seemed. He came when he was called, showered gifts upon the baby, never uttered a word of protest when the baby interfered with any plans he may have made and, in short, was the man that Irma told him he must be. That's why she believed he loved her.

Bright Sayings of the Children

My sister, aged 6 years, wanted to go for a short ride. It was a nice evening, so my husband and I took her riding in the country. She was quiet for a while, when suddenly she said: "O, look, there is a moon out here, too. I thought the one in Chicago was the only one." J. E.

Doris Discusses the Working Girl's Share in Domestic Duties

BY DORIS BLAKE.

A powerful lot of discord occurs in homes over the division of labor, as the working girl member of the family is affected. I find from reports submitted to me that it is either a case of too much expected of daughter in her after office hours, or there is a complete unwillingness on the girl's part to relieve mother ever so little.

Because I do not hear from the girls whose parents ask neither too much nor too little, the deduction is that therein lies the answer to the home work problem. I'm not of the opinion that because a girl happens to be an earner she is automatically absolved from lending a hand around home. Nor do I think she should be burdened with many duties.

It isn't a question of how much board the girl pays, or doesn't pay. It isn't a thing you can measure in dollars and cents. It's a human exchange for favors done and favors gained. And it is an inhuman little beast of a girl who won't lend a hand at keeping her room straight, who won't now and then relieve her parent of one or more of her monotonous round of duties.

On the other hand, it is just as inhuman of a female parent to expect a breadwinner to dig in and prepare the dinner every night. Some girls are expected to do this. And to clean up the dishes, the dining room, and kitchen after the meal. And on their Saturday afternoons and Sundays they are expected to perform all the domestic duties that can be held over during the week.

There confronts me a paragraph in a letter: "I know a girl whose mother plans week-end trips for herself, leaving her daughter to prepare the meals and look after the family. The daughter's money supplies the trips and they are very, very frequent. Said daughter is never invited to go along."

Yet mothers wonder why their girls leave home, why they're restless to get away!

More often, though, the girl is the ingrate. She takes her pay envelope as a badge of freedom from any active interest around the house. Mother automatically drops to the level of a paid servant from whom is expected service that no self-respecting servant would stand for. But when all is said and done, isn't it the training girls get in their youth that creates harmony or discord later?

WOMAN'S DRESS.

This smart coatlike frock has grouped plaits at the center front of the skirt. The seaming hip detail helps to slenderize the figure, and the cross-over vest and wide revers have a tendency to minimize the breadth through the bodice. Black lightweight woolen with a tiny fleck of white, and white piqué for the vest, will be smart, while Canton faille crêpe in mauve brown with yellow or beige for the vest is attractive.

The pattern, 3385, comes in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 4¼ yards of 39 inch material with ⅜ yard of 39 inch contrasting and 2¼ yards of braid.

Food Talk.

Among the sundry edible parts of meats known for their delicacy and refinement of flavor are sweetbreads. We generally think of sweetbreads as being taken exclusively from the calf, but the housewife may buy them from the lamb, hog, or cow. The butcher calls both the thymus and pancreas glands "sweetbreads." These two types vary in flavor, and the true epicure prefers the pancreas sweetbread.

Because of their delicacy and tenderness, sweetbreads should always be cooked quickly, whether you broil, braise, bake, or cook them in water. No matter how you choose to prepare them, they need a small amount of routine attention first. Wash them in cold water; drain, and then cover with cold water again to which half a teaspoon of salt and one tablespoon of lemon juice have been added. Vinegar can be substituted for the lemon juice if you have none of the latter.

Simmer the meat in the water gently for thirty minutes until firm; remove from the stove and rinse in cold water, and relieve them of the membranes. Last of the preliminary work may consist of flattening them into shape between two plates, or cutting into pieces for further cooking.

SWEETBREADS IN EGG SAUCE.

1½ cups of stock.
Salt and pepper.
Few drops of onion juice.
2 eggs.
¾ tablespoon of flour.
1 teaspoon of minced parsley.
Dash of ginger.
1 pair of sweetbreads.
4 cream puff shells.

Prepare the sweetbreads for final cooking. Heat the stock, season with salt and pepper to taste, and add the onion juice. Beat the eggs and add the flour, parsley, and ginger to them. Mix well; add to the stock, and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add the cooked sweetbreads cut in pieces; heat well, and serve either on toast squares or in cream puff shells.

Yield: Four servings.

Bacon imparts a delicious flavor to sweetbreads. Try them this way, too.

SWEETBREADS WITH BACON.

1½ pounds of sweetbreads.
6 slices of bacon.

Prepare the sweetbreads for final cooking. Cut in large pieces, and fold a thin slice of bacon around each piece. Fasten with toothpicks. Have the skillet hot; put in the sweetbreads, and brown them slowly until crisp. Remove the toothpicks, and serve hot.

The recipe below is no kin of the sweetbreads, but it is a luscious dessert.

FLAPPER PIE.

Crust—
12 graham crackers [mashed to a powder.
⅓ cup of sugar.
5 tablespoons of melted butter.
½ teaspoon of salt.
Custard—
1 pint of milk [2 cups].
2 tablespoons of flour.
⅓ cup of sugar.
4 egg yolks.
½ teaspoon of vanilla.

Combine the crumbs, sugar, salt, and butter. Save out one-quarter cup of crumbs for custard. Line a pie plant with the mixture. Make a custard of the flour, sugar, egg yolks, and milk in a double boiler. Add the vanilla when the custard is done. Pour into the pie shell. Make a meringue of the egg whites, using six tablespoons of powdered sugar with them. Spread the meringue on the custard and sprinkle the remaining crumbs over the top. Put into a moderate oven [350 degrees Fahrenheit] to set the meringue—this will take about twenty minutes.

LEWIS THROWS ZBYSZKO TO WIN MAT BELT

L. U. HAS EDGE ON MINNESOTA IN FORM CHART

Call Gopher Running Attack Mediocre.

Pug's Thumb Broken

PUG RENTNER, Northwestern halfback, suffered a broken right thumb in last Saturday's game with Illinois, it was learned last night. He will be unable to pass, but will play in Saturday's game against Minnesota. The injured thumb is not in a cast. Other Northwestern training camp news will be found on page 25.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Illinois, victor over Iowa and Wisconsin, meets Northwestern Saturday in the game which probably will decide the Western conference championship. The Wildcats also have won two games. They defeated Ohio State, conqueror of Michigan, 10 to 0, and trampled on Illinois, 32 to 6.

Only Indiana and Iowa bar Northwestern's path after Minnesota, while the Gophers, if they whip Northwestern, must dispose of Michigan.

Wildcats Are Favorites.

Northwestern, of course, is the favorite over the Gophers. Victory by two touchdowns will be the average guess. The basis of such prediction is Minnesota's mediocre running attack. Against Iowa Minnesota accomplished seven first downs. One of the Gophers' five touchdowns was scored on MacDougall's return of a kickoff. Another needed only a six yard advance after Oen had intercepted an Iowa pass.

In the Wisconsin game Saturday Minnesota made eight first downs, further evidence of its weakness in running plays. And Northwestern, with the best pair of tackles in the Big Ten in Capt. Dal Marvil and Jack Riley, will offer greater handicap to Minnesota's line plays than either Iowa or Wisconsin.

Minnesota's first touchdown against Wisconsin was a 55 yard run by Jack Manders, full back, who plunged through the Badgers' line on a spinner. It isn't likely Manders can get away on this type of play against Northwestern.

Use Trick Play to Score.

The second touchdown was a trick play on fourth down which fooled the Badgers. It was fourth down with four yards to gain and Capt. Clarence Munn, a guard, was called into the back field apparently to block. The ball was on Wisconsin's 9 yard line. The play was a forward pass from Ubi to Robinson, an end, who then tossed laterally to Munn at Wisconsin's 10 yard line and Munn ran unmolested to the goal line. It was the same play Minnesota had used against Iowa, except it was sent to the left instead of the right, and Munn took the lateral pass instead of MacDougall.

Northwestern's team plays smart football. Occasionally its smartness goes it yards, as it did Saturday when Ken Fossler lost 15 yards for the Wildcats. Fossler's error in judgment happened when he tried to get the ball out of bounds instead of being downed at the sideline where Northwestern would be forced to waste the next play to get the ball farther out in the field.

The rule on fumbles out of bounds permits the ball to be brought in 15 yards from the side line and in possession of the team which touched the ball last when the ball went out of bounds. Fossler was tackled and downed.

Fumble Costs Penalty.

A fraction of a second later he would that if he could simulate a pass over the sideline it would bring the ball in 15 yards. So Fossler fumbled, but in tossing the ball in throw it a foot or so forward. Had he fumbled laterally or backward, there would have been no penalty but the ball would have been returned to the spot where Fossler was tackled.

Tossing the ball forward, of course, is a forward pass. Fossler had received the ball on an Illinois punt. In other words Illinois had put the ball in play and Northwestern could not forward pass. The penalty for this forward pass-fumble was loss of 15 yards.

Illinois probably tries more tricks than any other Big Ten team. An old Wisconsin trick play, a fake place kick which develops into a wide end run, scored Michigan's first touchdown against Princeton last Saturday. Princeton might have suspected such a play for the ball was on Princeton's 41 yard line at the time, an almost impossible distance for a field goal since the kick must travel 51 yards to the goal posts at the back of the end zone.

Pay Scores on Play.

However, such a place kick, even if the odds are against its success, is not valuable as a punt. Newman, Illinois quarter back, prepared to punt, with Fay holding the ball. Instead Fay circled the end and ran for the score.

Notre Dame, which defeated Carnegie Tech, 19 to 0, Saturday, lost a touchdown in an unusual manner. Tech passed to Jaskwhich, who caught the ball as he touched the goal line of the end zone. The ball was taught in the end zone. Instead of a touchdown the pass automatically became a touchback which gave Carnegie Tech possession of the ball on its own 20 yard line.

BAT LEADS WITH HIS PEN

BATTALINO PUTS IN DAY MELTING OFF POUNDAGE

He'll Be at Weight for Mastro Tomorrow.

There was no boxing yesterday in the camp of Bat Battalino, the world's featherweight champion, who defends his title against Earl Mastro at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

But there was plenty of work for the champion. He wasn't down to the weight limit of 126 pounds when he arrived at the gymnasium, and something had gone wrong in his program of removing excess weight.

He was eight pounds over the featherweight limit when he started training for the Mastro encounter a month ago. His program of training called for the loss of two pounds each week. It had worked to perfection until yesterday, when the scales should have shown that he was at exactly 126 pounds.

Instead he still was overweight and it took the better part of a three hour gymnasium drill in which he gave no thought to boxing to get him down to within one pound of the limit.

They Aren't Worrying.

There was no worry on the part of Battalino or Pete Riley, who does all the thinking for him, over the situation. Losing one pound in 48 hours will be a very soft task, they agreed, and they didn't think the loss of yesterday's boxing drill would in any way effect the champion. Battalino will hold an easy rehearsal this afternoon and will climb into the ring, he says, weighing 125½ pounds.

Mastro, who is the first 100 per cent Chicago fighter to get a fling at a championship since the days of Jimmy Barry, 37 years ago, was already two pounds below the required weight. Most of his work yesterday was in the ring, where he whaled away at his sparring mates more viciously than at any time since he began to get ready for the champion.

Mandell, Kaplan Arrive.

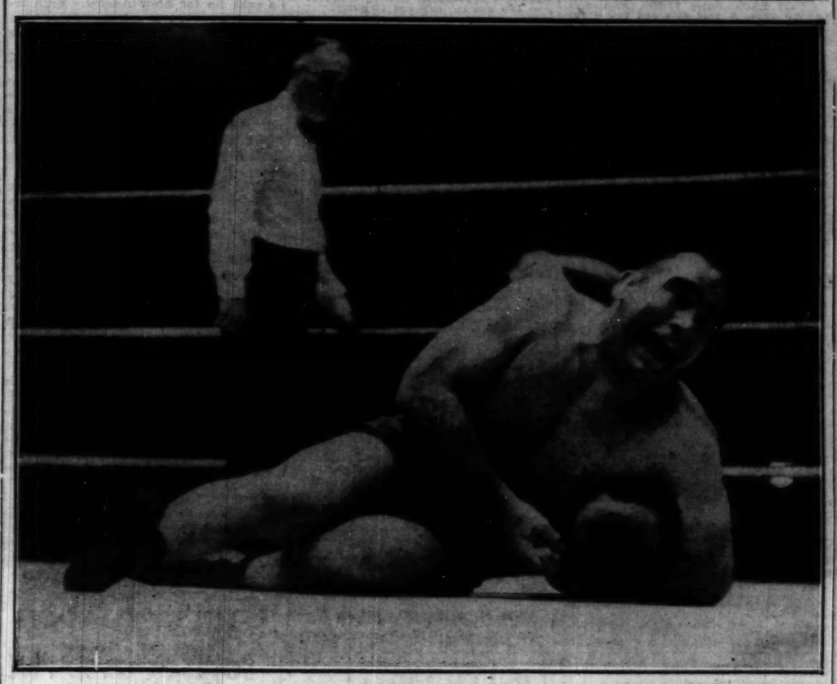
Those two old fellows [in ring experience—not otherwise], Sammy Mandell and Louis [Kid] Kaplan, who were champions in their day, arrived on the fight scene yesterday. They were the last of the boxers who are to back up the championship match to put in an appearance. Mandell tackles Ralph Lenny, a stablemate of Battalino, in the 10 round semi-windup, while Kaplan's foe will be Harry Dublinsky.

Mandell appeared in fine physical condition. Some thought he looked as good as when he ruled the lightweights. But others, who for some time have been clamoring for Mandell to hang his gloves on the wall for keeps, were of the opinion he wasn't nearly the Mandell of old.

Mandell meets Lenny at 143 pounds and he says that fighting at a higher weight has remedied all of his trouble. His battle with Lenny will tell the story, for this kid is just coming up and not even Mandell can deny that he is near the brink and needs but a few more pushes to be dropped far down the ladder.

The card has proved to be a genuine gate attraction. Receipts of more than $40,000 are assured, Stadium officials say.

AFFECTION—O, YEAH



This headlock business is hard work—just study Strangler Lewis' features as he puts the pressure on Wladek Zbyszko's head during their charity wrestling match at the Stadium last night. Lewis won two out of three falls and was awarded the Illinois athletic commission's championship belt. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

CHARITY GETS $5,000; BOUT GOES 3 FALLS

Fisher Is Victor Over Malkov.

Another Champion

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Jim Londos, claimant of the heavyweight wrestling championship, retained his title at Madison Square Garden tonight by defeating the Russian challenger, Matros Kirilenko, before a crowd of 8,000.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Two old men of the wrestling industry—Strangler Lewis and Wladek Zbyszko—toiled through 36 minutes of grunting, tugging, pulling, and perspiring in the charity show at the Chicago Stadium last night and at the end Mr. Lewis had twice flattened Mr. Zbyszko's shoulders against the canvas.

So, ladies and gentlemen, right here at the breakfast table we are able to introduce to you Mr. Ed [Strangler] Lewis, the new world's heavyweight champion of Illinois.

And besides watching Mr. Lewis ascend to the throne of world's wrestling champion of Illinois, the crowd contributed almost $5,000 to the governor's joint emergency relief fund. The paid attendance was 7,244, which didn't nearly fill the spacious stadium, and the gross receipts were $13,044.70.

Gets Belt 'n' Everything.

Neither Stadium officials nor the members of the relief fund committee last night were able to determine charity's share of the pot, but some of the statisticians familiar with the expense of putting on the show estimated it at $5,000, or even a few hundred dollars less.

The Strangler conquered his ancient enemy in an earnest sort of way that made the crowd like it, and when Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman of the Illinois athletic commission, presented him a belt emblematic of the world's championship the spectators joined in one of the most spontaneous demonstrations Lewis ever received.

The Strangler won two falls out of three. He scored the first with his famous headlock in 23 minutes and 52 seconds. By the time he had Zyb flattened out the Strangler was shaking off beads of perspiration as big as silver dollars.

Zyb had his inning a few seconds later and pinned the Strangler with a flying mare and a body hold. It looked as if Lewis was taking a breathing spell while all this happened. The last fall was gained by Lewis on a cross body lock in 7 minutes and 54 seconds.

Then the crowd roared for the new world's champion of Illinois. The champion took one bow after another. Old Zyb, his bald head glistening beneath the bright lights, lay there in the resin dust with agony spread all over his expansive face.

Savoldi Whips Burns.

In the other matches Joe Savoldi attracted most attention. The former Notre Dame gridiron bullet made short work of Billy Burns, a tall blond 192 pounder from Wichita.

Jumping Joe is a rough guy when he gets into his wrestling regimentals. He did everything but toss Burns into the third gallery.

This charity crowd took keen delight in watching Joe flatten the hapless lad from Kansas. He had Burns down in 9 minutes and 20 seconds from a series of front head locks.

Midget Fisher went along for 20 minutes and 21 seconds before he clamped a stepover toe hold on Zack Malkov, ending the match. Don Catapazitich and Everett Marshall threw each other out of the ring three or four times, but neither could score a fall and their match was a draw at the end of 20 minutes. Lou Talsher earlier had beaten George Kogut in 20 minutes and 45 seconds.

The combination boxing-wrestling match between King Levinsky and Johnny Meyers was called off.

Take This, You People in the Sino-Japanese Department

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 2.—An editorial on the football situation points out that we sport writers have been making hard use of the word "timing" this year and suggests, rather unkindly I am afraid, that the readers clock us for repetitions of this one.

Well, now, how do you do, all you boys over there in the turn-the-rascals-out department, and how is your Sino-Japanese situation today?

I am all for peace and mutual helpfulness between the departments, but I don't think you should expose us when we get hold of one that we can toy with, because I am sure we did not pass any unkind cracks when you made the discovery, way back in 1915, that the country known in all the American geographies as "Servia" was spelled with a "b," instead of the "v" in the English papers and, not to be outknowledged by Fleet street, went for that one unanimously, yourselves.

Never Twitted Drama Critic's "Adequate."

Never, to my knowledge, have we twitted the play reviewers for describing an actor as "adequate" as a synonym for dull or calling a play a "vehicle," which is properly a cart or buggy or some such, and don't let it be thought, either, just because we made no remarks about it, then, that this new one, this "Sino," for "Chino," escaped our notice, either.

Sino is a very intelligent sounding word and the first time I saw it in an editorial I remarked, just to myself, not wishing to queer anybody's pitch, "Well, well, that certainly is a nifty that somebody has come up with over there in the 'It's up to you, Mr. District Attorney' department and I venture to predict"—to myself, that was—"that it will sweep the editorial pages just as 'rhythm' and 'leverage' swept the sport pages back there in 1919, when we were all trying to give some stylish explanation of Babe Ruth's home runs."

Babe Just Busted 'Em and They Went.

I thought "rhythm" and "leverage" weren't half bad at that, because when you asked the Babe himself to explain his home runs all you could get out of him was, "When you bust them they go." We were supposed to explain how he did it, though why anybody should have thought we could explain it I cannot see, because nobody expects the dramatic critic to explain how the professor in the magic act at the Bijou palace extracts a pig from a goldfish bowl or a royal flush from a stripped deck.

We just had a pose to maintain, as haven't we all, and we knew that if we just said "when he busts them they go" people would say "yes, but how come he can bust them like that?"

And, sure enough, this Sino for Chino has taken the editorial pages by a five letter word meaning an atmospheric disturbance.

I don't think I have made overuse of this word "timing" as an explanation of football phenomena—and there's a very high class word for you—but that is not because I am too original. The fact is about me and the word "timing," that I am generally taken by surprise on each play and am always on the point of exclaiming, as one old all-America player did exclaim, out loud, when some magic pass had completely obscured a play, at a game the other day, "Hey, where the devil is the football?" I don't get time to notice the timing, though I have several times this season jotted down a note just before the first kickoff, "Notice timing and describe same, without fail."

This Timing Is a Good Idea, at That.

I first heard of timing as something fashionable this season when I was up at Yale after the Georgia game. Some people told me Yale's players and coaches were all right, but that the timing was wrong, and I was glad to hear the suggestion, because it is awkward to have to criticize the players, who are in the game for fun, or the coaches, who aren't responsible to me, but to the university. But it is easy to blame the timing, which, like lawlessness, the broken paving in Walnut street, and the wrestling profession, has no influential friends. One can take a firm stand against these things at any time.

Now I am reckless enough to think just offhand that I could give a fairly plausible explanation of timing and its importance in football, especially in the back field play, and I will undertake to do so if some one over in the "these be times that try men's souls" department will agree to tell me what a Sinaman is. I will even wager all the tea in Sina that this cannot be done and, moreover, to eat all the Sinese food in Sinatown, which

Alexander and Ex-Wife Marry Again

St. Paul, Neb., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Grover Cleveland Alexander, former major league pitcher, today revealed that he had remarried his former wife at Rockford, Ill., on June 2, while there to pitch a game for the House of David nine. They were divorced in Lincoln, Neb., on Oct. 3, 1929.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander are here visiting his mother, Mrs. William Alexander. The former Cub and Cardinal is spending most of his time duck hunting on the Loup river. He says he has become a teetotaler.

Alexander played in 176 games last season with the House of David team. He said that baseball would continue to be his occupation and that he probably will be with the Benton Harbor team again next year. He plans to spend the winter at Catalina island with Mrs. Alexander, playing golf and fishing.

HORTON SMITH SIGNS AS PRO AT OAK PARK CLUB

Horton Smith, young Joplin, Mo., star, yesterday signed as professional of the Oak Park Country club and will restrict his competition in the summer tournaments of 1932. Under terms of the contract, Smith agreed to devote most of his time to teaching during the coming summer. Except for his victory in the 1931 St. Paul open, he has been far off form and decided teaching would help him as well as his pupils. The contract goes into effect next April 1.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BIG TEN TITLE.

NORTHWESTERN and Minnesota are now the only unbeaten elevens in the Big Ten. They will settle that tie next Saturday at Dyche stadium. After that, Northwestern has Indiana and Iowa left on its conference schedule. Minnesota has only Michigan. Despite Indiana's notable stand against Ohio State Saturday and Iowa's reputation for late season upsets, Mr. John Public would rate the Gopher task harder than that of the Wildcats.

Looking at this title combat from the basis of comparative scores, you may figure about anything you want to figure. Start from the Minnesota angle. Indiana and Iowa played a tie. Minnesota was five touchdowns better than Iowa, the equal of Indiana. Ohio State was one touchdown better than Indiana. Northwestern was one and one-half touchdowns better than Ohio State, or two and one-half touchdowns better than Indiana. Therefore Minnesota is two and one-half touchdowns better than Northwestern.

On the other hand, Wisconsin was one touchdown better than Purdue. Purdue was one touchdown better than Illinois. Minnesota was two touchdowns better than Wisconsin. Northwestern was five touchdowns better than Illinois. Therefore Northwestern is one touchdown better than Minnesota.

Then throw all your comparative scores away, and figure whether Northwestern's great line is superior to Minnesota's great line, whether Capt. Clarence Munn of the Gophers is superior to Oliver Olson, the Purple's sensational sophomore, in kicking—the two greatest punters in the conference—whether Pug Rentner, Reb Russell and Al Moore are better than Jack Manders, Pewee McDougall, and Capt. Munn, who is drawn from the line for ball carrying purposes.

Then you have an answer which will stand until Saturday's game proves your deductions correct or mere theory.

Thought for Today.

Don't hunt for trouble,
But look for success—
You'll find what you look for.
Don't look for distress
If you see but your shadow.
Remember, I pray,
That the sun is still shining
But you're in the way.

Don't grumble, don't bluster,
Don't dream and don't shirk;
Don't think of your worries
But think of your work.
The worries will vanish,
The work will be done;
No one sees his shadow
Who faces the sun.

Football Retrospect.

The Wake in Saturday's football forecast landed on 44 winners, 5 losers, and three games ended in ties. That is the highest percentage of winners we ever have had on one day so late in the season when elevens are evenly balanced. "We joint with pardonable pride" and all that sort of thing. Please excuse our mentioning it, etc., but the next forecast, you know, may be an entirely different story.

Season to date: 251 winners, 45 losers, 20 ties.

6 GIANTS SENT TO SING SING— AS GRID COACHES

New York, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Warden Lawes of Sing Sing, whose plans for an intramural program of football games at Sing Sing have progressed to the point where he has obtained suits for the players, sent out a call today for coaches.

The New York Giants of the National Professional Football league immediately responded. They announced that six players—Ray Flaherty, Clem Campbell, Bull Owens, Butch Gibson, Dale Burnett, and Ted Bucklin—would be "incarcerated" long enough tomorrow to allow them to give the Sing Sing boys a few pointers.

Sisler May Land Job with Los Angeles Club

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 2.—(AP)—George Sisler, one time St. Louis Browns' first baseman and co-holder with Ty Cobb of the American league batting record of .420, may be a member of the Los Angeles baseball team next season, officials of the club revealed today. They said Sisler had sent word his services would be available. Sisler spent last year with Rochester, champion of the International league.

GREEN CHEESE WINS 'CHASE AS PIMLICO OPENS

Beats Prowler in Manly Memorial Race.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—A thoroughbred from New York carried off the chief honors on the opening card at Pimlico today when Mrs. John H. Whitney's Green Cheese, winner of the Grand National at Belmont Park, won the Manly Memorial steeplechase, first run in 1916.

It was a popular victory and a thrilling one, with the amateur rider, Regan McKinney, saving ground at the top of the stretch which turned defeat into victory.

Owner Sees Victory.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitney were present to see the gelded son of Rockminster carry 148 pounds to a two length victory, and the latter received the gold cup which goes with the race from the hands of W. K. Manly, son of the former president of the Maryland Jockey club, for whom the stake is a memorial.

Joseph E. Widener has won the stake seven times and until McKinney's brilliant cutting of the corner today Mr. Widener's Prowler looked as if he would win again. Prowler landed second, the same distance before Dark Image as he was back of the winner. After the placed horses, the order of finish was Beelzebub Pokey Joe, Indigo, and Argonaut, with Royal Falcon and Madiola not finishing the course. Madiola, 4 year old chestnut filly owned by Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark of New York, was destroyed after suffering a broken pelvis in falling at the water jump.

Green Cheese Takes $9,375.

Green Cheese earned $9,375 and finished the two and a half miles in 4:48. He has won four out of six starts this season and his money winning total of $44,475 is the greatest of any jumper this year. Big Jim Healy, trainer of the horse, is of the opinion that he will be a much better campaigner next year with more experience.

Hardly of less interest than the feature was the 6 furlongs of the Calvert handicap, in which eight went to the post. The betting lay mainly between Mr. Widener's Mr. Sponge and the Sagmore stable's Balko, star Maryland sprinter. Balko at last was made the favorite and it was he who came first to the wire to win by a nose. He carried top weight of 126 pounds and ran the distance in 1:31 1-5, two-fifths of a second off the track record.

JIMMY MORAN WINS

Latonia, Ky., Nov. 2.—Racing ended for the year in Kentucky with the running of the Charity day program here this afternoon. About 20,000 were present and $70,000 was realized for the unemployment fund of Greater Cincinnati.

Jimmy Moran, racing in the silks of Mose Goldblatt of Cincinnati, won the Charity Day handicap at a mile and seventy yards. Racing past Don Leon in the last few strides, he got up in time to win by a head. Ridgeview, another Cincinnati owned colt, was third. Culloden, Royal Julian, Big Business, and Thistle Fyrn were the other starters.

The race was run over a fast track and Jimmy Moran ran the distance in 1:42 4-5, one of the fastest performances here this season. He was ridden by Jockey G. Elston.

SOUTH SUBURBAN BOXING TOURNEY ENDS TONIGHT

The Midway Arena, 6115 Cottage Grove avenue, tonight will be the scene of the third and last night of the south suburban amateur boxing tournament, which is being sponsored by the Johnny Coulon club. There are 21 bouts scheduled, which include five in the quarter finals, eight semi-finals, and eight for the championships. All weights from flyweights to heavies will participate and the winners will receive watches.

All the survivors represent south side districts and suburbs. Art Mitchell of Englewood is a strong contender in the bantams, while Eddie Chinsik, who represents Woodlawn, is expected to hold honors in the lightweight division, although Earl Watson and Phil McQuillan are also contenders.

W. AND J. BEGINS FOOTBALL DRILLS FOR MARQUETTE

Washington, Pa., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Washington and Jefferson inaugurated its three day period of football practice today in preparation for Marquette next Saturday with every player off the injured list. None of the regulars was hurt in the Temple game Friday night, while Deacle, full back, hurt at Lafayette, has recovered.

Whether the changed lineup that was started against Temple will be employed against Marquette was not indicated today, as the eleven was continually changed. There was no scrimmage this afternoon.

NATALIE TAKES OPENING POCKET BILLIARD MATCH

Pasquale Natalie won the opening game of the special five handed pocket billiards tournament at the Kickhefer Recreation yesterday, defeating Peter Durocher of Chicago, 125 to 87, in 24 innings. Natalie started with a run of 58, his high for the game. Durocher's high run was 17.

Durocher is scheduled to meet Coy Julian of Springfield, Ill., this afternoon. Tonight Natalie will face either George Nuss of Kansas City or Major White of Chicago. This tournament will end Friday night.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

In THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE'S list of college football scores, Millikin university's 25 to 0 victory over Charleston Teachers was credited to the losing team.

SMITTY—NEVER TO SEE IT NO MORE

GEE, I WISH I KNEW WHERE MY MA AND PA WENT AND MOVED TO - I'LL ANKLE AROUND TO TH' OLD NEIGHBORHOOD AND SEE IF I CAN FIND ANYTHING OUT
THERE'S THE OLD HOUSE STILL EMPTY--AND THERE'S MY DOG'S LITTLE HOUSE, EMPTY TOO..
GEE, I USED TO HAVE SOME GOOD TIMES IN TH' OLD HOUSE AND YARD.
JUST LOOK HOW HIGH THE GRASS GREW IN THE YARD-MAYBE I'M GLAD THEY MOVED AT THAT!

Take This, You People in the Sino Section

is a sporting offer because I can't stand the stuff.

Admits to That Race Horse Custom.

Of course, I know we have some rhetorical spavins over in our department, the silliest of which, to my mind, is the custom of referring to a race horse not merely by his own name but also as the good son of his father and his mother. Elsewhere in the press when we wish to mention some great civilization who has just discovered a germ or a way to kill one, we would deem it unnecessary, even a little indelicate, to refer to him as Dr. Smith, the good son of Pete Smith-Milly Jones, by imported Ed Jones-reda Schultz, a half-sister to Gussie Krauss.

But the worst of ours, such as "pigskin classic" and "moleskin warriors" are merely monotonous and are not such affectations as "materiel" for "material" or Sino for Chino, and if it's fault-finding you want I am sure we can find fault for fault, although it would be nicer if you just let us alone and vice versa.

WILLIAMS STILL REIGNS AS PACIFIC COAST PRESIDENT

Sacramento, Cal., Nov. 2.—(AP)—Deadlocked in the election of a president after a heated debate, directors of the Pacific Coast league adjourned temporarily today with Harry A. Williams, league head for the last eight years, still in the chair.

Sixteen ballots saw the voting stand as follows: Williams, 4; Wade (Red) Killefer, former president-manager of the San Francisco Missions, 3; J. Carl Ewing, former president of the Oakland club, 1.

It was decided to play the first four weeks of the 1932 season in seven game series, but the schedule maker was instructed to submit a plan whereby later series would be split into four and three day stands.

Rabbits' Feet Get Credit for Dartmouth Tie

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 2.—(AP)—What may be a reason for Dartmouth's unexpected football surge against Yale became known today. Every member of the starting eleven carried a rabbit's foot into the game and Capt. Stan Yudickey massaged one on the bench. These lucky tokens were supplied by George Gitsis, one of the Indians' hometown admirers. Yale and Dartmouth played a 33 to 33 tie.

LAYTON BEATS KIEFUS, 50 TO 35, IN CUE MATCH

Johnny Layton, ten time holder of the world three cushion title and winner of the 1931 southern sectional pocket billiards crown, defeated I. Kiefus, 50 to 35, in 49 innings at three cushions at the Bensinger billiard room yesterday. Layton had a high run of 5 against 4 for Kiefus.

Layton will meet all comers at three cushions until Thursday night. This afternoon he will meet Frank Valentine, and tonight he is listed to oppose Joseph Orr.

Hawks' Speed Dazzles Fans at Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Twenty members of the Blackhawks hockey team indulged in a workout at the Duquesne Garden rink here this afternoon which had 500 spectators and fifteen Pittsburgh players gasping at the speed displayed by the Chicago team and the acrobatic antics of Goalie Charley Gardiner, who was knocked out for a few minutes by a swift shot from the stick of Johnny Gottselig.

The abundance of spirit displayed during the scrimmage also resulted in a split lip for Stew Adams. Both injuries were of a minor nature and the two players remained on the ice until the finish of the drill.

Beginning tomorrow the Hawks will indulge in secret practice in preparation for Saturday night's game here with the Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets of the International Hockey league. The local players were title contenders until the final game in their league last season.

The Hawks' two defense veterans, Cyclone Wentworth and Teddy Graham, showed great form for so early in the season and Taffy Abel is within seven pounds of his playing weight.

The speed shown by a front line composed of Stew Adams, Tommy Cook and Mush March and the stick handling and passing of a second line composed of Johnny Gottselig, Vic Ripley and Lola Couture brought favorable comment from Coach Godfrey Matheson.

It was announced that Louis Holmes, rookie center, had been turned over to the Pittsburgh team. He is one of the best looking prospects the Hawks have had in a long time but requires a little more experience. He is subject to recall by the Hawks at an hour's notice.

Frank Ingram, right wing of the Blackhawks, has been loaned to the Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets, subject to immediate recall. However, the Hawks must furnish another forward to replace him in case of recall.

Culver Eleven to Begin Drill for St. John's

Culver, Ind., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—After a day of rest tomorrow, the Culver Military academy football squad will go into intensive training for its most important battle of the year, that with St. John's Military academy of Delafield, Wis., at Chicago on Nov. 14. No game is scheduled for next Saturday, so Coach Bob Peck and his team will give the coming Soldiers' field clash their undivided attention. It will be for charity.

While Culver showed fighting qualities in coming from behind to tie Crane Junior college of Chicago, 6 to 6, last Saturday, Peck was disturbed at several weaknesses in the line. The Crane touchdown was scored early in the first quarter when Center Stryker broke through and blocked Cherry's punt, running 25 yards for the score. Peck feels that the St. John's line is more powerful than Crane's, and he has doubts as to whether the Cadets will be able to stand up under the battering of the Wisconsin forwards.

On the other hand, the Culver backs played well in scoring the touchdown that evened the score, and Peck was pleased with their work. If they run as well against St. John's and the line holds in addition, he believes Culver has a good chance to win.

During the coming weeks Culver is expected to concentrate on an open game. Too many plays between the tackles would do nothing but wear the Culver team out, according to general opinion, and the Cadets are expected to center their attack in runs and passes.

PIRRONE KNOCKS OUT DILLON IN JUST 14 SECONDS

Cleveland, O., Nov. 2.—(AP)—Paul Pirrone, Cleveland light heavyweight, tonight knocked out Harry Dillon of Canada in about the time it took him to walk from his corner to the center of the ring in the first round. Dillon was counted out 14 seconds after the fight began.

Babe Triscaro of Cleveland, former national amateur flyweight champion, won his fourth professional fight by taking a six round decision from Johnny Edwards of Huntington, W. Va.

Hick Frazer Resigns as Peoria Nine Manager

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 2.—(AP)—Hick Frazer has resigned as manager of the Peoria Three Eye league baseball club, Sidney Weil, president of the Cincinnati Reds, said today. Peoria is operated as a Cincinnati training farm.

HOCKEY CLUB RELEASES 5.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 2.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh club of the International Hockey league today released five players: Duke McCurry, Mickey McGuire, and Lloyd McIntyre, wings, and Roger Smith and Leo Reise, defense men.

THREE INJURED REGULARS REJOIN WESLEYAN TEAM

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Three injured regulars of the Illinois Wesleyan football team reported for practice here today and Titan football stock took a jump for the Bradley game Saturday.

Kaska, full back; Sweat, center, and Neuman, end, may all be able to play. Wesleyan came out of the game with Eureka in good shape and has hopes of breaking the Bradley jinx in the homecoming encounter.

De Paul Passes Score Twice Against Frosh

De Paul university's forward pass functioned effectively in scrimmage against the freshmen yesterday in preparation for the game with University of Louisville at Louisville Saturday.

Mat Steffen and Joe Dea did all the throwing. Two of their passes to Ernie Butcher resulted in touchdowns.

Hal Cherne and John O'Brien, first string tackles, still were absent from practice because of injuries. Coach Eddie Anderson has been forced to shift Emmet Cowhey from guard to tackle.

JUNCO IS HERE, SHOWING WINTER DUE ANY MINUTE

You'll See This Friendly Little Bird Till May.

BY BOB BECKER.

The junco, the advance agent of old man winter, checked into Chicagoland a few days ago. Although bird fans are usually glad to see this feathered traveler from winter's stronghold in the northland, he comes down at this time of the year to remind us that old man winter's arrival is inevitable and as the bearer of such tidings we hate to see this bird around.

The junco is the quiet little fellow who tries to take the place of the summer bird residents that have left and will not return until spring. A few days ago when we were on a hike through a tract of woods which was ablaze with the browns, yellows, and reds of autumn foliage we saw a small flock of juncos in their quiet, demure plumage.

He's a Friendly Fellow.

We had been walking for quite a while without seeing any birds other than a noisy nuthatch and a couple of jays. Then we came upon the small flock of juncos in a tree which was almost choked by tangles of a wild grape vine.

The junco is one of the easiest birds to identify and is extremely friendly. You can get acquainted with him without a pair of field glasses or binoculars because he will let you get quite close before flying away a short distance.

This bird wears a suit of slaty gray. The gray comes down on its breast and then gives way to a low cut vest of white, which is not worn by any other of our birds. Although there are other species which display white outer tail feathers when in flight, the junco's seem to be more than usually conspicuous.

Is Seed Eater.

As a rule these birds tour the country in flocks, running anywhere from ten to fifty. A little later, when upland game hunters are afield, the dogs are quite apt to scare some of them up from the hedgerows, as the junco is a seed eater and frequents such cover. The junco is classed as a winter visitant in this latitude. However, he really is more than that. This species may appear as early as September, and it usually is early May before all of them have moved northward to their nesting grounds. Thus the junco really stays with us about 3 months of the year.

Watch for this cheery little bird at your next hike across country. He's no prize winner for beauty, but he's a friendly fellow here to fight it out against winter's snows and cold.

Chicago Woman Wins Prize for Largest Muskie

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Word has just been received by C. K. Howard, manager of the tourist and convention bureau of the Canadian National Railways, that the honor of having caught the largest muskellunge this season in the White Fish bay area of the Lake of the Woods goes to Mrs. Harry Gephart of Chicago, who landed a 44½ pound muskie after an hour and a half struggle, using only light tackle.

Mrs. Gephart becomes the owner of a special $200 sterling silver trophy offered by E. D. Calvert for the guest at his White Fish bay camp capturing the largest muskellunge each season. The trophy is a 17 inch model of a fighting muskellunge leaping from the water.

If a five cent cigar smoker says "WHY... UH-H" —he hasn't tried New Bachelor

THE five cent cigar smoker has had to take a trip through a mirror maze every time he puts down a nickel. Fat ones, thin ones, ugly ones, strange ones stared at him through the glass until in desperation he stammered a couple of "WHY... UH-HS" and picked out another disappointment. Well, the magic words that lead you right through the door to complete smoking pleasure have been discovered.

Just look right over the counter and say "New Bachelor." Once you strike up an acquaintance with this modern cigar you'll be life-long friends. Your taste tells your tongue and your tongue tells others that New Bachelor is the dream of the perfect five cent cigar come true.

The story of New Bachelor can be told in two puffs—choice tobaccos blended to perfect balance. You'll never get tired of this story.

MAROONS HEAR ARKANSAS HAS BAG OF TRICKS

Razorbacks Like Flanker Plays, Too.

Saturday's match between Chicago and Arkansas apparently will be a complicated affair to watch, if not to play. After scouting the Arkansas-Texas Christian game Saturday, Ben Wattenberg, freshman coach, yesterday told Director Stagg that the Arkansas team, which is called, for some reason, the Razorbacks, uses "several fancy spread formations."

One of these formations, Wattenberg reported, sends as many as three men out into the flanker positions. This added intricacy outdoes Mr. Stagg's favorite play, which calls for only one outrider at a time, and means that both teams will be dispersed over the breadth of the field.

Warns Against Passes.

Wattenberg was reasonably impressed with the Arkansas brand of ball, especially in forward passing, and found it easy to convince the Maroon team that they have a battle on their hands.

Varsity men who performed against Purdue were dismissed yesterday after they had gone through the equivalent of a few handsprings. The reserves, however, were mustered for a touch scrimmage with the freshman team.

Coach Stagg's only criticism of his players' work was for their uncertain tackling of the Boilermaker's shifty runners. There will be plenty of tackling practice this week, both on dummies and on teammates.

Pete Zimmer, full back, who was laid out of the Purdue game because of a torn shoulder muscle, was back in uniform yesterday and is expected to play Saturday.

60,000 TO SEE OHIO-NAVY

Columbus, O., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—More than 60,000 will see Ohio State's football team play the Navy in the Buckeyes' homecoming game, ticket officials said today.

The freshman eleven, disguised as Navy players, ran through opposition plays, with the reserves on defense. The varsity players were spectators. Later a tag scrimmage was held between the varsity and freshmen, the regulars trying out new plays.

Hinchman, left half back, is suffering from another injury to his knee. Hinchman has been playing all season with a rubber cast on his leg. The remainder of the team came through the Indiana game without serious injury.

NAVY FACES HARD WEEK

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Displeased with the showing of the naval academy football team in its nonloss game with West Virginia Wesleyan Saturday, head coach Edgar Miller is planning a week of hard practice for the Ohio State game.

Asked whether any of his players were injured in Saturday's contest, Miller replied that "they didn't do anything to get hurt," and with the exception of a minor injury to Twehgl, therefore were uninjured in the game.

JENSEN JOINS ILLINI

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Stan Jensen, Illinois' only regular lineman from last season, rejoined the squad today as Coach Bob Zuppke ordered a light drill to start preparations for the Wisconsin game here Saturday.

Jensen, who has been bothered for two weeks by an infected jaw, will renew his bid for the guard position he has played part time this season. Benson Perkins is the likely occupant of one guard berth, while others Zup has used recently are Sam Gorenstein, Ray Nuspickel, Lind Piatt, Bob May, and Casey Straw.

Full back will also be strengthened for the Wisconsin contest. Lind Murray, and possibly Art Schultz, will report in a few days. Ed Snavely and Eddie Schalk played full back against Northwestern.

SHIFTS BADGER BACKS

Madison, Wis., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite today started rebuilding the Wisconsin team for its game with Illinois at Urbana Saturday.

Irked by the Badger backs' weak tackling at Minnesota, he gave them all a long session of tackling ball carriers. Every man able to be in a suit was sent through the workout.

When signal practice began the anticipated changes in the back field appeared. Clair Strain, sophomore full back, was shifted to the varsity, working with Schneller, Nelson, and Liefer. Several new pass plays were given the team, and the drill closed with a scrimmage. It was the heaviest Monday practice in several years. Schiller and Goldenberg were not in uniform.

LIGHT DRILL FOR INDIANA

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Indiana university football players who saw action in the Ohio State game last week went through light drill today in preparation for the trip to Michigan Saturday. The remainder of the squad scrimmaged. Intensive work for the entire squad will be started tomorrow with scrimmage against Wolverine plays.

Michigan and Indiana B teams will meet in Memorial stadium here while the main attraction is taking place at Ann Arbor.

Indiana coaches hope to have the squad in 100 per cent physical condition for the Michigan game. Rehm, Butler, Lyons and Zeller were handicapped by slight injuries that slowed them down against Ohio.

Fenton's Friday Bouts Will Aid J. P. I. Fund

Friday night's amateur bouts at the Fenton arena, Clark street and Lawrence avenue, will be for the benefit of the Jewish People's institute scholarship fund. Mrs. Daniel Novak is chairman of the committee sponsoring the event. Other members are Mrs. I. Doctor, Mrs. D. Fink, and Mrs. M. Gross. Eight bouts are being arranged.

N. U. Drills to Halt Speedy Gopher Backs

Methods by which Northwestern hopes to bottle up Kenneth MacDougall, Jack Manders, and other stars of Minnesota's back field in the homecoming game at Dyche stadium Saturday were studied by the Wildcats at yesterday's practice.

Eight of the players who participated in the game against Illinois were excused from practice. They were Marvil, Riley, Rentner, Moore, Olson, Potter, Fencl, and Evans. These men have been carrying the brunt of the Wildcat attack and Coach Dick Hanley thought they were deserving of an extra day's rest.

MacDougall Running Star.

A Minnesota team greatly altered from the pile driving elevens of former years will invade the Wildcat stadium Saturday. While retaining some of the thundering herd offense of yore, the Gophers also have added a strong forward passing attack together with a real threat in the open field running of Ken MacDougall.

Coach Hanley hopes to have most of his regulars ready for action by Saturday. Ken Meenan, who made a brief appearance against Illinois, is expected to be ready for first line duty. Reb Russell apparently is back in shape once again and will be sent into the game if the occasion demands his presence.

Meanwhile plans are progressing for one of the biggest homecoming celebrations in Northwestern's history. The homecoming program for the old graduates will get under way Friday morning, when the student body will celebrate the annual hobo day festivities. The entire student body will attend classes attired in hobo costumes. A parade of fraternity and sorority floats will be held Friday night and will be followed by the homecoming bonfire and pep session at the gymnasium.

To Honor Dyche.

William A. Dyche, business manager of the university, for whom Northwestern's stadium is named, will be paid a tribute at the game Saturday in honor of his 50th year as an alumnus of the university. Mr. Dyche graduated with the class of 1882.

He will be presented to the crowd by President Walter Dill Scott. The band will then spell out the name "Dyche" and will terminate the ceremony by playing "Auld Lang Syne."

GOPHERS LOSE WELLS

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Minnesota football players reported to Coach Fritz Crisler this afternoon for a chalk talk. Marshall Wells, who was used in only two plays against Wisconsin, bumped his badly injured arm again and Crisler said that he would not play against Northwestern at Evanston Saturday. "He will be replaced by Kenneth Gay. Kenny MacDougall, fleet quarter back, suffered a slight ankle injury, but will be back to normal in a few days.

Because of the bruising battle the regulars played Saturday, Crisler excused them from today's workout after the chalk talk. The reserves went through a light drill on offense.

The Gophers will not get any strenuous practice this week because Crisler does not want to take any chances of additional injuries. The squad will leave here Thursday night and work out in Dyche stadium Friday afternoon.

TWO PURDUE STARS OUT

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Jack White, veteran quarter back who has been unable to play since the leg injury he received in the Illinois game, and Paul Calvert, veteran senior end who suffered a dislocated elbow in the Chicago game Saturday, will be lost to Purdue for the remainder of the season, team physicians announced tonight.

White received an unusually severe charley horse and the inflammation has refused to respond to treatment. Calvert cannot get into shape in time for the three remaining games with Centenary, Iowa, and Indiana.

"We will have to show a vastly improved scoring drive if we hope to beat Centenary here Saturday," Coach Noble Kizer told the squad after reviewing the reports of scouts who watched the team in action against S. M. U. and the Texas Aggies.

MICHIGAN LEARNS TRICKS

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Michigan will use trick plays against Indiana Saturday, it appeared in practice today as the squad ran through a number of plays which Coach Harry Kipke had just given out. The array of both ground and aerial tricks was bewildering to the spectators and may be to the Hoosiers.

The workout was confined almost entirely to rehearsal of new plays. It is likely that tomorrow and Wednesday will see the plays tried under competitive conditions.

John Kowalik, former Carl Schurz lineman, probably will take a guard post, due to the ankle injury sustained by Omer La Jeunesse in the Princeton game. Le Jeunesse will be out until the Michigan State game Nov. 14.

WATCH HIM, WILDCATS!

Ties for scoring lead. Jack Manders, who romped 55 yards for a touchdown against Wisconsin last week, will be in the Minnesota lineup when the Gophers meet Northwestern Saturday at Dyche stadium. Manders is tied with Fay of Michigan and Cramer of Ohio State for the Big Ten scoring lead with 18 points.

Comiskey Sees Sox Lose First Game in New Park

[This is the eighth of a series of articles on the career of Charles A. Comiskey, late owner of the White Sox.]

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

With the winning of the pennant and world title in the fall of 1906 Charles A. Comiskey saw nothing but the sunny side of baseball. His club had been a popular attraction from the start. The American league was as solid as bedrock. It had weathered numerous blows, chief of which was the scheme, by which John Brush, then owner of the Giants, wrecked the Baltimore club which belonged to the American league.

Brush was still determined to clean out the new league and with it Ban Johnson who, when a sports writer, had taken Brush to task at various times. Brush induced John McGraw and a number of Baltimore players to desert to the Giants. They did, but President Johnson rushed new players in and the Baltimore schedule continued without a break. Brush's trickery was a failure.

Comiskey Buys Land for New Park.

As the league grew in strength it began on a program of park building. Comiskey, by this time a man of means, was among the first to prepare for the step. He purchased the block of land between Wentworth and Shields avenues on the north side of 35th street. It was on the eastern half of this property that the Chicago Brotherhood or Players' League club, of which Commy was a member, had staged its ill fated 1890 season. The two halves of the property were separated by a street, but when it became evident that the street might interfere with Commy's building plans a kindly city council erased the thoroughfare from the map.

In 1909 all the plans for the new home of the White Sox were completed and the ground work started immediately on the western half of the property. From the first Commy's instructions to the architect were to provide for a sizeable playing field and ample room for the two-bit bleacher customers. There were 7,000 of the latter seats, equally divided between right and left field. And that the playing field dimensions were well provided for is attested by the fact that the field is only one in either league in which bargain homers are impossible.

The building of the park again revealed that Comiskey's ideas about doing business were that it should be simple as primer arithmetic. There was no financing by bond sale or mortgages. With justifiable pride he watched every step in the building. When one contractor finished whatever part of the work assigned to him Commy simply asked the architect to O. K. the job. As soon as the O. K. was furnished Commy paid off in cash. Thus on the day that it was finished the project was entirely paid for. Commy at the time had $600,000 in cash and he had been in business in Chicago only slightly more than ten years. The park ate up more than a third of his fortune.

The opening of the new park on July 1, 1910, was another capital letter day in the life of the Old Roman. The Sox of the period were of no importance in the race, but just the same there were almost 30,000 people out for the inaugural in the new premises. Comiskey was fêted like a king. He was called out to the home plate and presented with a huge banner, suitably inscribed in white letters. The town notables were present. Various bands took turns handing out snappy music. The day would have been perfect if the Sox hadn't lost to the Browns, 2 to 0.

Ed Walsh Pitches First Game; Loses to Pelty.

The honor of pitching the first game in the new park went to Ed Walsh, who for years had been one of Comiskey's most faithful employés, salary differences in one year notwithstanding. Walsh allowed seven hits, whereas Barney Pelty, who always was a source of trouble to the Sox, gave up only five. A young catcher by the name of Killefer caught for the Browns, the team he now manages.

In the Sox lineup that day was what in the previous spring had been termed Commy's new hundred thousand dollar infield. It never brought anything except grief. Chick Gandil was the first baseman of that combination. He was released later, but was repurchased, and in 1919 was one of the leaders in the conspiracy by which eight of the Sox threw the world series to the Cincinnati Reds. The other fellows on that infield were Zeider at second, Blackburne at short, and Purtell at third.

ROSENBLOOM CONQUERS BOZO IN SLOW BOUT

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 2.—(AP)—Maxie Rosenbloom, New York, light heavyweight champion, won a 12 round decision here tonight in a listless nontitle fight with Battling Bozo, Birmingham, Ala. No damaging blows were struck in the entire contest. Bozo weighed 177 pounds, two over the limit, and Rosenbloom 174½.

Schurz High "B" Eleven Defeats Crane, 19 to 0

The Schurz High school B football team defeated Crane B, 19 to 0, at Kilpatrick and Addison streets yesterday afternoon. Duffy, Couzens, and Schmidt scored touchdowns and Duffy kicked one extra point.

Woodlawn Boosters Battle Artillery Eleven Sunday

The Woodlawn Boosters, south side independent football team, will meet the 124th field artillery at the armory, 5200 Cottage Grove avenue, Sunday afternoon.

Notre Dame Errors Draw Fire of Coach

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—A review of Saturday's mistakes against Carnegie Tech by Coach Hunk Anderson comprised Notre Dame's preparations for next Saturday's game with Pennsylvania today.

The fact that Notre Dame blew five excellent scoring chances against the Tartans didn't sit well with Anderson, and he indicated in his noon lecture that further changes might be made in the varsity. He gave the first two teams a vacation and concentrated on the third string and reserves. The B team will play Buffalo university at Buffalo next Saturday.

Penn Is Undefeated.

Anderson told the team this noon that Penn's undefeated team will probably give them as much opposition as Pittsburgh, and certainly more than they did last year, when Notre Dame won, 60 to 20. Penn has won over Lehigh, Swarthmore, Wisconsin, Lafayette, and Franklin.

Word was received from Philadelphia that Coach Harvey Harman will bring a squad of 33 men, all of whom have seen action this year, and that the Pennsylvania band of 96 pieces will accompany the team.

Greeney, Kurth to Play.

The only injury on the Irish squad was to Norm Greeney, left guard. It was disclosed that Joe Kurth, right tackle, played against Pitt despite doctor's orders and spent three days after the game in the hospital. He played again Saturday against Carnegie Tech and seems not to be suffering any ill effects from his injuries. Trainer Eugene Young said today that both will be ready for the Penn game.

IOWA PRACTICES PASSES

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—With scouts offering little encouragement for a Hawkeye running game against Nebraska, University of Iowa football practice shifted to passing drill today. Hickman, Laws, and Moffitt alternated at passing in the first string back field, and Kriz, half back, did most of the receiving on short tosses.

Line coaches concentrated on reserve guards to replace Tompkins, who suffered a cracked shoulder in the George Washington game. Tompkins, will not be available before the Purdue game on Nov. 14, Dr. Leonard Ristine, medical adviser, said.

Akin and Neltzer, junior guards, worked with the varsity today. Regulars who played against the Colonials Saturday were given only light practice. Ingwersen promised new plays and offensive scrimmage for Tuesday.

Jerry Kriz, whose condition was doubtful Saturday, emerged from the game unhurt, and is expected to be in good shape to meet the Huskers.

GEORGE SHEFFER, HAGEN WIN AS CUE MEET OPENS

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Opening rounds in the northern division of the southern sectional three cushion billiard tournament were played here today with George Sheffer, Champaign, Ill., and Harry Hagen, Decatur, Ill., winning.

Sheffer beat Walter Schwietzka, Champaign, 50 to 38, in 75 innings, with a high run of 5 against Schwietzka's 3. In the night game Hagen led throughout and defeated Neal Jones of Indianapolis, 50 to 35, in 72 innings. Hagen had a high run of 7, against 5 by Jones.

Tramblie Missing, Eagles Call Off Friday Ring Show

Billy Cepak has called off his Friday night show at the West Side Eagles' arena. He had signed Frankie Battaglia and Ray Tramblie for the main event, but Tramble failed to appear for preparatory work. Cepak will hold his next card a week from Wednesday at the Knights of Columbus clubhouse, 4711 West Madison street, with Larry Johnson and Jack Roper appearing in the windup.

The Northwest Lions club will stage its next amateur boxing show at 4500 West North avenue on Friday. The club will endeavor to develop its contestants for the Golden Gloves tournament next February.

Tom Patrick, California light heavyweight who beat Baxter Calmes before Calmes defeated Con O'Kelly, is matched to meet Tony Paloni at San Francisco, Nov. 13.

Henry Firpo, Louisville, Ky., middleweight, who is making his home here, will resume training at the Arcade gymnasium today for his semi-final bout in the National Boxing association's 160 pound championship tournament at Milwaukee next Tuesday. Frankie O'Brien of Hartford, Conn., is another semi-finalist.

Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion, will make his first start at Detroit on Nov. 20, following the championship match with Kid Chocolate at New York. Canzoneri whipped Phil Griffin at Newark in a tune-up contest last Thursday.

TAYLOR TRUNKS CENTER IS OUT FOR 2 MONTHS

Violet Brubaeck, center on the Taylor Trunks girl basketball team for the last four seasons, will be lost to the squad for two or three months, it was reported yesterday. Miss Krubaeck, who has led the team in scoring for three years, has a knee injury which is not serious, but will require this length of time to heal.

The Taylor Trunks open the season Nov. 13 at Gary, Ind., against the Sleepers' club. Helen Teague has replaced Violet Krubaeck in the practice games. The personnel of the team remains the same other than at center. Cassie Martin and Marie Curtin are the forwards with Elizabeth Falbisaner and Ella Smith at the guard positions. The reserves include Dorothy Benoit, Hazel Kelstrom, and Betty Riedle.

N. U. UNDISTURBED BY REPORTS OF ROSE BOWL GAME

Reports which have been circulated for two weeks that Northwestern university's football team would close its season against the Pacific coast champions in the Rose Bowl, Pasadena, Cal., on New Year's day have aroused no great enthusiasm on the Evanston campus.

"We have had no invitation to play in the coast game," Kenneth L. Wilson, athletic director, said yesterday. "We are concerned only with the successful completion of our regular schedule. I don't think there is much chance that the Western conference would grant us permission to play the game."

Big Ten officials agreed with Mr. Wilson's attitude on the conference sanction.

CARDS RETURN; PHILADELPHIA GAME CANCELLED

Due to a cancellation of their game with the Philadelphia Yellow Jackets, scheduled for Saturday, the Chicago Cardinals football team returned here unexpectedly last night. They will resume training at Wrigley field today for Sunday's invasion of Cleveland, where they will meet the Indians, new members of the professional league.

After their 14 to 7 victory over Brooklyn Sunday, the Cardinals were scheduled to play the Yellow Jackets Saturday and the Indians Sunday on their return trip to Chicago. However, a last minute cancellation forced them to continue home. The Yellow Jackets are being reorganized under a new management and will play the remaining out of town games on their schedule.

BEARS TO ADMIT LADIES FREE TO SUNDAY'S GAME

The ladies' day inaugural a week ago Sunday was such a success that the Bears' management yesterday announced this coming Sunday again will be "free day" for the fair sex at the Portsmouth-Bears game.

The deadline for requests will be tomorrow night at 6 o'clock. Letters postmarked before that time will be accepted until the allotment of 15,000 tickets is exhausted. All requests must contain a self-addressed and stamped envelope and only one ticket will be mailed to each woman. The requests will be filled as fast as they are received.

Bears Lead on First Downs.

The Bears feel they were the victim of a bad break in losing to the Packers, but at the same time admit that it is such breaks, meaning the intercepted pass that enabled Michaleske to race to a touchdown, that make football.

The 72 yard punt by Dick Nesbitt tops the National league for distance and the Bears made nine first downs to eight for Green Bay and two of the latter were the result of fumbles that were recovered.

Portsmouth, second to the Packers in the league standing, has lost one game out of nine, and looms as a strong foe here Sunday.

Clark Portsmouth Star.

Algie Clark, a graduate of Colorado university, leads the league in scoring with 48 points, collected with seven touchdowns and six points after. He will be seen Sunday at a half back position.

Red Grange was considerably bruised last Sunday, as was Brumbaugh, but the former is responding to treatment. Brumbaugh's status physically will be better known when Dr. John Davis reports the result of an X-ray taken of Brumy's ribs.

SOLVES MURDER OF COLUMBIA U. CO-ED BY INDIAN

Federal Agent Is Credited with Brilliant Feat.

White River Indian Reservation, Ariz., Nov. 2.—(AP)—A department of justice agent, filling a rôle that might have daunted a Sherlock Holmes, is credited with solution of the Henrietta Schmerler slaying, a puzzle that many believed had been carried to the grave.

The agent, J. A. Street, accomplished by "patience and perseverance under most trying circumstances," a job which resulted in the arrest yesterday of an Apache brave, Colney Seymour, who is said to have confessed attacking and killing Miss Schmerler, brilliant Columbia university student.

Seymour is held incommunicado in jail at Globe, Ariz. The arrest came as a distinct surprise to officials of the Apache Indian reservation here who had regarded Seymour as one of the most orderly Indians of a once fearsome tribe.

Went to Study Indian Lore.

The killing occurred last July. Miss Schmerler had come to the reservation a month before from her university to study Indian lore. Disregarding warnings, she had lived alone in a brush shack, mingling freely among the Apaches to wrest from their secretive and clannish minds some of the unknown history of the race. Miss Schmerler, 23 years old, was regarded as a brilliant student at Columbia.

Her body, bruised with rocks and bearing evidence of rape, was found in a gulley. She was dressed in the gay, native costume of an Apache girl, made for her by one of the squaws. She was believed to have been en route to a tribal dance.

Scores of Apaches were questioned until reservation officials despaired that any trace of the killer could be gained from their wards. Street was brought into case. He had distinguished himself in Indian murder cases in Oklahoma.

Disguises Himself as Brave.

Equipped with a command of Indian dialects and disguising himself as an Apache brave, he worked himself into the Indians' lives. Often days went by with no word from him. Communication was difficult. After several weeks had passed with no word from him he came in with a solution of the case. He also had a statement from an eye witness, Robert Gatewood, who is held.

The confession killed a belief that Miss Schmerler might have paid with her life for curiosity over the secrets of the tribe, according to Street's superiors at El Paso, Tex.

Plans for a preliminary hearing await the arrival of John C. Gung'l, United States attorney for Arizona. Whether Seymour would attempt to fight a charge of murder was not known.

G. S. Wegener, Extract Company Head, Is Dead

Gabriel S. Wegener, 64 years old, president of the Hudson Manufacturing company, makers of flavoring extracts, died suddenly yesterday at his home, 36 Kenilworth avenue, Kenilworth. Death apparently was due to heart disease. Mr. Wegener began the manufacture of vanilla products in Chicago in 1888. He is survived by his wife.

FINED FOR ILLEGAL POSTERS.

Abe Horwitz, 39 years old, 1132 South Mozart street, was fined $200 yesterday by Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli for the illegal pasting up of posters commemorating the 14th anniversary of the Russian revolution.

TELL HOW "WIFE" BARRED VISITORS FROM ERLANGER

New York, Nov. 2.—[Special.]—For weeks before his death Abraham L. Erlanger, theatrical producer, was closely guarded against visitors by Charlotte Fixel, his housekeeper, it was testified at the resumption of the fight over his $75,000,000 estate in Surrogate's court today. Mrs. Fixel is suing for a third of the Erlanger properties on the ground that she was his common law wife.

Nearly a score of witnesses have already testified to having known her as "Mrs. Erlanger."

During the producer's fatal illness, Frost said, "Mrs. Erlanger" instructed him to permit no one to enter the apartment without being first announced. The witness said that "Mrs. Erlanger" did not mention specifically a brother of the producer who was then a judge on the Supreme court, but made it plain that her order "applied to every one."

Frost backed up other witnesses in saying that the pair seemed devoted to each other.

Other employes of the house corroborated Frost as to the general impression that the contestant was Erlanger's wife.

GIRL ROBBED IN EVANSTON.

A bandit robbed Miss Mary Lee Yates, 20 years old, 2910 Grant street, Evanston, of a $75 ring and $5, then took $40 from her escort, John Kelly, Piper City, Ill., yesterday in Evanston.

AIRSHIP, TRAIN AND CLEARED PATH FAIL TO SAVE LIFE OF GIRL

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 2.—(AP)—A 30 hour race from Orlando, Fla., to Philadelphia—all the speed of a fast train, and an airplane—police cars clearing the way for ambulances in two cities—skill of surgeons with modern medical instruments were of no avail in saving the life of a three year old girl.

Margery Cohen was rushed here yesterday by her father, J. B. Cohen of Orlando, to remove a bean from her bronchial tube. All the way she lay gasping in her father's arms. At Orlando physicians said the one chance to save her life lay in reaching Philadelphia to obtain use of the bronchoscope.

The father and his dying baby speeded by train to Washington; police motorcycles escorted an ambulance from the station to the airport; a plane cut train time from Washington to Camden in half; motorcycles again cleared the way to a Philadelphia hospital.

Surgeons removed the bean after almost two hours. Pneumonia, however, had already developed and three hours later the child died.

MRS. JANE GREEN DIES; HOME GOES TO WAUKEGAN

Mrs. Jane A. Dowst Green, 74 years old, died yesterday at her home, 37 North Utica street, Waukegan, after a long illness. She was a sister-in-law of Elmer J. Green, formerly warden of the Joliet penitentiary. Her home, valued at $75,000, is to pass to the possession of the city of Waukegan for use as an emergency hospital. Her brother, Charles Dowst, who died in 1919, left a will ordering that she keep the property until her death and that the city was then to have it. Funeral services will be held at the residence tomorrow at 10 a. m.

Memorial Service Held for Dean William C. De Witt

A memorial service for the late Dean William C. DeWitt of the Western Theological seminary was held yesterday in the chapel of that institution. Among the speakers were Angus S. Hibbard, vice president of the seminary; the Rev. James E. Foster of Gary, Ind.; Dean F. C. Grant, and Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago.

THE POWDER THAT IS SEEN AROUND THE WORLD IS PRIMROSE HOUSE BEIGE

WE have it on good authority... from smart women themselves... that this clever shade of powder goes everywhere... it is a regular globe-trotter because women who have used it won't stir without it.

Primrose Beige is that tremendously smart shade that fashion prefers this season. And then, it is a CHIFFON powder which means that it is as soft as velvet and as delicate as chiffon... yet it clings for hours without caking or clogging the pores. If you haven't seen this smart shade come in and let us show it to you.

PAROLE SOUGHT FOR DYNAMITER OF SCHOOLMA'AM

The state board of pardons and paroles yesterday heard an application at Joliet for parole on behalf of Hiram Reed, young farmer who was sentenced to one to twenty years in the penitentiary for an attempt to kill Miss Iola Bradford, a La Salle county school teacher.

Reed was convicted of placing dynamite in the stove of Miss Bradford's school at Grand Ridge. The teacher was severely injured. The parole board announced that it would hear Reed later. He has been in the Stateville prison for about two years.

The board also heard yesterday a protest against a parole for George Dachroth, formerly cashier of the First Trust and Savings Bank of Nauvoo, Ill., who is serving a term of one to fourteen years for forgery.

Business IS getting better. There is not yet no uniform expansion; rather it is a bit of improvement here and there, with considerable irregularity. But the chief change has been in the more cheerful sentiment that generally prevails. It is this change in sentiment that bankers believe marks the turning point from depression to recovery.

"Any man would be rash to predict that we are going to spring into full-blown prosperity over night," Arthur Reynolds, chairman of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, Chicago's billion dollar institution, said yesterday on his return from a visit to New York. "But I find that bankers and business men alike are convinced that the turn from depression is taking place. Developments in the last week or two offer tangible basis for cheerfulness.

Examines Recent Events.

"Let us examine some of these events. Both commodity prices, particularly grains, and money rates have firmed up. This denotes some improvement in trade. The fear of our people over the banking situation has about worn itself out and hoarded money is coming back to the banks. The ill-founded scare of Europeans over our financial situation also has been allayed as the result of their finding out that we could pay off all of their credits in gold and still have left more than enough for our own credit requirements.

"It is axiomatic that money cannot long remain idle. We see it beginning to trickle back from hiding in this country. Bankers believe that foreign funds also must eventually flow back to this country seeking safe

Discusses Merits of Freight Pickup and Delivery Service

BY SCRUTATOR.

The Illinois Freight association has placed on its docket a proposition for free store door pickup and delivery service on the basis of existing class rates at all points where such arrangements for this service can be effected at a cost of not more than five cents per hundred pounds at origin, destination or both.

The territory affected would exclude the Chicago area, but would include the remainder of Illinois, southeastern Wisconsin to Milwaukee and the west bank of the Mississippi river.

The proposition has been brought forward, it is understood, merely to develop the attitude of the shippers.

Chicago shippers have requested a public hearing on this matter. They would amend the proposal to include free pickup and delivery where the cost of such service exceeds five cents per hundred pounds.

Needs Relief Most.

As worded by the freight association the proposition would not affect the Chicago area, and they point out that it is this area that needs relief most. They contend, further, that the railroads themselves would benefit by following the example of the carriers operating in St. Louis and the southwest in inaugurating free pickup and delivery to get back the traffic that slow and expensive rail service has driven to the motor trucks.

Most of the western railroads during the past years have instituted pickup and delivery service in Chicago and at other points on their lines. This has been a convenience to the consignee, because he has only to deal with the railroad instead of dealing with both the railroad and the local cartage concern in receiving shipments. The charge for cartage is added to the charge for rail service.

This arrangement has not, however, greatly altered the method of handling freight, nor has it reduced the shipper's transportation cost. As far as can be ascertained from the railroads it has brought them no appreciable additional business.

Absorb Terminal Expenses.

The railroads cannot afford to absorb the cost of local cartage to and from the station unless by doing this they can obtain enough additional business to offset it. They are already absorbing so much terminal expense on less than carload shipments in the Chicago area that a considerable volume of short haul traffic of this kind is probably carried at a loss.

Even before the truck began to cut into this business there were repeated complaints by railroad men that the short haul less than carload traffic was not profitable.

While the railroads are experimenting with store door pickup and delivery they are also trying out the use of trucks in another way.

Six months ago they began substituting motor trucks for trap cars in the transfer of less than carload freight between universal freight stations and stations of the line haul railroads.

This has resulted in an average saving of about 24 hours in the handling of freight, and the speeding up of service has enabled them to compete more effectively with the truck lines.

Advantage of Speed.

In a recent interstate commerce commission hearing a report was presented covering fifteen representative Chicago firms who were shipping an aggregate of 3,920,000 pounds monthly. It showed that in the absence of the present trucking arrangement these firms would have given the railroads an average of 36.3 per cent less business.

Here the advantage to the shipper of the coördinated truck and rail terminal service as against the all rail service is solely that of speed, for the transfer cost in either case is absorbed by the railroad and the rate is identical.

The railroad benefits by having a lower transfer cost to absorb and by getting business that would otherwise go to the truck lines.

Pullman, Inc., Earns 46c a Share in Third Quarter

Pullman, Inc., and subsidiaries for the quarter ended Sept. 30 reported net income of $1,790,065 after all charges, including depreciation and federal taxes, equal to 46 cents a share on 3,875,000 shares of no par stock. WALL STREET TRACES LARGE SCALE WHEAT BUYING TO CUTTEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 2.—While wheat was continuing its spectacular advance in the principal world markets, Wall street today traced large scale buying of the grain to a powerful financial group headed by Arthur W. Cutten of Chicago, one of the boldest and most successful operators in the country.

The Cutten operations, which are said to surpass in magnitude any which he has previously directed in wheat, are being carried on through the Chicago and Winnipeg markets. He is reported to have the encouragement of the federal farm board, which holds close to 200,000,000 bushels of grain acquired in the course of its price stabilization program. Rumors that he is acting for the farm board, either directly or indirectly, are not credited here, however, by informed brokers.

Socony Corp. Cuts Dividend; Standard of N. J. Pays Extra

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 2.—Directors of the Socony-Vacuum corporation today declared a dividend of 25 cents a share, which compares with the initial dividend of 40 cents a share paid on the stock of the merged companies in the preceding quarter. The Standard Oil Company of New York previous to the merger with Vacuum had been paying 40 cents quarterly on its shares.

Standard Oil of New Jersey declared its usual 25 cents extra dividend and its regular dividend of 25 cents for the quarter, both payable Dec. 15 to stock of record on Nov. 16.

This is the fourth extra dividend of 25 cents to be declared by Standard of New Jersey this year, the others having been paid on March, June, and Sept. 15. With the regular distribution of 25 cents quarterly, it brings total dividend declarations for the year to $2, the same as was paid in 1930. Extras paid in 1929 amounted to 87½ cents a share.

Votes 25 Cent Payment.

Directors of Standard Oil Company of Indiana voted a dividend of 25 cents per share, payable Dec. 15 to stockholders of record Nov. 16. The rate of $1 a year was unchanged.

Curtis Publishing company, after payment of the monthly dividend on Dec. 2, will change dates of payment on the common to a quarterly basis, with dividends payable March 5, June 5, Sept. 5, and Dec. 5. The change was made on request of a considerable number of stockholders. Preferred dividend payments will be made as heretofore on Jan. 1, April 1, July 1, and Oct. 1.

Directors of Canada Bread company declared a dividend of 50 cents a share on the class B preferred stock. This compares with $1.75 a share previously paid quarterly.

United American Utilities, Inc., deferred action on the class A dividend due Dec. 1. In the two preceding quarters dividends of 32½ cents a share each were paid.

Coca-Cola Income Rises.

Coca-Cola directors declared the usual 25 cents extra dividend in addition to its regular quarterly disbursements of $1.75 on the common.

The company reported increased earnings over last year, net profit for the third quarter this year amounting to $5,165,000 before federal taxes, against $4,908,731 in the like quarter last year. Profit for the first nine months before federal taxes amounted to $12,599,997, against $12,080,902 in the first nine months of 1930.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 2.—The bugaboo of tomorrow's elections and the holiday on the exchange kept the stock market at bay today. Some of the boys thought best to withhold their big buying orders until after the day has happened, apparently. Others, who had bought earlier in the day or last week or the week before, were 84 YEARS...

■ In eighty-four years, this Company and its predecessors have witnessed great Fires—great Wars—great Panics. Calmly, it has lived through distressing events, and persistently assisted in the upbuilding of the community.

■ This is possible because the Company has builded on sound foundations. It engages in two phases of business—Titles and Trusts. Generations of specialized knowledge and organized experience minimize unknown hazards and undue risks.

■ It does not deal in securities. It avoids demand liabilities of any nature. It is solely a Title Company and a Trust Company—no more, no less.

LATE SELLING FORCES CHICAGO STOCKS LOWER

Insull Utility Pfd Declares Regular Dividend.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Influenced by the late reaction on the New York market, stocks on the Chicago exchange sold off in the final minutes of trading yesterday and closed the day slightly under last week's final quotation. Earlier in the day leading shares had sold slightly above previous prices.

Sentiment continued favorable, but the continued strength in the grain market failed to stimulate any great speculative interest in the stocks here. Transactions amounted to 56,000 odd shares, which is approximately the same rate held daily throughout the previous week.

Signal for Rally.

Special developments aided individual shares enabling them to close the day with fair net gains in the face of general easiness. Action of the directors of Insull Utility Investments in declaring the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the second preferred stock was the signal for a rally of nearly 2 points in that stock. At the closing price of 45¾ the issue is now yielding a return of over 13 per cent. The stock was severely hit in the August-September decline, selling as low as 22. Transactions yesterday involved less than 400 shares.

Marshall Field common appeared on the tape once in a 150 share lot at 16¼, a slight gain over its previous quotation. Announcement was made yesterday of the authorization of the regular quarterly dividend of 62½ cents a share. The action continues the present annual rate of $2.50 a share and affords a yield for the stock at the current price of approximately 15 per cent.

Moves Up a Point.

Seaboard Public Service preferred reflected the more favorable earnings report of the company by moving up over a point on light trade.

All the front rank active stocks were slightly lower when the final gong halted trading. Commonwealth-Edison and Insull common among the utilities and Borg and Bendix among the motor shares and miscellaneous stocks, including U. S. Radio, were quoted fractionally below previous prices. Middle West Utilities, however, held firm apparently on the strength of the report showing continued increase in electrical output and the recent statements of earnings from operating subsidiaries.

A membership in the exchange was sold yesterday for $9,100, which is an increase of $1,100 over the previous sale price.

CHAS. M'CULLOCH NEW DIRECTOR OF GREAT WESTERN

Charles A. McCulloch, chairman of the board of the John R. Thompson company, was elected a director of the Chicago Great Western railroad at the annual meeting of the stockholders yesterday in Omaha. The election was another milestone in the business career of the man who two years ago announced his intention of retiring from business.

Mr. McCulloch's "retirement" ended recently when he was named chairman of the Thompson company, one of the concerns from which he resigned in 1929. Mr. McCulloch, who was a close associate of the late John R. Thompson Sr., was one of a group of Chicagoans who came into control of the company this year. In 1929 he resigned as chairman of the board of the Yellow Cab company, the Parmelee company, Chicago Tunnel company and the Chicago Warehouse and Terminal company.

Patrick H. Joyce, who has been acting president of the Great Western since last July, was named president at the meeting yesterday. Mr. Joyce has been chairman of the road's executive committee since he and his associates gained control of the company early last year. Mr. Joyce is 52 years old. The road resumed dividend payments on the preferred stock this year after a lapse of several years. Arthur W. Cutten, a director, was named a member of the executive committee.

85,000,000 Users of Electricity

Electricity is an indispensable household aid, supplied with unfailing regularity to 20,360,000 wired homes.

In the first eight months of this year, twenty-nine great life insurance companies invested more in public utility bonds than during the whole year 1930—reflecting the investment favor in which these securities are held.

Bonds of companies comprising the Associated Gas & Electric System offer acknowledged security at attractive yields.

WHEAT PRICES SOAR AGAIN ON BOARD OF TRADE

Cancellation of Russian Exports Features.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Russia is not expected to export wheat or other grains in volume the balance of the crop year, according to cables received from various sources in Europe yesterday. The practical elimination of that country from the world's markets fired bullish enthusiasm to a point where profit taking running into millions of bushels by operators who bought lower down had practically no effect.

Wave after wave of public and Wall street buying orders came into the market and prices advanced as much as 2¾c over Saturday's finish, with trading the heaviest since the advance started, the December selling up to 63⅝c or only ⅛c under the outside figure on July 1, while the deferred futures were at a new high for the season, May touching 65⅛c.

How much wheat Russia has canceled with foreign buyers is a mystery, but was understood to run into millions of bushels. As these countries now find themselves without any wheat of consequence bought to arrive, there has been a general movement under way to protect themselves by purchases of futures. This class of trading, combined with buying up investors, has swept the market up 2⅝@2⅞c from the low on Oct. 5, the upturn being practically perpendicular, as at no time has the market had a reaction of more than 2½c during that period.

Rumors of Big Cash Sales.

According to the weekly report there is only 38,485,000 bu cash wheat afloat for importing countries, equal to a little over two weeks requirements at the rate the grain has been taken of late, and there were intimations of a big export business to France and the continent in Canadian grain, although the seaboard early in the day estimated sales at around 500,000 bu hard winters and Canadian.

Closing prices in Chicago were at net gains of 1⅝@2c, with December, 63@63¼c; March, 66⅛@66⅝; May, 67⅝@67¾c, and July, 68⅛@68¾c. Winnipeg reported heavy foreign and investment buying and led the advance, closing 2¾@3c higher in the face of profit taking hedging sales with December finishing at 70¾c in Canadian currency. Liverpool gained 2⅛@3¼d, part of the advance being reflection of a break in the exchange rate, but net gains there were 1⅛@1⅜c pre bu, with December at 66⅛c, based on $2.75 for sterling. Berlin was up 2¼@3¼c for the day and Buenos Aires 2⅛@2⅜c.

A decrease of 15 per cent or more was indicated for the winter wheat acreage for 1932 by private reports which on the basis of average abandonment of acreage and average yield per acre suggested a crop of around 476,000,000 bu compared with 775,000,000 bu harvested this season. The crop generally has a less favorable start than normal owing to the dry weather which prevails over part of the belt.

A decrease of 436,000 bu was shown in the domestic visible supply with the total now placed at 224,642,000 bu.

Corn Closes Firm.

Corn was unsettled in the early trading, but later there was a good class of commission house buying and prices advanced and closed ⅝@⅞c higher, the strength in wheat having some effect. December finished at 41⅝@41¾c; March, 44⅜@44⅞c; May, 46⅝@46⅞c, and July, 48¾c. Outside interest was reported as somewhat larger, while shipping sales aggregated 100,000 bu.

A decrease of 52,000,000 bu in the corn crop as compared with the government October returns was indicated by the private crop estimates, the total being placed at 2,651,000,000 bu, compared with 2,094,000,000 bu harvested in 1930 when the yield was the smallest in 30 years.

Cash Interests Buy Oats.

Commission houses were on the buying of oats with cash interests taking some December, and elevator interests bought December and sold May at 2⅝c difference. Selling on resting orders checked the advance but the finish was at net gains of ⅝@⅞c, with December, 26c; May, 28⅜c, and July, 29c. The seaboard reported a little export business in oats as well as 200,000 bu barley.

Cables from aboard was mixed as to whether Russia would be able to export any rye of consequence this season. At the same time it was claimed that Germany would have to be a good buyer. There were some export inquiries at the seaboard, but no sales were intimated. Futures advanced to a new high for the season early, only to react on profit taking, and closed ¼@1¼c higher with December 45⅝c, and May 51¼c.

Soviet Issues Denial.

BERLIN, Nov. 2.—(AP)—The soviet embassy flatly denied today a published report that Russia would export no more wheat this year or next year.

While admitting that the quality and quantity of the Russian crop was under average, officials said, "Russian wheat is sufficient for internal demand and some export."

Brokers estimated that Russian grain exports had dropped from 4,000,000 bushels a week to 2,000,000 bushels last week.

Hold Anti-Drought Meet.

MOSCOW, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Soviet Russia's grain crop this year is equal to that of 1930, notwithstanding the drought, Vyacheslaff Molotoff, president of the council of commissars, informed an antidrought conference here today.

Notwithstanding the drought, the winter sowing exceeds that of last year and the area of spring sowing in 1932 is expected to exceed that of 1931. Thus, after the drought, the planted areas are being considerably increased.

COTTON TRADE LIGHT

Trade in cotton was rathera quiet yesterday with the south selling only sufficient to fill cars of trade requirements. Prices within narrow limits and closed with those in Chicago 1@3 points lower while New York was 3@5 points lower. New Orleans had a holiday. Buying by domestic and foreign spinners for price fixing purposes was a factor in the early trading, with the highest figures of the day were sold and quickly absorbed hedging pressure.

According to reports received yesterday by operatives will no longer sell cotton to brokers and domestic spinners on deferred options, and foreign interests who have been supplying through English bankers in the past have to depend on American banks. The 90 to 180 day acceptance during the period in which the gold standard remains suspended to England. Spot prices were unchanged with New York, 6.70c; Galveston, 6.50c, and Houston, 6.40c. Prices follow:

Why pay more than Household's low rate?

The Nationally known Household Loan Plan offers cash loans of $50 to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates.

Household's rate on all loans above $100 is almost one-third lower than the maximum permitted by the small-loan law. We voluntarily established this low rate in 1928, and our customers have benefited ever since. This rate remains the same until the loan is paid off. It does not increase as the unpaid balance decreases.

For example:

The average monthly cost of a $200 loan, repaid in 20 equal monthly payments, is $2.63. This is the lowest cost in Chicago.

Commonwealth Customers Pay LESS for LOANS

$2.93 is the average Monthly Cost of a $225 loan under COMMONWEALTH'S Reduced Rate. This allows 25 months for repayment. There is no lower cost than this in Chicago.

COMMONWEALTH'S rate on amounts above $100 is substantially lower than the lawful rate usually charged.

THE personal property which nearly every family owns and the signature of husband and wife enable one to secure any amount up to $300 quickly and easily.

THERE ARE NO fees or deductions. You may take 25 months or pay all or part sooner. Interest on the Add-on Rate is charged only while you have the money.

Also Salary and Auto Loans.

Opening of 1931 Civic Opera Season Marked by Enthusiasm of Audience and Brilliance of Spectacle

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

BRILLIANT SPECTACLE AFFORDED IN BOXES AT CHICAGO CIVIC OPERA HOUSE AS SOCIETY GATHERS FOR 1931 SEASON OPENING. Scene at last night's performance of "Tosca," which aroused enthusiasm among those in attendance. The picture shows those in the boxes applauding the singers. The audience appeared to be in high spirits, and the display of furs, jewels, and new gowns was colorful and gorgeous.
